The Honorable U.S. Senator Johnny Isakson addressed the Senate briefly.

Senator Grant of the 25th moved that upon the dissolution of the Joint Session the Senate stand adjourned until 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, January 11, 2012

The President announced the motion prevailed at 11:34 a.m.

The hour for convening the Joint Session of the Senate and House having arrived, the President, accompanied by the Secretary and Senators, proceeded to the Hall of the House of Representatives, and the Joint Session, called for the purpose of hearing a message by His Excellency, Governor Nathan Deal, was called to order by the Speaker of the House. HR 1097 authorizing the Joint Session of the Senate and House was read by the Clerk of the House.

His Excellency, Governor Nathan Deal, addressed the Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives as follows:

In centuries long past ... in a world far removed from the one we know today ... the Age of Exploration captivated the minds of brave, young men. These individuals traveled through distant waters to identify the unknown, their will to explore outweighing the countless dangers, hardships and tragedies they faced. It is an age we now define by these names: Columbus, da Gama, Vespucci and Magellan.

These brave adventurers, with only primitive tools at their disposal, charted a course by looking to the stars for guidance. The nights were not always clear ... the waters not always friendly. For each man commanding a vessel on the high seas, there was always the temptation to give up and to turn back.

But we know these men today because they held steadfast to their course, leading them to discover new worlds and to expand the opportunities for mankind.

Georgians have charged us to set a course for our state and they have defined the stars that we must follow to expand opportunity: the star of education – we must provide great schools that will cultivate the minds of our young people ... the star of transportation – we must provide safe roads and avenues of commerce ... the star of security – we must give every Georgian the ability to live in a safe community ... and the guiding star in our constellation, jobs – we must create a business climate that provides Georgians with their best shot at a good job! These are the stars on which our eyes must be focused as we chart the course for our great state!

Tonight, I will discuss our course forward, but first, I think we would be well served to look in the rearview mirror for just a moment. The situation we faced one year ago and the progress we've made bears our attention.

One year ago, I said “the state of our state is strong” ... “that we possess a unique set of strengths” ... but we also faced an unusual and historic collection of challenges.

When we met on this occasion this past January, the Revenue Shortfall Reserve Fund, or the Rainy Day Fund as it is better known, had only enough money to fund state operations for less than two days ... meaning essential functions of government were at risk in the event of even the slightest hiccup. One year later, with your help, we have begun restoring the Rainy Day Fund. The balance today is $328 million, an increase of 183%. I remain committed to building up this strategic reserve by keeping our spending in check.

When we met last year, we faced a difficult budget situation in which the low-hanging fruit and easy fixes were gone. And yet, we worked together to pass structurally balanced budgets that fund the essential services upon which Georgians depend. And we did it without new taxes. We have delivered commonsense, conservative budgets free of gimmicks and one-time gains. For that reason, we are now one of only eight states with triple-A ratings from the three major rating agencies. When compared to our AA peers, this credential of creditworthiness saved Georgia taxpayers $11 million over the life of bonds sold last year alone.

This also provides us with a powerful tool for economic development. When a business considers locating in Georgia, it helps to be able to show them that they will be partnering with a state government that has its house in order!

To that end, beginning this year, we will implement zero-based budgeting in 10% of all programs. Through zero-based budgeting, we will bring a new level of accountability to state government and verify that taxpayer dollars are being spent to meet the priorities of Georgians!

When we met last year, we faced a federal district court ruling that threatened to cut off up to 85% of Metro-Atlanta's water supply. This evening, with the benefit of an 11th Circuit Appeals Court ruling overturning that decision, we are in a far stronger position to reach a lasting agreement with our peers in Alabama and Florida on an issue of critical importance to Georgia's ability to attract investment and new jobs.

One year ago, HOPE – arguably the nation's most generous merit-based, higher education scholarship and grant program – was on an unsustainable course and faced a complete depletion of reserves as early as FY 2013. This evening, we can claim a piece of legislation that preserves HOPE for future generations!

And for every student who earns HOPE, my budget for next year maintains the same award amount received this year.

Also, we will again appropriate $20 million for the needs-based one percent student loan program which eases the burden of affording a college education. This year, more than half of these newly-appropriated funds went to students who had no assistance from their families.

Together, we've done something else over the past year. And while it is more general in nature, it is perhaps even more important to our ability to govern well and to the long-term prospects of our great state. Together, we have ushered in a new era of cooperation.

Last January, we were faced with a mountain ... Together, we climbed it. Thank you for your partnership and thank you for all that you do to serve Georgians!

But this evening, as we embark on a new year, we have other mountains to climb that will require our best collective efforts this year and beyond.

Recalling the great explorers who looked to the night skies in their search for new lands, the first star in our constellation is education. Our schools are the front line in our effort to create prosperity. It is here we make our most strategic investment in the future!

The Amended and FY 2013 budgets I've prepared take advantage of the stabilization in revenues and appropriate an additional $146.6 million to fully fund enrollment growth in our K-12 schools.

Likewise, in both the technical college and university systems, I am calling for an additional $111.3 million to fund anticipated enrollment growth.

Also, in keeping with the recommendations of the Education Finance Study Commission, and because we believe they are vital ingredients of the educational experience we provide young Georgians, my budget calls for $3.7 million in additional funds for school nurses!

This along with the school nutrition program and transportation funding will be moved into the Quality Basic Education funding formula. These funds will be allocated using the same formula local districts are accustomed to, but they will have complete flexibility in how to spend them. Better than me, or anyone else under this Gold Dome, I believe local school leaders know how to spend funds within their district in order to get the greatest outcomes for students!

My proposed budget calls for an additional $55.8 million to fund salary increases for our teachers based on training and experience. Unlike the past, there are no reductions to QBE, Equalization Grants, State Schools or other enrollment driven programs.

Within education, I have called for a new focus on our youngest learners. The budget I'm proposing increases the Pre-K school year for 84,000 students by 10 days, bringing it to 170 days. I am proud to say that this will allow us to begin restoring Pre-K teacher salaries!

We must make a concerted effort to increase the percentage of children reading at grade level by the completion of 3rd Grade. The best evidence tells us that children not meeting this standard often fail to catch up and are more likely to drop out of school, go to prison and have higher unemployment rates later in life than their reading-proficient peers.

Students must "learn to read" in order to be able to "read to learn" and when we fail to invest in our youngest students, we are forced to spend money on remediation for the remainder of their academic careers. To this end, my budget includes $1.6 million for a reading mentors program. This program will assist schools and teachers as they work to help more young Georgians achieve this strategic benchmark – reading at grade level by the completion of 3rd grade.

You've heard me talk about moving beyond the status quo in education and that requires a more intense focus on innovation in the classroom. In particular, we need to put in place strategies that provide students with opportunities to practice and apply what they are learning in a high-quality, real-world environment. This is one reason we allotted nearly $20 million of our Race to the Top money for the creation of an Innovation Fund. This initiative asks schools to partner with businesses, non-profits and postsecondary institutions and places a primary focus on developing applied learning opportunities. We are already seeing positive results. Tomorrow, I will announce the winners of round two.

To spur innovation, I am also recommending $8.7 million in supplemental grants in both the Amended budget and next year's budget for state chartered special schools affected by the Georgia Supreme Court ruling on charter schools. These schools are key to Georgia's educational success and without these additional dollars, they would be forced to operate on approximately half of the funds of other public schools.

However, this is not the long-term solution, and I look forward to working with you to ensure that charter schools can thrive in Georgia. We can do this and with your help we will!

Further, we must clarify the mission of our schools. Let me state this very clearly: I believe students graduating from our high schools ... those young men and women who have done everything asked of them by our K-12 system ... should be fully ready for postsecondary study or a job!

Going forward, we will reclaim that mission by ensuring that there is a more seamless transition from High School to further study ... and from postsecondary study to the workforce.

With our young people facing a difficult job market and stiff global competition for good jobs, we must do everything in our power to ensure that our education system provides graduates with real opportunity. Our postsecondary institutions must maintain an intense focus on employability and creating job opportunities. And in today's competitive global environment where technology is constantly reshaping the economy, that means abandoning the "ivory tower" model and adapting to meet the needs of business.

That focus on practical education is why I'm announcing Go Build Georgia this evening. Go Build is a public-private initiative that will round out our workforce development program by educating young people and the public at large about the skilled trades.

Already, the business community is unable to fill many positions calling for highly-skilled industrial and commercial construction professionals, jobs that on average pay 27% more than the average Georgian currently brings home. And with an aging workforce in this area, we are on track to replace only one of every four retirees.

Today, in America, with more than 13 million people unemployed and seeking work, there are 1.3 million open positions in skilled trade industries for which companies are unable to find qualified applicants! Right here in Metro-Atlanta, Siemens has been unable to fill approximately 200 skilled-trade positions in the fields of manufacturing automation, healthcare technology, transportation systems and technical services. It is time we begin work to boost our pipeline!

We must work together to ensure that our state has the craft professionals to meet present and forecast demand. This is something we can do and with your help we will!

Here in Georgia, we are blessed with world-class university and technical college systems that provide opportunity to every young Georgian and provide business with a pipeline of talented workers. As we seek to continue improving higher education in this state, I want to commend Chancellor Hank Huckaby and the Board of Regents, along with Commissioner Ron Jackson and the Technical College Board, for performing a strategic consolidation of institutions. In this age of "doing more with less," you are delivering a better return on investment without compromising service to students.

Before leaving the topic of higher education, I want to announce two ambitious goals. Georgians deserve a world-class, public medical university, and it will be a priority of this administration to have a medical college among the top 50 nationally. This is something we can do and with your help we will!

Also within this push, the Georgia Health Sciences University will seek to become the state's second National Cancer Institute designated Cancer Center, alongside the Winship Cancer Center at Emory.

As of today, Georgia's annual death rate from cancer exceeds the national average, but I believe we have all of the ingredients necessary to be a destination for cancer research and a resource for every family battling this disease.

This designation would mean greater access to research dollars and enhance our ability to recruit top cancer specialists. Even more, it will place Georgians battling this horrific disease first in line for the newest, most promising therapies and clinical trials.

To support this goal of a second Georgia-based Cancer Center, my budget proposal includes an investment of $5 million. This is something we can do and with your help we will!

In order to address the need for additional health professionals in Georgia, we have been investing in the expansion of undergraduate medical education for several years. We must now take the next step in this process by increasing the number of graduate residency slots.

My budget funds 400 new residency slots in hospitals across the state. Presently, because we lack adequate residency program capacity, Georgia taxpayers help fund a promising young Georgian's pre-K, K-12, postsecondary and graduate-level medical education only to see them perform their residency outside of our state and not return. That doesn't provide value for Georgians paying taxes. It doesn't make sense for Georgians needing care and it isn't fair to young Georgians looking to begin medical careers. We must ensure that no doctor trained in Georgia is forced to leave the state to complete his or her medical education. This is something we can do and with your help we will!

Another primary responsibility of government is providing infrastructure – and because it is a key building block of job creation, it is a star that will guide our course forward. In a global economy in which commerce is increasingly long distance and reliant on cutting-edge logistics, we need a bigger, smarter transportation network to move people and products in the most efficient way possible. That means roads on which traffic and freight move freely, ports that handle bigger ships, and airports that process people and packages more efficiently.

To reduce traffic congestion in Metro-Atlanta along Georgia 400, we will be working with the DOT to implement innovative traffic solutions. We will modify the existing southbound lanes from McFarland Road to the Chattahoochee River, allowing an additional southbound through lane. From the Chattahoochee River to I-285, we will implement flex shoulders in each direction.

These improvements will allow us to better facilitate traffic during peak rush hours, accommodating the explosive growth the Northern suburbs have experienced.

Recently, we called a halt to the P-3 project for the Northwest Corridor. While there were many reasons for doing so, one of the most important ones is that I was, am, and will be opposed to contracting away Georgia's sovereignty for a period of 60 to 70 years over a transportation corridor that is so vital to our future. I remain committed to improving the Northwest Corridor but there is a better way forward.

Investment in transportation infrastructure is an investment in our future. I applaud this Legislature's creation of a transparent, bottom-up approach to identifying critical transportation projects throughout Georgia. The regional referendums on this year's ballots give voters the opportunity to fund a slate of projects with a sales tax when they deem the proposed investment provides value. Over the last several decades, our capacity has fallen behind due to underinvestment in transportation.

We must seize this opportunity to invest in our future! We can do this and with your help we will!

We are continuing to work towards the completion of the Savannah Harbor Expansion Project – a project that is imperative to our state's competitiveness when the bigger ships start traversing an enlarged Panama Canal in 2014.

My budget for next year includes $46.7 million in bonds to continue deepening the harbor, building on the more than $136 million already approved for harbor deepening over the last three years.

Also within infrastructure, we are working to ensure every Georgia community has dependable water supplies. While we await the Army Corps of Engineers decision regarding the impact of water diversions from Lake Lanier, we are moving forward with plans to enhance water supply and security around the state.

Last year, we took definitive action to get the ball rolling. My budget for next year proposes $45.7 million for water supply projects, the second installment in a four-year plan calling for $300 million of new investment in water supply. Today, the Georgia Environmental Finance Authority has issued the solicitation and application forms for the Water Supply Program and local governments can now apply for the low-interest loans and state direct investment as detailed in the recently-approved Water Supply Plan.

I want to commend our Water Task Force for creating a thorough, forward-looking plan that makes sense for Georgia communities, big and small.

With our state's population projected to grow by an additional 4.6 million people over the next two decades, it is imperative that we expand water supply across the state. We must stop being so dependent on the federal government for our water. We must seize our own destiny! This is something we can do and with your help we will!

This evening, I have talked about the our duty as elected officials to do the long-term work of ensuring our state charts a course forward that leads to a rich environment of opportunity for every Georgian.

When those traditional building blocks fail, more and more citizens drift into the criminal justice arena. And here in Georgia, entrance into our criminal justice system has been a dead end for far too many.

Last year, faced with one of the most incarcerated populations in the nation, low rehabilitation rates and high recidivism; you joined me in passing legislation to create the Criminal Justice Reform Council. Since that time, the Council has taken a comprehensive look at what changes are needed to increase the effectiveness of our correctional efforts.

I want to commend the Council for the work they have done and my budget recommendations reflect their findings. To start, my budget proposes $1.4 million to fund additional parole officers at the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. These officers will provide supervision to offenders who would otherwise serve their sentence and be released in our communities without any supervision.

Unless we provide the appropriate tools of supervision that facilitate a successful reentry into society, history has shown that offenders simply return to the prison population. Right now in Georgia, nearly one in three leaving our prisons are reconvicted within three years.

We must shut the revolving door! This is something we can do and with your help we will!

I am also recommending $35.2 million for additional prison beds for those who pose a threat to our citizens. I am proposing to convert three Pre-Release Centers to Residential Substance Abuse Treatment centers, at a cost of $5.7 million. We must make this investment ... If we fail to treat the addict's drug addiction; we haven't taken the first step in breaking the cycle of crime ... a cycle that destroys lives and wastes taxpayer resources! This is something we can do and with your help we will!

Because we are seeing an increased need for resources to work with violent youth offenders within our Juvenile Justice system, my budget includes funding to open a new Youth Detention Center, as well as funding for two security management and response teams.

I am also recommending $10 million in next year's budget for the creation of new Accountability Courts – drug, DUI, mental health and veteran courts – all of which have proven to be both cheaper and more effective than traditional courts for those lower risk offenders falling under their jurisdiction. In fact, drug courts around this nation have proven to reduce recidivism by as much as 35%.

This evening, I want to tell you about a typical case that finds its way into a drug court. Sarah was a drug addict. The drug use that began as recreation resulted in a destructive cocaine and methamphetamine addiction. It took control of her life. At one point, she had no means of transportation ... she lost custody of her little girl ... she wound up homeless.

But I mention Sarah tonight because she exemplifies many of the goals we hold for our corrections system. Under the supervision of a drug court, piece by piece, she began rebuilding her life. With help, she beat addiction ... she won back her daughter ... she is now a sponsor helping other women who face the same trials ... and because she provides a powerful example of hope and redemption, I have asked her to join us in this chamber tonight.

Sarah and her daughter are here and I would be honored if you would give her a round of applause!

Sarah was given a shot a better life and she took it. Her story is not the exception ... it is playing out all across Georgia as people reclaim their lives through the work of accountability courts.

While these reforms require an initial investment, they will increase public safety, and ultimately save money by creating a more effective corrections system that rehabilitates people, closing the revolving door.

If we lock up an eighteen-year-old who has no skills and is unemployable; where will that individual be after completing a 15-year stint behind bars? Without a new approach that brings hope back into the equation, we will have spent $270,000 and then have a 33-year-old with no skills who is more dangerous and even less employable than before. We can do better and with your help we will!

That is why we must focus on transforming our corrections system into a last resort of opportunity – a place where low-level offenders are reclaimed and restored to society as functioning members of the community ... working to support their own families ... and paying taxes!

This evening, I am calling on the religious community, non-profits and charitable organizations to begin addressing the problem of reentry. We need you and the people around this state who care to lead bold new efforts in job training and job placement for prisoners reentering society. You can provide the bridge that will connect those who have served their time with a job and the dignity it provides! If they will do their part, and many of them will, we must do our part.

Let me be clear so that there is no misinterpretation – this is not a get out of jail free card. These reforms do not in any way diminish the seriousness of the seven deadly sins. If you commit one of these, you will spend time in our prisons. In fact, this transformation of our corrections efforts will ensure that we have the space and resources to incarcerate high-risk and violent offenders going forward.

First and foremost, the greatest need of our citizens is jobs and, for that reason, it is the last and brightest star in our constellation. Businesses require a talented workforce and strong infrastructure, but they also require a business environment that allows them to compete in today's global marketplace.

With that in mind, the Georgia Competitiveness Initiative pulled together business leaders and more than 4,000 Georgians across the state to develop a strategy that would improve our business case. And this morning, at the annual Eggs & Issues Breakfast, I outlined a three-part plan for strategic tax reform based on the work of the Initiative.

First, I am proposing the elimination of the sales tax on energy used in manufacturing, a move that will align us with many of our top competitors. This will have a dramatic impact on manufacturers' overall cost structure and vastly improve the competitive position of our producers.

Secondly, I am proposing sales and use tax exemptions for construction materials used in projects of regional significance, giving us an important tool when competing with other states for projects creating large numbers of jobs.

A third piece, we are proposing to restructure Georgia's Job Tax Credits and Quality Jobs Tax Credit programs. The programs now in place were created in 1994, at a time when the competitive landscape was far different than the one our businesses operate in today. We will modernize our job tax credits to better incentivize small business growth and to help every Georgia community compete with their regional peers.

My office is already working with House and Senate leadership to create legislation to this effect.

Georgians cannot compete for jobs that go elsewhere when employers make the decision that a neighboring state is a better place to do business. The job creators across this state have spoken and I ask all of you to join me in making these important changes. This is something we can do and with your help we will!

With a sluggish global economy we still face challenges, but we are beginning to see indications that things are stabilizing. Georgia's revenues trends have strengthened over the last 18 months and with sustained growth of this order, I believe real job creation is much closer than it was when we met on this occasion one year ago. Ladies and gentleman, the state of our state is strong!

In keeping with our mission to chart a course that fulfills the priorities of Georgians, we will follow these stars: providing strong, innovative schools geared for the modern marketplace ... providing practical tools for workforce development ... providing a modern infrastructure that moves people and products efficiently ... providing safe communities ... creating a business-friendly environment that attracts investment and puts Georgians in the best possible position to get a good job.

And when we have fulfilled these imperatives – which are the legitimate purposes of government – let us heed the admonition of Georgians who have asked us to do these few things well, and then to get out of the way so that they can live their lives in freedom and as they see fit!

If we do this, hardworking, self-reliant Georgians will propel our state into a prosperous future!

Thank you, and may God continue to bless this great state and our nation!

The department shall notify a Georgia small business investment company within ten business days from the receipt of a request of its determination and an explanation thereof. If the department fails to notify the Georgia small business investment company of its determination within the ten-business-day period, the proposed investment shall be deemed to be a qualified investment in a qualified business. If the department determines that the proposed investment does not meet the definition of a qualified investment or qualified business or both, the department may nevertheless consider the proposed investment a qualified investment and, if necessary, the business a qualified business, if the department determines that the proposed investment will further state economic development.

(3) All designated capital not invested in qualified investments by a Georgia small business investment company shall be held or invested in such manner as the Georgia small business investment company, in its discretion, deems appropriate. Designated capital and proceeds of designated capital returned to a Georgia small business investment company after being originally invested in qualified investments may be invested again in qualified investments, and such investment shall count toward the requirements of this subsection with respect to making investments of designated capital in qualified investments.

(4) If, within five years after its allocation date, a Georgia small business investment company has not invested at least 60 percent of its designated capital in qualified investments, neither the Georgia small business investment company nor its affiliates shall be permitted to receive management fees, until such time as it has made such qualified investments.

(5) If, within seven years after its allocation date, a Georgia small business investment company has not invested at least 100 percent of its designated capital in qualified investments, neither the Georgia small business investment company nor its affiliates shall be permitted to receive management fees, until such time as it has made such qualified investments.

(6) A Georgia small business investment company shall not invest more than 15 percent of its designated capital in any one qualified business without the specific approval of the department.

(7) For purposes of calculating the above investment percentage thresholds of paragraph (1) of this subsection, the cumulative amount of all qualified investments made by a Georgia small business investment company from the allocation date shall be considered.

(f)(1) Each Georgia small business investment company shall report the following to the department:

(A) As soon as practicable after the receipt of designated capital:

(i) The name of each participating investor from which the designated capital was received, including such participating investor's insurance tax identification number;

(ii) The amount of each participating investor's investment of designated capital; and

(iii) The date on which the designated capital was received;

(B) On an annual basis, on or before January 31 of each year:

(i) The amount of the Georgia small business investment company's remaining uninvested designated capital at the end of the immediately preceding taxable year;

(ii) Whether or not the Georgia small business investment company has invested more than 15 percent of its total designated capital in any one business;

(iii) All qualified investments that the Georgia small business investment company has made in the previous taxable year, including the number of employees of each qualified business in which it has made investments at the time of such investment and as of December 1 of the preceding taxable year; and

(iv) For any qualified business where the Georgia small business investment company no longer has an investment, the Georgia small business investment company shall provide employment figures for that company as of the last day before the investment was terminated;

(C) Other information that the department may reasonably request that will help the department ascertain the impact of the Georgia small business investment company program both directly and indirectly on the economy of the State of Georgia, including, but not limited to, the number of jobs created by qualified businesses that have received qualified investments; and

(D) Within 180 days of the close of its fiscal year, annual audited financial statements of the Georgia small business investment company, which shall include the opinion of an independent certified public accountant.

(2) A Georgia small business investment company shall pay to the department an annual, nonrefundable certification fee of $5,000.00 on or before April 1, or $10,000.00 if later. No annual certification fee is required if the payment date for such fee is within six months of the date that a Georgia small business investment company is first certified by the department.

(3) Upon satisfying the requirements of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (e) of this Code section, a Georgia small business investment company shall provide notice to the department and the department shall, within 60 days of receipt of such notice, either confirm that the Georgia small business investment company has satisfied the requirements of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (e) of this Code section as of such date or provide notice of noncompliance and an explanation of any existing deficiencies. If the department does not provide such notification within 60 days, the Georgia small business investment company shall be deemed to have met the requirements of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (e) of this Code section.

(g) A Georgia small business investment company may make qualified distributions at any time. In order for a Georgia small business investment company to make a distribution other than a qualified distribution to its equity holders, the cumulative amount of all qualified investments of the Georgia small business investment company shall equal or exceed 100 percent of its designated capital.

(h)(1) The department shall conduct an annual review of each Georgia small business investment company to determine if a Georgia small business investment company is abiding by the requirements of certification and to ensure that no investment has been made in violation of this Code section. The cost of the annual review shall be paid by each Georgia small business investment company according to a reasonable fee schedule adopted by the department.

(2) Any violation of paragraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (e) of this Code section may be grounds for decertification of a Georgia small business investment company and the disallowance of credits under subsection (k) of this Code section, provided that in all instances the department shall provide notice to the Georgia small business investment of the grounds of such proposed decertification and the opportunity to cure such violation before any such decertification shall become effective.

(3) Once a Georgia small business investment company has invested an amount cumulatively equal to 100 percent of its designated capital in qualified investments, provided that the Georgia small business investment company has met all other requirements under this Code section as of such date, the Georgia small business investment company shall no longer be subject to regulation by the department or the reporting requirements under subsection (f) of this Code section. Upon receiving certification by a Georgia small business investment company that it has invested an amount equal to 100 percent of its designated capital, the department shall notify a Georgia small business investment company within 60 days that it has or has not met the requirements, with a reason for the determination if it has not. If the department does not provide notification of deregulation within 60 days, the Georgia small business investment company shall be deemed to have met the requirements and shall be deemed to no longer be subject to regulation by the department.

(4) The department shall send written notice of any decertification proceedings to the Commissioner of Insurance and to the address of each participating investor whose tax credit may be subject to recapture or forfeiture, using the address shown on the last filing submitted to the department.

(i) All investments by participating investors for which tax credits are awarded under this Code section shall be registered or specifically exempt from registration.

(j) The department shall make an annual report to the governor and the chairs and ranking minority members of the committees having jurisdiction over taxes and economic development. The report shall include:

(1) The number of Georgia small business investment companies holding designated capital;

(2) The amount of designated capital invested in each Georgia small business investment company;

(3) The cumulative amount that each Georgia small business investment company has invested as of January 1, 2012, and the cumulative total each year thereafter;

(4) The cumulative amount of follow-on capital that the investments of each Georgia small business investment company have created in terms of capital invested in qualified businesses at the same time or subsequent to investments made by a Georgia small business investment company in such businesses by sources other than Georgia small business investment companies;

(5) The total amount of investment tax credits applied under this Code section for each year;

(6) The performance of each Georgia small business investment company with regard to the requirements for continued certification;

(7) The classification of the companies in which each Georgia small business investment company has invested according to industrial sector and size of company;

(8) The gross number of jobs created by investments made by each Georgia small business investment company and the number of jobs retained;

(9) The location of the companies in which each Georgia small business investment company has invested;

(10) Those Georgia small business investment companies that have been decertified, including the reasons for decertification; and

(11) Other related information as necessary to evaluate the effect of this Code section on economic development.

(k)(1) A participating investor as defined under subsection (a) of this Code section shall earn a vested credit against its state premium tax liability equal to 100 percent of the participating investor's investment of designated capital in a Georgia small business investment company. Beginning January 1, 2014, a participating investor may claim the credit as follows:

(A) In tax year 2014, an amount equal to 20 percent of the participating investor's investment of designated capital;

(B) In tax year 2015, an amount equal to 20 percent of the participating investor's investment of designated capital;

(C) In tax year 2016, an amount equal to 20 percent of the participating investor's investment of designated capital;

(D) In tax year 2017, an amount equal to 20 percent of the participating investor's investment of designated capital; and

(E) In tax year 2018, an amount equal to 20 percent of the participating investor's investment of designated capital.

(2) The credit for any taxable year shall not exceed the state premium tax liability for such year. If the amount of the credit determined under this Code section for any taxable year exceeds the state premium tax liability for such year, the excess shall be an investment tax credit carryover to future taxable years without limitation. Credits may be used in connection with both final payments and prepayments of a participating investor's state premium tax liability.

(3) A participating investor claiming a credit under this Code section is not required to pay any additional retaliatory tax levied as a result of claiming the credit.

(4) A participating investor is not required to reduce the amount of tax pursuant to the state premium tax liability included by the participating investor in connection with ratemaking for any insurance contract written in this state because of a reduction in the participating investor's tax liability based on the tax credit allowed under this Code section.

(5) If the taxes paid by a participating investor with respect to its state premium tax liability constitute a credit against any other tax that is imposed by this state, the participating investor's credit against the other tax shall not be reduced by virtue of the reduction in the participating investor's tax liability based on the tax credit allowed under this Code section.

(6) Final decertification of a Georgia small business investment company under subsection (h) of this Code section may result in the disallowance and the recapture of the credit allowed under this Code section. The amount to be disallowed and recaptured shall be assessed as follows:

(A) Decertification of a Georgia small business investment company within two years of its allocation date and prior to meeting the requirements of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) of subsection (e) of this Code section shall result in the disallowance of all of the credits allowed under this Code section; and

(B) Decertification of a Georgia small business investment company that has already met the requirements of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (e) of this Code section shall not cause the disallowance of any credits allowed under this Code section nor the recapture of any portion of the credits that was previously taken.

(7) A participating investor shall not transfer, agree to transfer, sell, or agree to sell the credit under this Code section until 180 days from the date on which the participating investor invested designated capital. After 180 days from the date of investment, a participating investor, or subsequent transferee, may transfer credits based upon rules adopted by the department to facilitate such transfers. Any transfer or sale of the credits shall not affect the time schedule for claiming the credit. Any tax credits recaptured under this Code section shall remain the liability of the original participating investor that applied the credit towards its tax liability.

(l) The Commissioner of Insurance may require each participating investor to provide an annual report, the contents of which to be determined by the Department of Insurance."

(b) Section 3 of this Act shall become effective January 1, 2012.

Honorable Carol W. Hunstein, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, addressed the Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives as follows:

2012 STATE OF THE JUDICIARY ADDRESS
THE HONORABLE CHIEF JUSTICE CAROL HUNSTEIN
SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA
January 25, 2012, 11 a.m.
House Chambers, State Capitol

Lt. Governor Cagle, Speaker Ralston, President Pro Tem Williams, Speaker Pro Tem Jones, friends in the legislative and executive branches, my fellow judges, ladies and gentlemen:

Thank you for the opportunity once again to present to this distinguished body the annual State of the Judiciary address. This yearly tradition underscores our commitment to work together as co-equal branches of government in our common mission of serving the citizens of this great state. Together we can achieve far more than we can alone.

I am privileged to report to you today our accomplishments of the last year, the challenges we face, and our plans for the future. I am honored that joining me are my friends and colleagues on the Supreme Court of Georgia: Presiding Justice George Carley, Justices Robert Benham, Hugh Thompson, Harris Hines, Harold Melton and David Nahmias. I want to pay special tribute today to my dear friend, George Carley, now Presiding Justice but soon to be Chief Justice before he retires later this year after 32 distinguished years on the bench. We in the judiciary are going to miss this brilliant jurist and wonderful colleague.

Also here are my friends and colleagues on the Georgia Court of Appeals – including Chief Judge John Ellington, former Chief Judge Charles Mikell and the newly appointed Judge Michael Boggs. And we are honored to have in the gallery many judges from around the state.

On behalf of all these judges and the judiciary, I want to sincerely thank you for the work that you do. We are deeply appreciative to you in the Legislature and to Governor Deal for your interest in, and ongoing support of, the judicial branch.

Above the bench of the Supreme Court of Georgia is a Latin phrase etched in stone. It says: “Fiat Justitia, Ruat Caelum.”

It means: “Let justice be done, though the heavens may fall.”

This pronouncement is the essence of an independent judiciary. It stands for the notion that above all else, the rule of law is the foundation of our nation, and regardless of anything else, we must protect it. That is our duty as judges. It is our job to uphold the law regardless of the outcome, regardless of public opinion, regardless of political favor. Our forefathers understood this principle through their embodiment in the United States Constitution of the three branches of government and the separation of their powers.

“In order to form a more perfect union,” our United States and state constitutions creatively check each branch’s authority and balance its limitations by guaranteeing its independence while at the same time ensuring the interdependence of all three branches.

You write the laws; the governor executes them; we interpret them. Simple but brilliant. In Georgia, at this time in our history, our three branches of government share a symbiotic relationship. Together as a whole, we can be stronger than our individual parts.

Never has this relationship come to greater fruition than through our work this past year on criminal justice reform. Nearly a year ago, I joined Governor Deal, Speaker Ralston, Lt. Governor Cagle, Rep. Jay Neal and others in an unprecedented news conference where all three branches of government stood as one in our pledge to reform Georgia’s criminal justice system.

Through legislation introduced by Rep. Neal, the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform embarked upon a detailed analysis of Georgia’s sentencing and corrections system. Our primary goal was, and remains, the public safety of our citizens.

We began this process united in our conviction that our state can no longer afford to spend more than $1 billion a year to maintain the nation’s 4th highest incarceration rate and the nation’s No. 1 highest rate of people under some kind of correctional restraint.

We began united in our belief that warehousing non-violent offenders who are addicted to drugs or are mentally ill does nothing to improve the public safety. Indeed, in the long run, it threatens it.

And we began united in our commitment to come up with alternatives to incarceration for non-violent offenders that protect the public safety by addressing the roots of crime and reducing recidivism.

Georgia has a rich history of being tough on crime. This state did not just settle for a “three strikes, you’re out” law. In 1994, we became the first in the country to pass a “two strikes, you’re out” law. As a government, we must continue in our zeal to protect our citizens from violent and repeat offenders. Murderers, rapists, armed robbers and other violent felons deserve stiff prison sentences. No one suggests otherwise.

But if we truly want to be tough on crime, we must figure out how to reduce it. We now know that being tough on crime is not enough. We must also be smart about crime and criminal justice policy. If we simply throw low-risk offenders into prison, rather than holding them accountable for their wrongdoing while addressing the source of their criminal behavior, they merely become hardened criminals who are more likely to reoffend when they are released. The bottom line is that all those mandatory minimum sentences and get-tough prison measures did little to reduce our three-year reconviction rate, which has held steady for the last decade at nearly 30 percent.

Two months ago, the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform published a report of its findings. The Council found that non-violent drug and property offenders represent 60 percent of all admissions to Georgia prisons. Between 1990 and 2010, their average time in prison tripled. In 2010, we who are judges sent thousands of low-risk drug and property offenders to prison --- people who never before had been locked up. For those low-risk offenders, the taxpayers spent $49 a day to house them in prison, versus $16 a day for community treatment at a Day Reporting Center or $1.50 a day for probation supervision.

The Special Council found that at least one in four who entered Georgia's prisons had mental health problems. In a special newspaper series this past fall, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution reported that Georgia's "jails have become the new asylums" with more mentally ill people locked behind bars than all those being treated in state psychiatric hospitals combined. As I speak to you today, up to a quarter of the thousands sitting in our county jails are mentally ill. That is costing our taxpayers millions of dollars, from which they get little return on their investment.

The Special Council has looked to other states and their successes, notably Texas and South Carolina, in recommending a series of policy options that are now before you for your consideration. Texas, for instance, invested a sizable amount in diversion and treatment centers, even though it faced a shortfall in prison beds. As a result, that state estimates it has avoided the need for two billion dollars in new prison construction, and for the first time in its history, Texas is actually closing a prison. But most significantly, in 2010, Texas posted its lowest crime rate since 1973.

Following the examples of Texas and other states, Georgia's Special Council recommends giving judges more sentencing options by creating a statewide system of accountability courts, which include drug courts, mental health courts, and veterans courts. Our veterans have been overseas sacrificing their lives and protecting our country. Many come back changed by traumatic brain injury, chemical dependency and mental health conditions that can lead to erratic behavior and possible involvement in the criminal justice system.

These accountability courts have a proven track record of holding offenders accountable while reducing their likelihood of reoffending. A national report issued just last month by the U.S. Government Accountability Office found that re-arrest rates for drug court graduates were 26 percent lower than the rate of recidivism among comparison groups. The goal is to turn lawbreakers from tax burdens into tax-payers, and these courts have already proven their effectiveness in doing that.

Yes, they may be more compartmentalized, but they are more efficient. Not only are they specialized, but they free up judges whose dockets have been clogged with drug crimes to deal with other important criminal and civil cases, including the very important business disputes.

The Council recommends other crime-fighting measures for your consideration. One involves offenders who are about to max out of prison, many of whom have spent the majority of their lives locked behind bars. Rather than push them out the prison gate with a bus ticket, a travel kit and $25 in cash, the Council recommends that six months before their discharge date, they be released to parole supervision to oversee their transition back into society.

Minor traffic offenses also clog our Georgia courts. Many of our citizens don't realize that Georgia criminalizes minor traffic offenses, entitling the offender to a trial by jury if requested. Most states treat these minor traffic offenses as violations penalized by a fine. The Council recommends in its report creating a new class of violations for less serious traffic offenses so they are no longer treated as misdemeanor crimes. This recommendation specifically excludes DUIs and other serious traffic offenses.

There are many more recommendations, and I urge you to read the entire report. I join Governor Deal in saying this is an important first step.

But this is like steering a ship. Changing our course will take time. And it will not come without courage and controversy. As Woodrow Wilson said: "If you want to make enemies, try to change something." But, as Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. said: "A genuine leader is not a searcher for consensus but a molder of consensus." There are many consensus builders in this room, and I am confident in your ability to bring about significant reforms.

Governor Deal urged the Special Council to limit its focus to changes that affect the adult prison population. I agree. We must take this one step at a time. But today, I would like to plant a seed for your future consideration. In the last year, I have heard from many of our state's juvenile judges, who have the best interests of our young people and their families at heart. With state cuts in mental health services, child welfare services, group homes and alternatives for children who do not need to be behind bars, juvenile judges are too often faced with sending young people to locked facilities to get some kind of treatment, or sending them home to get nothing at all. So today I offer you a postscript: The same reforms we are recommending to you for adults must begin with children.

Perhaps you have heard the parable about the group of people who were standing at a river bank when they watched an infant floating by and drowning in the river. One person promptly dove in and rescued the child. But then another baby came floating by. And then another, and another! Frantic, everyone jumped in to try to save the babies. But they noticed one person was walking away. Accusingly, they shouted, "Where are you going?" He answered: "I'm going upstream to stop whoever is throwing babies into the river."

In Georgia, we are throwing children into youth prisons. They are technically known as Youth Development Campuses, but many YDC's look, feel and sound just like adult prisons. Some of our children are serious, violent, repeat offenders, and we must protect our citizens from them. But many are behind bars because juvenile judges have nowhere else to send them; because no one intervened before it was too late.

According to the Georgia Department of Juvenile Justice, during the last three years, nearly two thirds of the more than 10,000 youths locked behind bars have some kind of substance abuse problem; more than one third have been diagnosed with mental health conditions. As with adults, we have learned that our get-tough tactics have failed to scare juvenile offenders straight.

A recent study by The Annie E. Casey Foundation found evidence that our reliance on incarceration for young people provides no benefit to public safety, does not reduce their future offending, wastes taxpayer dollars and perhaps worst of all, exposes children to high levels of violence and abuse. In other words, our youth prisons are a pipeline to adult prison. Consider this: Within three years of juveniles' release from youth prison, up to 72 percent are convicted of a new offense, depending on the state.

Children who drop out of school, get involved in drugs, develop mental health problems, are unruly, disrespectful, and out of control without ever getting any kind of intervention are strong candidates for becoming adult criminals. We must face the reality that for many of these children, Georgia's youth prisons are mere incubators for adult crime.

Tasha Hamilton was well on her way down that path to adult prison. Tasha was 8 years old when her mother abandoned the family, leaving her behind along with her baby sisters. Although their father worked, they had little money and at times they slept in a car. Tasha grew up angry and defiant. By 11 years old, she was smoking marijuana. By 12, she was hanging out with an older crowd and drinking. By 13, she was hooked on methamphetamine.

Tasha bounced in and out of Georgia's YDCs and boot camps, spending 90 days here, another few months there, often for minor infractions. By the time she was 16, Tasha had been in trouble so many times that she was committed to the State. And this time, they sent her away for nearly a year.

Tasha describes the YDC as a "miserable" place full of "miserable people wanting to do harm." Tasha says youth prison "doesn't bring out the good in anybody." In her own words, she says: "You take away a little bit bad with you. You come out knowing worse people than when you went in, and you build relationships with them."

But something happened to Tasha that made all the difference. She had a probation officer, Jennifer King, who genuinely cared and refused to give up on her. Jennifer worked in the Douglas County Juvenile Court under Jenny McDade, Director of Juvenile Programs. Together, they made sure Tasha got the help she needed. Tasha got her G.E.D., she got drug treatment and ultimately she got a job. Without Jennifer, she says, it would have been easy for her to graduate into adult prison. She sadly wonders how many are in adult prison today who never had a Jennifer in their lives, someone who said to them when they were teenagers: "You can do it", when they had no hope that they could.

With the help of the Douglas County Juvenile Court system, under the able leadership of Judge Peggy Walker, Tasha was accepted into West Central Technical College. Today, she works fulltime in insurance, taking care of her two daughters, as a tax payer, not a tax burden. Today, Tasha has that hope in her life she once lacked. And today, it's still important to Tasha that she continues to make her probation officer proud.

Ladies and Gentlemen, it is my honor to introduce to you Tasha Hamilton, Probation Officer Jennifer King, Jenny McDade and Judge Peggy Walker.

Together, we can move this ship in a new direction. You have a challenge ahead, and I recognize you have difficult choices to make. I do not envy you. This year, as in the previous few years, you face what we hope is the end of a recession that has cost citizens their jobs, their homes, and their hope in the American dream. This year, as always, you are charged with parsing out limited state funds to many worthy causes.

The judicial branch provides a core government function by protecting the public safety. We in the judiciary are grateful to you for understanding that we are bound by the Constitutions of our state and nation to uphold the rule of law and mete out justice in a fair and impartial way to all who come before us.

As I have said before, our courts are the emergency rooms of society: We must respond to all who come to us.

Yet in Georgia, our courts continue to struggle, putting justice in jeopardy.

State budget cuts, exacerbated by county cuts, have resulted in court backlogs across Georgia. DeKalb County has four pending death penalty cases that it cannot move forward due to a lack of resources. In some counties, including DeKalb, domestic violence cases have been delayed at the very time Georgia inches closer to the top in the rate of domestic violence homicides. According to the most recent FBI data, Georgia has gone from having the 10th highest rate of domestic violence homicides to now having the 6th highest rate. One metro Atlanta judge told me he worries about what could happen if a young mother found a locked courthouse door on the day she needed a temporary restraining order to protect her family from an abuser.

Civil trials in particular are being delayed in a number of jurisdictions. That is because our Constitution guarantees the right to a speedy trial in criminal cases. As a result, some judges have been forced to delay civil matters.

We are all proud that Georgia was recently ranked the 4th most business-friendly state in the nation. We in the judiciary want to do everything we can to protect that ranking by guaranteeing that businesses can resolve their disputes in a timely fashion.

In addition, divorce cases and dispossessory cases, in which people have been evicted from their homes, have been affected by court delays from Jackson County to Houston County. In one Northeast Georgia court, people are now waiting up to four months just to get a temporary hearing in a divorce, a situation that can grow volatile when children are involved. For a landlord, court delays can mean an additional 2-to-3 weeks before a non-paying tenant is evicted and replaced with a paying tenant. For creditors, it can mean an additional 3-to-4 weeks before any collection efforts can be started.

As a superior court judge told me: “We are just one case away from a serious logjam if a major case is tried or defense attorneys start filing speedy trial demands.”

Today, Georgia's entire judicial branch is funded with less than 1 percent of the state budget. Georgia's judiciary has never resisted sharing the burden of difficult economic times. The fact is we were lean before they struck. At the Supreme Court of Georgia, the state's highest court, until this year, we did not even have a paid employee to greet visitors or answer our phones in the main office. Our small staff of 51 is still fewer than we had a decade ago, yet our caseload, like that of other courts, has grown.

Justice is not a privilege; it is a right. Criminal cases must be heard; civil disputes must be resolved. Courts are critical to public safety. But in recent years, the erosion of budgets in the face of growing caseloads has put us perilously close to being unable to fulfill our constitutional mandates.

The good news is we have never idly sat by. I report to you today that even in the face of a mighty struggle, your court system remains sound, strong and stable. We are holding the line, doing more with less, and moving forward.

Georgia's courts and our 1500 judges are problem solvers. It was a judge who first identified the need for a drug court back in 1994, when Bibb County created Georgia's first. Since then, the number of accountability courts has grown to 100. We are greatly appreciative to you for your support of these courts in the past. The need now is to expand them statewide, along with the necessary treatment facilities, staff and security required to make them effective.

This year, we became one of the first states to move forward and create a new rule for the recusal of judges, following the United States Supreme Court's landmark ruling in the 2009 case, Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Company. Thanks to the leadership of Rep. Ed Lindsey and my colleague Justice Harold Melton, we have amended by order of the Supreme Court of Georgia the Code of Judicial Conduct to ensure that judges disqualify themselves in any proceeding in which their impartiality could be questioned. Georgia's rule has become a model rule and was recently adopted, with minor changes, by the American Bar Association. We also continue to make strides in our efforts to switch from paper to the electronic filing of court documents. At the state Supreme Court, we are now close to 100 percent participation among attorneys in electronically filing their motions, briefs and applications to appeal.

Georgia's judiciary has a nationwide influence. Juvenile Judge Peggy Walker of Douglas County is now in line to become President of the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges in 2014; Juvenile Judge Michael Key of Coweta County is the immediate past national president. This past summer, I was honored to co-host the annual conference of the nation's Supreme Court justices, as well as the nation's court administrators. Fully 75 percent of this country's chief justices came to Atlanta where Gov. Nathan Deal graciously welcomed them. The theme of the conference was "A World of Change: Courts and the Media in 2011."

In Georgia, we are committed to making our courts as open and as accessible to the public as possible. As someone once said, "One of our greatest freedoms is the right to know what our government is doing." I believe that openness and accessibility are critical to winning our citizens' faith and confidence in their justice system.

Our open-door policy extends to you. All of us who are judges would be honored to have you visit our courts. Especially as you consider the options now before you for reforming this state's criminal justice system, a half-day visit to your local courthouse could help enlighten you about the types of cases our judges face each day. About the challenges before them. And about the need they have for sentencing options other than prison alone. Also, you might consider attending a drug court graduation.

Thank you for standing with us as partners as we stand with you in moving Georgia into a new age. Thank you for your support of the judicial branch. And thank you for your service to this great state.

God bless you. And God bless the state of Georgia.

To amend Chapter 4 of Title 50 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the organization of the executive branch generally, so as to establish the "Georgia Government Accountability Act"; to provide for a short title; to provide for legislative intent; to create the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee; to authorize the committee to review and evaluate state agencies' productivity, efficiency, and responsiveness; to provide for the automatic abolition of certain state agencies contingent upon adoption of a resolution by the General Assembly declaring that the state laws applicable to such agency have been repealed, revised, or reassigned; to provide for related matters; to repeal conflicting laws; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Chapter 4 of Title 50 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the organization of the executive branch generally, is amended by designating Code Sections 50-4-1 through 50-4-7 as Article 1 and by adding a new article to read as follows:

"ARTICLE 2

This article shall be known and may be cited as the 'Georgia Government Accountability Act.' It is the intent of the General Assembly to establish a method by which the efficiency of state government shall be reviewed and the productivity of each agency evaluated. This article is meant to ensure that the valuable resources of the state are best utilized and that state agencies are held accountable for their service to the public and their responsiveness to the needs of the citizens of this state.

(a) There is created as a joint committee of the General Assembly the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee to be composed of seven members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House and seven members of the Senate appointed by the President of the Senate. One of the appointees appointed by the Speaker of the House shall be a Governor's floor leader in the House of Representatives and one of the members appointed by the President of the Senate shall be a Governor's floor leader in the Senate. The members of the committee shall serve two-year terms concurrent with their terms as members of the General Assembly. A cochairperson of the committee shall be appointed by the President of the Senate from the membership of the committee, and a cochairperson of the committee shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House from the membership of the committee. The cochairpersons shall serve terms of two years concurrent with their terms as members of the General Assembly. The cochairpersons shall each be authorized to appoint no more than two ex officio members of the committee. Vacancies in an appointed member's position or in the offices of cochairperson of the committee shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner as the original appointment. The committee shall advise the General Assembly regarding the agency sunset provisions required by this article.

(b) The Senate and the House of Representatives, in cooperation with the office of the Governor, may each employ staff to work for the cochairpersons of the committee on matters related to committee activities.

(c) In carrying out its function under this article, the committee may request, through the cochairpersons, the assistance of any state agency or office. When so requested, a state agency or office shall assist the committee. The committee or its designated staff member may inspect, review, and copy the records, documents, and files of any state agency that are subject to public disclosure. All information subject to public disclosure shall be made available for review and copying within three business days.

(a)(1) The Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee shall review all state agencies, including all boards, departments, advisory committees, authorities, bureaus, offices, and any other state entity of the executive branch of state government regardless of its designation. The committee shall be responsible for establishing a schedule for the routine review of state agencies. It shall be the responsibility of the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee to schedule agency reviews. The Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee shall have the discretion to add any agency to the review schedule or to modify an agency's scheduled review.

(2) This article shall not apply to any state entity to which state funds are not appropriated in an appropriations Act.

(b) Except as provided by this Code section, an agency subject to review by the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee shall be automatically abolished on the one-year anniversary of the committee's decision recommending that such agency be abolished; provided, however, that no agency shall be abolished unless or until the General Assembly finds by adoption of a joint resolution that the state laws that the agency is responsible for implementing or enforcing have been repealed, revised, or reassigned to another remaining agency and that adequate provision has been made for the transfer from the abolished agency to a successor agency of all duties, real property, debts, and obligations, including those relating to bonds, loans, promissory notes, lease-purchase agreements, installment sales contracts, financing agreements, or any other form of indebtedness such that security therefor and the rights of bondholders or holders of other indebtedness are not impaired.

(c) If the General Assembly does not take action to continue an agency before the date of its abolishment, the agency shall submit its legislative budget request consistent with the recommendations of the review of the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee or any law transferring the agency's functions to other entities.

(d) Any agency established by constitutional provision shall not be subject to automatic abolishment as provided in subsection (a) of this Code section. The committee shall review the constitutionally established agency in the same manner and shall report to the General Assembly any recommended constitutional amendments needed for the reorganizing or abolishing of such constitutionally created agency.

(e) Any board, commission, advisory council, or similar body included in the term 'agency' as defined in Code Section 50-4-1 that has not held an open public meeting for a period of more than 12 months shall be considered automatically abolished without the need for further agency review as required by this article. The committee shall be responsible for presenting legislation to repeal existing statutory provisions relating to the abolished agency. The committee shall give public notice of any proposed legislation not later than the first day of December of the year preceding its introduction.

(f) Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, abolition of a state agency shall not affect the rights and duties that matured, penalties that were incurred, civil or criminal liabilities that arose, or proceedings that were begun before the abolition.

(a) Not later than six months prior to the date on which a state agency is scheduled to be reviewed, the agency shall provide the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee with a report outlining the agency's efficiency and productivity and the extent to which the agency utilizes state resources to best meet the needs of the public.

(b) The report required by this Code section shall, at a minimum, include the following:

(1) A comprehensive list of state programs and services performed by the agency, including all special purpose activities undertaken to realize identifiable goals and objectives in order to achieve the agency's mission and legislative intent;

(2) An accounting of state resources appropriated to and spent by the agency;

(5) A statement of any statutory objectives intended for each program and activity, the problem or need that the program or activity is intended to address, and the extent to which these objectives have been achieved;

(6) An assessment of the extent to which the jurisdiction of the agency and its programs overlap or duplicate those of other agencies and the extent to which those programs can be eliminated, reorganized, privatized, or consolidated with those of other agencies;

(7) A self-examining assessment of the agency's efficiency and areas of needed improvement, including goals and objectives for improvement, and the means by which the agency intends to meet these goals and objectives;

(8) Recommendations for statutory or budgetary changes that would improve the agency's programs and operations, reduce costs, or improve services to state residents;

(9) The effect of federal intervention or loss of federal funds if the agency, or any of its programs or activities, is abolished;

(10) An assessment of alternative methods of providing services for which the agency is responsible that would reduce costs or improve performance while adequately protecting the public interest;

(11) An assessment of the agency and its programs to determine whether the agency or its programs should be eliminated, reorganized, privatized, or consolidated;

(12) A detailed summary of the agency's hiring and retention patterns for the previous five years;

(13) An assessment of the extent to which the agency has corrected any deficiencies and implemented recommendations contained in any state or federal audits or court decisions;

(14) A list of all advisory committees and boards of the agency, whether established in statute or by the agency; their purposes, activities, composition, and expenses; and an assessment of the extent to which their purposes have been achieved and the rationale for continuing or eliminating each advisory committee or board;

(15) A list of agency programs or functions that are performed without specific statutory authority;

(16) Copies of any program audits, performance audits, and any other reports provided by the state auditor;

(17) A list and summary of all litigation in which the agency is engaged and the status of such cases, including assessments of any financial liability to which they expose the state; and

(18) Other information as requested by the committee or any study committee created under the committee's direction.

(c) Information and data reported by the agency shall be validated by the agency's chief executive before submission to the committee.

50-4-24.

(a) Not later than six months following receipt of the agency's report required by Code Section 50-4-23, the Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee shall complete its review of the agency. When conducting its agency review the committee shall:

(1) Review the information submitted by the agency;

(2) Consult with or hear testimony from any individual, agency, private company, or other expert as needed;

(3) Hold public hearings to consider this information as well as testimony that the committee deems necessary; and

(4) Present to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Governor a report on the agencies scheduled to be reviewed that year by the committee. In the report, the committee shall include its specific findings and recommendations regarding each agency review and indicate whether a public need exists for the continuation of a state agency or for the functions of the agency.

(b) The committee shall consider the following criteria in determining whether a public need exists for the continuation of a state agency or agency function:

(1) The efficiency with which the agency operates;

(2) The statutory objectives of the agency and the problem or need that the agency is intended to address, the extent to which the objectives have been achieved, and any activities of the agency in addition to those granted by statute and the authority for these activities;

(3) An assessment of less restrictive or alternative methods of providing any regulatory function for which the agency is responsible while adequately protecting the public;

(4) The extent to which an advisory committee or board is needed or used;

- (5) The extent to which the jurisdiction of the agency and the programs administered by the agency overlap or duplicate those of other agencies and the extent to which the programs administered by the agency can be consolidated with the programs of other agencies;
 - (6) Whether the agency has recommended to the legislature statutory changes calculated to be of benefit to the public;
 - (7) The promptness and effectiveness with which the agency responds to the public's complaints and the extent to which the agency has encouraged participation by the public in making its rules and decisions;
 - (8) The extent to which the agency has satisfied requirements of state law, safeguarded public health, safety, and welfare, and utilized state resources;
 - (9) The extent to which the agency accurately reports performance measures used to justify state spending on each of its activities, services, and programs;
 - (10) The extent to which the agency is reasonably deemed to be a core or essential function of state government under the provisions of the Constitution of Georgia;
 - (11) The effect of probable federal intervention or loss of federal funds if the agency or an agency function is abolished; and
 - (12) The extent to which changes are necessary in the enabling statutes of the agency so that the agency can adequately comply with the criteria of this article.
- (c) In its report on an agency, the committee shall make recommendations on the abolition, continuation, or reorganization of such agency and on the need for the continuation of the functions of the agency. The report shall also make recommendations on the elimination, privatization, consolidation, transfer, or reorganization of an agency's programs when those programs are duplicated by another agency.
- (d) It shall be the responsibility of the committee to prepare drafts of legislation necessary to carry out the committee's recommendations."

February 1, 2012

Mr. Bob Ewing
Secretary of the Senate
353 State Capitol
Atlanta, GA 30334

Dear Bob,

Due to a death in the family, I was unable to cast my vote against Senate Bill 302 today. Clearly the Georgia Higher Education Facilities Authority has spent/lent all the money the law allowed. In their presentation to the Appropriations Committee, the Authority stated that if the cap were raised, the Authority would likely spend/loan the additional $200 million within two years and would be back asking for the limit to be raised again. Therefore, increasing the limit defeats the purpose of the limit and the protections it provides to Georgians.

I call upon our educational institutions to focus their spending on things crucial to education and make every effort to keep costs down so more Georgians can afford education. While student centers, bookstores, theaters, recreation centers and wellness centers are nice additions to a campus, they are not necessary educational expenses.

Sincerely,

/s/ Bill Heath

Senator Rogers of the 21st moved that the Senate adjourn until 10:00 a.m. Thursday, February 2, 2012.

The motion prevailed, and the President announced the Senate adjourned at 11:20 a.m.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

An Act creating the Board of Commissioners of Baldwin County, approved December 26, 1888 (Ga. L. 1888, p. 286), as amended, specifically by an Act approved April 25, 2002 (Ga. L. 2002, p. 4238), is amended by revising subsection (a) as follows:

"(a)(1) There is created a five-member board of commissioners of Baldwin County who shall administer the affairs of the county. For purposes of electing members of the board of commissioners, Baldwin County is divided into five commissioner districts. The five commissioner districts shall be and correspond to those five numbered districts described in and attached to and made a part of this Act and further identified as 'Plan: baldwinccsbR-2012 Plan Type: local Administrator: baldwin User: Gina'.

(2) When used in such attachment, the terms 'VTD' shall mean and describe the same geographical boundaries as provided in the report of the Bureau of the Census for the United States decennial census of 2010 for the State of Georgia. The separate numeric designations in a district description which are underneath a 'VTD' heading shall mean and describe individual Blocks within a VTD as provided in the report of the Bureau of the Census for the United States decennial census of 2010 for the State of Georgia.

(3) Any part of Baldwin County which is not included in any such district described in that attachment shall be included within that district contiguous to such part which contains the least population according to the United States decennial census of 2010 for the State of Georgia. Any part of Baldwin County which is described in that attachment as being in a particular district shall nevertheless not be included within such district if such part is not contiguous to such district. Such noncontiguous part shall instead be included within that district contiguous to such part which contains the least population according to the United States decennial census of 2010 for the State of Georgia. Except as otherwise provided in the description of any commissioner district, whenever the description of such district refers to a named city, it shall mean the geographical boundaries of that city as shown on the census map for the United States decennial census of 2010 for the State of Georgia.

(4) Commissioner Districts 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, as they exist immediately prior to the effective date of this Act, shall continue to be designated as Commissioner Districts 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, respectively, but as newly described under this Act, and on and after the effective date of this Act, such members of the board serving from those former commissioner districts shall be deemed to be serving from and representing their respective districts as newly described under this Act."

SECTION 2.

Those members of the Board of Commissioners of Baldwin County who are serving as such on the effective date of this Act, and any person selected to fill a vacancy in any such office, shall continue to serve as such members until the regular expiration of their respective terms of office and upon the election and qualification of their respective successors.

SECTION 3.

The governing authority of Baldwin County shall through its legal counsel cause this Act to be submitted for preclearance under the federal Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, and such submission shall be made to the United States Department of Justice or filed with the appropriate court no later than 30 days after the date on which this Act is approved by the Governor or otherwise becomes law without such approval.

SECTION 4.

This Act shall become effective upon its approval by the Governor or upon its becoming law without such approval.

SECTION 5.

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

"20-2-940.

(a) Grounds for termination or suspension. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the contract of employment of a teacher, ~~principal~~ administrator, or other employee having a contract for a definite term may be terminated or suspended for the following reasons:

(7) Failure to secure and maintain necessary educational training; or

(8) Any other good and sufficient cause.

A teacher, ~~principal~~ administrator, or other employee having a contract of employment for a definite term shall not have such contract terminated or suspended for refusal to alter a grade or grade report if the request to alter a grade or grade report was made without good and sufficient cause.

(b) Notice. Before the discharge or suspension of a teacher, ~~principal~~ administrator, or other employee having a contract of employment for a definite term, written notice of the charges shall be given at least ten days before the date set for hearing and shall state:

The report shall indicate the student's specific assigned program for each one-sixth segment of the school day on the designated reporting date. No program shall be indicated for a student for any one-sixth segment of the school day that the student is assigned to a study hall; a noncredit course; a course recognized under this article or by state board policy as an enrichment course, except a driver education course; a course which requires participation in an extracurricular activity for which enrollment is on a competitive basis; a course in which the student serves as a student assistant to a teacher, in a school office, or in the media center, except when such placement is an approved work site of a recognized career or vocational program; an individual study course for which no outline of course objectives is prepared in writing prior to the beginning of the course; ~~a course taken through the Georgia Virtual School pursuant to Code Section 20-2-319.1~~; or any other course or activity so designated by the state board. Such rules and regulations, if established, shall include, at a minimum, a process for students to enroll in Georgia Virtual School courses, ~~including provisions allowing for students to participate in such courses in excess of any maximum number of courses allowed per year at a tuition rate to be established by the State Board of Education,~~ and a process whereby a student's grade in the course is reported on the student's transcript. All teachers who provide instruction through the Georgia Virtual School shall be certified by the Professional Standards Commission. A local school system shall not prohibit any student from taking a course through the Georgia Virtual School, regardless of whether the school in which the student is enrolled offers the same course.

(b)(1) The department is authorized to establish a Georgia Virtual School grant account with funds appropriated by the General Assembly. ~~The amount of funds requested by the state board for this account shall be the amount that the participating students would have earned under this article if those students had been in equivalent general education programs in a local school system for that portion of the instructional day in which the students were actually enrolled in a Georgia Virtual School course.~~ The department shall use funds from this grant account to pay for costs associated with the Georgia Virtual School incurred by the department, including, but not limited to, actual costs of tuition, materials, and fees directly related to the approved courses taken by the students through the Georgia Virtual School associated with the maintenance of the Georgia Virtual School, such as new course development, credit recovery, blended learning training, and operating a clearinghouse.

(2) The local school system shall pay to the department costs for tuition, materials, and fees directly related to the approved course taken by a student in its school system through the Georgia Virtual School; provided, however, that in no event shall the amount of tuition charged to the local school system exceed $250.00 per student per semester course.

(c) The Georgia Virtual School shall not be considered a school for purposes of Article 2 of Chapter 14 of this title."

(a) Beginning with the 2012-2013 school year, each local school system shall provide opportunities to all students enrolled in public schools within its boundaries for participation in part-time and full-time virtual instruction program options. Written notice of such opportunities, including an open enrollment period for full-time students of at least 90 days and not ending earlier than 30 days prior to the first day of the school year, shall be provided directly to parents of all students. The purpose of the program shall be to make quality virtual instruction available to students using online and distance learning technology in the nontraditional classroom. The program shall provide at least three options for:

(1) Full-time virtual instruction for students enrolled in kindergarten through grade 12; and

A virtual instruction program conducted by a local school system shall include specific provision for at least two full-time options and one part-time option for students enrolled in dropout prevention and academic intervention programs or Department of Juvenile Justice education programs under Code Section 20-2-133.

(b) To provide students with the option of participating in virtual instruction programs as required by subsection (a) of this Code section, a local school system may apply one or all of the following mechanisms:

(1) Facilitate enrollment in the Georgia Virtual School established pursuant to Code Section 20-2-319.1;

(2) Enter into a contract with an approved provider under subsection (c) of this Code section for the provision of a full-time program under paragraph (1) of subsection (a) of this Code section or a part-time program under paragraph (2) of subsection (a) of this Code section; or

(3) Enter into an agreement with another local school system or systems to allow the participation of its students in an approved virtual instruction program provided by such other local school system or systems. The agreement shall indicate a process for the transfer of funds.

Section 54: Leases

In accordance with the requirements of Article IX, Section VI, Paragraph Ia of the Constitution of the State of Georgia, as amended, there is hereby appropriated payable to each department, agency, or institution of the State sums sufficient to satisfy the payments required to be made in each year, under existing lease contracts between any department, agency, or institution of the State, and any authority created and activated at the time of the effective date of the aforesaid constitutional provision, as amended, or appropriated for the State fiscal year addressed within this Act. If for any reason any of the sums herein provided under any other provision of this Act are insufficient to make the required payments in full, there shall be taken from other funds appropriated to the department, agency or institution involved, an amount sufficient to satisfy such deficiency in full and the lease payment constitutes a first charge on all such appropriations.

Section 55: Budgetary Control and Interpretation

The appropriations in this Act consist of the amount stated in the right-most column, for each line at the lowest level of detail for the fund source categories, "Total State Funds" and "Total Federal Funds," under a caption beginning with a program or special project number that has a 100 or a higher number after the decimal and a program or special project name. In each case, such appropriation is associated with the immediately preceding program or special project name, number, and statement of program or special project purpose. The program or special project purpose is stated immediately below the program or special project name. For authorizations for general obligation debt in Section 50, the indented, bold-faced paragraphs following each Bond number are the lowest level of detail and constitute appropriations in accordance with Article VII, Section IV, Paragraph III(a)(1) of the Georgia Constitution. The caption above the Bond number, the light-faced text immediately following the Bond number before the bold-faced text, and the lightfaced after the bold-faced text are information only.

Similarly, text in a group of lines that has a number less than 100 after the decimal (01 through 99) is not part of a statement of purpose but constitutes information as to how the appropriation was derived. Amounts in the columns other than the right-most column are for informational purposes only. Except for the prior year motor fuel funds re-allocated according to the legal text at the end of Section 48, the summary and lowest level of detail for the fund source categories "Total Agency Funds" and "Total Intra-State Governmental Transfers," are for informational purposes only. The blocks of text and numerals immediately following the section header and beginning with the phrases, "Section Total - Continuation" and "Section Totals - Final" are for informational purposes only. Sections 51, 52, and 53 contain, constitute, or amend appropriations.

Section 56: Flex

Except for the prior year motor fuel funds re-allocated according to the legal text at the end of Section 48, (notwithstanding their fund source character), and otherwise notwithstanding any other statement of purpose, the purpose of each appropriation of federal funds or other funds shall be the stated purpose or any other lawful purpose consistent with the fund source and the general law powers of the budget unit.

In the preceding sentence, "Federal Funds" means any federal funding source, whether specifically identified or not specifically identified; "Other Funds" means all other fund sources except State Funds or Federal Funds, including without limitation, Intra-State Government Transfers. This paragraph does not permit an agency to include within its flex the appropriations for an agency attached to it for administrative purposes.

This paragraph applies to and only to the appropriations for the "Medicaid: Low-Income Medicaid" and "Medicaid: Aged, Blind, and Disabled" programs of the Department of Community Health. The appropriation of a particular State fund source for each program is the amount stated, and each program shall also be authorized up to an additional amount of 2 percent (2%) of the amount stated. However, if the additional authority is used, the appropriation of the same State fund source for the other program to that agency is reduced in the same amount, such that the stated total in program appropriations from that State fund source for the two programs is not exceeded. However, the additional amount must be from a State fund source which is lawfully available for the program to which it is added.

Section 57: Effective Date

This Act shall become effective upon its approval by the Governor or upon its becoming law without his approval.

Section 58: Repeal Conflicting Laws

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are repealed.

The risk assessment may involve an actuarial review, including an independent analysis of reserves and cash flows, and shall consider all material risk factors, including, when applicable, the lines of business involved, the stability of the incurred loss estimates and the effect of the surplus requirements on the assuming insurer's liquidity or solvency. (C) ~~Such trust shall be established in a form~~ Credit for reinsurance shall not be granted under this paragraph unless the form of the trust and any amendments to the trust have been approved by the Commissioner ~~commissioner~~ commissioner of the state where the trust is domiciled or the commissioner of another state, who, pursuant to the terms of the trust agreement, has accepted principal regulatory oversight of the trust. The form of the trust and any trust amendments also shall be filed with the commissioner of every state in which the ceding insurer beneficiaries of the trust are domiciled. The trust ~~instruments~~ instrument shall provide that contested claims shall be valid and enforceable upon the final order of any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States. The trust shall vest legal title to its assets in the trustees of the trust for its United States ~~policyholders and~~ ceding insurers, their assigns, and successors in interest. The trust and the assuming insurer shall be subject to examination as determined by the Commissioner. The trust must remain in effect for as long as the assuming insurer shall have outstanding obligations due under the reinsurance agreements subject to the trust.

(D) No later than February 28 of each year the trustees of the trust shall report to the Commissioner in writing setting forth the balance of the trust and listing the trust's investments as of the end of the preceding year and shall certify the date of termination of the trust, if so planned, or certify that the trust shall not expire prior to the next following December 31;

(5) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of paragraph (1), (2), (3), or (4) of this subsection ~~but only with respect to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where such reinsurance is required by applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction; and if such assuming insurer has been certified by the Commissioner as a reinsurer in this state and secures its obligations in accordance with the requirements of this subsection.~~

(A) In order to be eligible for certification, the assuming insurer shall meet the following requirements:

(i) The assuming insurer shall be domiciled and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in a qualified jurisdiction, as determined by the Commissioner pursuant to subparagraph (C) of this paragraph;

(ii) The assuming insurer shall maintain minimum capital and surplus, or its equivalent, in an amount to be determined by the Commissioner pursuant to regulation;

(iii) The assuming insurer shall maintain financial strength ratings from two or more rating agencies deemed acceptable by the Commissioner pursuant to regulation;

(iv) The assuming insurer shall agree to submit to the jurisdiction of this state, appoint the Commissioner as its agent for service of process in this state, and agree to provide security for 100 percent of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by United States ceding insurers if it resists enforcement of a final United States judgment;

(v) The assuming insurer shall agree to meet applicable information filing requirements as determined by the Commissioner, both with respect to an initial application for certification and on an ongoing basis; and

(vi) The assuming insurer shall satisfy any other requirements for certification deemed relevant by the Commissioner.

(B) An association including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters may be a certified reinsurer. In order to be eligible for certification, in addition to satisfying requirements of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph:

(i) The association shall satisfy its minimum capital and surplus requirements through the capital and surplus equivalents, net of liabilities, of the association and its members, which shall include a joint central fund that may be applied to any unsatisfied obligation of the association of any of its members, in an amount determined by the Commissioner to provide adequate protection;

(ii) The incorporated members of the association shall not be engaged in any business other than underwriting as a member of the association and shall be subject to the same level of regulation and solvency control by the association's domiciliary regulator as are the unincorporated members; and

(iii) Within 90 days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the association's domiciliary regulator, the association shall provide to the Commissioner an annual certification by the association's domiciliary regulator of the solvency of each underwriter member; or if a certification is unavailable, financial statements, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the association.

(C) The Commissioner shall create and publish a list of qualified jurisdictions under which an assuming insurer licensed and domiciled in such jurisdiction is eligible to be considered for certification by the Commissioner as a certified reinsurer.

(i) In order to determine whether the domiciliary jurisdiction of a non-United States assuming insurer is eligible to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the Commissioner shall evaluate the appropriateness and effectiveness of the reinsurance supervisory system of the jurisdiction, both initially and on an ongoing basis, and consider the rights, benefits, and the extent of reciprocal recognition afforded by the non-United States jurisdiction to reinsurers licensed and domiciled in the United States. A qualified jurisdiction shall agree to share information and cooperate with the Commissioner with respect to all certified reinsurers domiciled within that jurisdiction. A jurisdiction may not be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction if the Commissioner has determined that the jurisdiction does not adequately and promptly enforce final United States judgments and arbitration awards. Additional factors may be considered in the discretion of the Commissioner.

(ii) A list of qualified jurisdictions shall be published through the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) Committee Process. The Commissioner shall consider this list in determining qualified jurisdictions. If the Commissioner approves a jurisdiction as qualified that does not appear on the list of qualified jurisdictions, the Commissioner shall provide thoroughly documented justification in accordance with criteria to be developed under regulations.

(iii) United States jurisdictions that meet the requirement for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program shall be recognized as qualified jurisdictions.

(iv) If a certified reinsurer's domiciliary jurisdiction ceases to be a qualified jurisdiction, the Commissioner has the discretion to suspend the reinsurer's certification indefinitely, in lieu of revocation.

(D) The Commissioner shall assign a rating to each certified reinsurer, giving due consideration to the financial strength ratings that have been assigned by rating agencies deemed acceptable to the Commissioner pursuant to regulation. The Commissioner shall publish a list of all certified reinsurers and their ratings.

(E) A certified reinsurer shall secure obligations assumed from United States ceding insurers under this subparagraph at a level consistent with its rating, as specified in regulations promulgated by the Commissioner.

(i) In order for a domestic ceding insurer to qualify for full financial statement credit for reinsurance ceded to a certified reinsurer, the certified reinsurer shall maintain security in a form acceptable to the Commissioner and consistent with the provisions of subsection (b) of this Code section, or in a multibeneficiary trust in accordance with paragraph (4) of this subsection, except as otherwise provided in this paragraph.

(ii) If a certified reinsurer maintains a trust to fully secure its obligations subject to paragraph (4) of this subsection, and chooses to secure its obligations incurred as a certified reinsurer in the form of a multibeneficiary trust, the certified reinsurer shall maintain separate trust accounts for its obligations incurred under reinsurance agreements issued or renewed as a certified reinsurer with reduced security as permitted by this subsection or comparable laws of other United States jurisdictions and for its obligations subject to paragraph (4) of this subsection. It shall be a condition to the grant of certification under this paragraph that the certified reinsurer shall have bound itself, by the language of the trust and agreement with the commissioner with principal regulatory oversight of each such trust account, to fund, upon termination of any such trust account, out of the remaining surplus of such trust any deficiency of any other such trust account.

(iii) The minimum trustee surplus requirements provided in paragraph (4) of this subsection are not applicable with respect to a multibeneficiary trust maintained by a certified reinsurer for the purpose of securing obligations incurred under this subsection, except that such trust shall maintain a minimum trustee surplus of $10 million.

(iv) With respect to obligations incurred by a certified reinsurer under this subparagraph, if the security is insufficient, the Commissioner shall reduce the allowable credit by an amount proportionate to the deficiency, and shall have the discretion to impose further reductions in allowable credit upon finding that there is a material risk that the certified reinsurer's obligations will not be paid in full when due.

(v) For purposes of this subparagraph, a certified reinsurer whose certification has been terminated for any reason shall be treated as a certified reinsurer required to secure 100 percent of its obligations:

(I) As used in this subparagraph, the term 'terminated' refers to revocation, suspension, voluntary surrender, and inactive status.

(II) If the Commissioner continues to assign a higher rating as permitted by other provisions of this paragraph, this requirement shall not apply to a certified reinsurer in inactive status or to a reinsurer whose certification has been suspended.

(F) If an applicant for certification has been certified as a reinsurer in an NAIC accredited jurisdiction, the Commissioner shall have the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's certification, and shall have the discretion to defer to the rating assigned by that jurisdiction, and such assuming insurer shall be considered to be a certified reinsurer in this state.

(G) A certified reinsurer that ceases to assume new business in this state may request to maintain its certification in inactive status in order to continue to qualify for a reduction in security for its in-force business. An inactive certified reinsurer shall continue to comply with all applicable requirements of this paragraph, and the Commissioner shall assign a rating that takes into account, if relevant, the reasons why the reinsurer is not assuming new business;

(6) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of paragraph (1), (2), (3), (4) or (5) of this subsection, but only as to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where the reinsurance is required by applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction;

~~(6)~~(7) If the assuming insurer is not licensed, or accredited, or certified to transact insurance or reinsurance in this state, the credit permitted by paragraphs (3) and (4) of this subsection shall not be allowed unless the assuming insurer agrees in the reinsurance agreements:

(A) That, in the event of the failure of the assuming insurer to perform its obligations under the terms of the reinsurance agreement, the assuming insurer, at the request of the ceding insurer, shall submit to the jurisdiction of any court of competent jurisdiction in any state of the United States, ~~will~~ shall comply with all requirements necessary to give the court jurisdiction, and ~~will~~ shall abide by the final decision of ~~such~~ the court or of any appellate court in the event of an appeal; and

(B) To designate the Commissioner or a designated attorney as its true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served any lawful process in any action, suit, or proceeding instituted by or on behalf of the ceding ~~company~~ insurer.

This paragraph is not intended to conflict with or override the obligation of the parties to a reinsurance agreement to arbitrate their disputes, if this obligation is created in the agreement;

(8) If the assuming insurer does not meet the requirements of paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection, the credit permitted by paragraph (4) or (6) of this subsection shall not be allowed unless the assuming insurer agrees in the trust agreements to the following conditions:

(A) Notwithstanding any other provisions in the trust instrument, if the trust fund is inadequate because it contains an amount less than the amount required by subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (4) of this subsection, as applicable, or if the grantor of the trust has been declared insolvent or placed into receivership, rehabilitation, liquidation, or similar proceedings under the laws of its state or country of domicile, the trustee shall comply with an order of the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or with an order of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the trustee to transfer to the commissioner with regulatory oversight all of the assets of the trust fund;

(B) The assets shall be distributed by and claims shall be filed with and valued by the commissioner with regulatory oversight in accordance with the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled that are applicable to the liquidation of domestic insurance companies;

(C) If the commissioner with regulatory oversight determines that the assets of the trust fund or any part thereof are not necessary to satisfy the claims of the United States ceding insurers of the grantor of the trust, the assets or part thereof shall be returned by the commissioner with regulatory oversight to the trustee for distribution in accordance with the trust agreement; and

(D) The grantor shall waive any right otherwise available to it under United States law that is inconsistent with this provision.

(9) If an accredited or certified reinsurer ceases to meet the requirements for accreditation or certification, the Commissioner may suspend or revoke the reinsurer's accreditation or certification.

(A) The Commissioner shall give the reinsurer notice and opportunity for hearing. The suspension or revocation shall not take effect until after the Commissioner's order on hearing, unless:

(i) The reinsurer waives its right to hearing;

(ii) The Commissioner's order is based on regulatory action by the reinsurer's domiciliary jurisdiction or the voluntary surrender or termination of the reinsurer's eligibility to transact insurance or reinsurance business in its domiciliary jurisdiction or in the primary certifying state of the reinsurer under subparagraph (F) of paragraph (5) of this subsection; or

(iii) The Commissioner finds that an emergency requires immediate action and a court of competent jurisdiction has not stayed the Commissioner's action.

(B) While a reinsurer's accreditation or certification is suspended, no reinsurance contract issued or renewed after the effective date of the suspension qualifies for credit except to the extent that the reinsurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with subsection (b) of this Code section. If a reinsurer's accreditation or certification is revoked, no credit for reinsurance may be granted after the effective date of the revocation except to the extent that the reinsurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with subparagraph (E) of paragraph (5) of this subsection or subsection (b) of this Code section.

(10) Concentration Risk:

(A) A ceding insurer shall take steps to manage its reinsurance recoverable proportionate to its own book of business. A domestic ceding insurer shall notify the Commissioner within 30 days after reinsurance recoverables from any single assuming insurers, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, exceeds 50 percent of the domestic ceding insurer's last reported surplus to policyholders, or after it is determined that reinsurance recoverables from any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, is likely to exceed this limit. The notification shall demonstrate that the exposure is safely managed by the domestic ceding insurer.

(B) A ceding insurer shall take steps to diversify its reinsurance program. A domestic ceding insurer shall notify the Commissioner within 30 days after ceding to any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, more than 20 percent of the ceding insurer's gross written premium in the prior calendar year, or after it has determined that the reinsurance ceded to any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, is likely to exceed this limit. The notification shall demonstrate that the exposure is safely managed by the domestic ceding insurer.

(b) A An asset or a reduction from liability for the reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of subsection (a) of this Code section shall be allowed in an amount not exceeding the liabilities carried by the ceding insurer and such reduction shall be in the amount of funds held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, including funds held in trust for the ceding insurer, under a reinsurance contract with such assuming insurer as security for the payment of obligations thereunder, if such security is held in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by, and under the exclusive control of, the ceding insurer; or, in the case of a trust, held in a qualified United States financial institution, as defined in paragraph (2) of subsection (c) of this Code section. This security may be in the form of:

(1) Cash;

(2) Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, including those deemed exempt from filing as defined by the Purposes and Procedures Manual of the Securities Validation Office, and qualifying as admitted assets;

(3) Clean, irrevocable, unconditional letters of credit, issued or confirmed by a qualified United States institution, as defined in paragraph (1) of subsection (c) of this Code section, no later than December 31 of the year for which filing is being made, and in the possession of, or in the trust for, the ceding ~~company~~ insurer on or before the filing date of its annual statement. Letters of credit meeting applicable standards of issuer acceptability as of the dates of their issuance or confirmation shall, notwithstanding the issuing or confirming institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability, continue to be acceptable as security until their expiration, extension, renewal, modification, or amendment, whichever first occurs; or

(4) Any other form of security acceptable to the Commissioner.

(c)(1) For purposes of paragraph (3) of subsection (b) of this Code section, 'qualified United States financial institution' means an institution that:

(A) Is organized or, in the case of a United States office of a foreign banking organization, licensed under the laws of the United States or any state thereof;

(B) Is regulated, supervised, and examined by the United States federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies; and

(C) Has been determined by either the Commissioner or the Securities Valuation Office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners to meet such standards of financial condition and standing as are considered necessary and appropriate to regulate the quality of financial institutions whose letters of credit will be acceptable to the Commissioner.

(2) A 'qualified United States financial institution' means, for the purposes of those provisions of this Code section specifying those institutions that are eligible to act as a fiduciary of a trust, an institution that:

(A) Is organized or, in the case of a United States branch or agency office of a foreign banking organization, licensed under the laws of the United States or any state thereof and has been granted authority to operate with fiduciary powers; and

(B) Is regulated, supervised, and examined by federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies."

The Honorable Tim Golden
State Senator

SUBJECT: State Auditor's Certification
Senate Bill 402 (LC 21 1594)

Dear Senator Golden:

This bill would amend provisions relating to the Public Retirement Systems Investment Authority Law. Specifically, this bill would define the term 'alternative investments' and would allow 'eligible large retirement systems' to make such alternative investments. This bill would also provide limits regarding the amount of assets that may be invested in alternative investments. Under the provisions of this bill, alternative investments, in the aggregate, may not exceed 5% of the retirement system assets at any time. In the event a system is out of compliance with the limitations, this bill provides provisions for the system to come back into compliance. This bill would also provide for confidentiality of certain documents that are used in determining which alternative investments to hold, and would provide that all funds invested pursuant to this legislation, including any return on such investments, must remain funds of the retirement system. Finally, this bill would require large retirement systems to provide an annual report to the chairpersons of the House and Senate Retirement Committees detailing the performance of investments made pursuant to the provisions of this bill. It should be noted that this legislation excludes the Teachers Retirement System from participating in such investment practices.

This is to certify that this bill is a nonfiscal bill as defined in the Public Retirement Systems Standards Law.

Respectfully,

/s/ Russell W. Hinton
State Auditor

The Senate Retirement Committee offered the following substitute to SB 402:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Article 7 of Chapter 20 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, the "Public Retirement Systems Investment Authority Law," so as to provide a short title; to define certain terms and limitations relating to certain types of investments; to provide that the provisions of this Act shall be applicable only to certain retirement systems and certain other large retirement systems; to provide that the Teachers Retirement System of Georgia (T.R.S.) shall be exempt from the provisions of this Act; to provide that certain public retirement systems other than the Teachers Retirement System of Georgia may invest retirement system assets in certain types of alternative investments, private placements, and other private investments; to provide that such investments may be made up to a certain amount; to shield information related to such investment from public scrutiny; to provide that the director of certain retirement systems shall provide an annual report to the Governor and the chairperson of the Senate and House of Representatives standing committees on retirement; to provide for the contents of such report; to provide for a code of ethics; to amend Code Section 50-18-72 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to when public disclosure of records is not required and disclosure exempting legal authority, so as to exempt certain public records from public inspection; to repeal conflicting laws; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the "Employees' Retirement System of Georgia Enhanced Investment Authority Act."

SECTION 2.

Article 7 of Chapter 20 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, the "Public Retirement Systems Investment Authority Law," is amended by revising subsection (c) of Code Section 47-20-82, relating to investing funds, eligibility, and investment limitations, as follows:

SECTION 3.

Said article is further amended by adding a new Code section to read as follows:

(c) An alternative investment shall not exceed in any case 20 percent of the aggregate amount of:

(1) The capital to be invested in the applicable private pool, including all parallel pools and other related investment vehicles established as part of the investment program of the applicable private pool; and

(2) The securities being issued in the applicable private placement, in each case determined at the time such alternative investment is initially either made or committed to be made, as applicable, but taking into consideration any investments that have previously been or are concurrently being made or committed to be made.

Each alternative investment by an eligible large retirement system shall have previously been or shall be concurrently made or committed to be made by at least four other investors not affiliated with the issuer. Such four other investors shall be investing on substantially the same terms and conditions as those applicable to the investment by the eligible large retirement system to the extent such other investors are similarly situated with the eligible large retirement system. Alternative investments shall only be made in private pools and issuers that have at least $100 million in assets, including committed capital, at the time the investment is initially made or committed to be made by an eligible large retirement system.

(d) Alternative investments by an eligible large retirement system shall not in the aggregate exceed 5 percent of the eligible large retirement system assets at any time. The board of trustees of an eligible large retirement system shall have the discretion to designate whether any investment that is permitted to be made as an alternative investment pursuant to this Code section and that is also permitted to be made as an investment pursuant to Code Section 47-20-83 shall be treated for purposes of the 5 percent limitation and otherwise as an alternative investment made pursuant to this Code section or as an investment made pursuant to Code Section 47-20-83. If the eligible large retirement system is not in compliance with the limitations imposed by this subsection, it shall make a good faith effort to come into compliance within two years and in any event as soon as practicable thereafter; provided, however, that during any period of noncompliance, the eligible large retirement system shall not increase the percentage of its assets committed to be invested in alternative investments but shall be permitted during such period to continue to make investments as required by the then existing commitments of the eligible large retirement system to alternative investments made before the period of noncompliance.

(e) The provisions of this subsection shall apply only to the Employees' Retirement System of Georgia. New commitments to alternative investments shall not in the aggregate exceed 1 percent of the retirement system assets in any calendar year until the first occurrence that 4 1/2 percent of the retirement system assets are invested in alternative investments, at which time there shall be no limit on the percentage of commitments that may be made in any calendar year, subject to compliance with the other provisions of this Code section.

(f)(1) For purposes of this subsection, the term 'information' shall include, without limitation, preinvestment and postinvestment diligence information, including reviews and analyses prepared or provided by the issuer of a potential or actual alternative investment or prepared by or for an eligible large retirement system or otherwise relating to a potential or actual alternative investment.

(2) In addition to those records that are exempted from being open to inspection by the general public under Code Section 47-1-14 and except as otherwise provided in this subsection, an eligible large retirement system may in its discretion treat as confidential and withhold from public inspection and disclosure all information prepared or provided by the issuer of a potential or actual alternative investment or prepared by or for an eligible large retirement system or otherwise relating to a potential or actual alternative investment and held by an eligible large retirement system and may agree in making an alternative investment to treat such information as confidential and withhold it from public inspection and disclosure.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection, any public retirement system created by this title, other than by Chapter 5 of this title, shall make publicly available the following information, but only to the extent the following information is otherwise available or maintained by said retirement system in the normal course and only after a period of one year from the date such records were created:

(A) The name of any alternative investment in which the retirement system has invested; excluding, in the case of an alternative investment in a privately placed investment pool, any information concerning the investments made by such privately placed investment pool;

(B) The date the retirement system first invested in an alternative investment;

(C) The aggregate amount of money, expressed in dollars, the retirement system has invested in alternative investments as of the end of any fiscal quarter;

(D) The aggregate amount of money and the value of any in kind or other distribution, in each case, expressed in dollars, the retirement system received from alternative investments;

(E) The internal rate of return or the result under any other such standard used by the retirement system in connection with alternative investments for the asset class and for the period for which the return or standard was calculated; and

(F) The remaining cost of alternative investments in which the retirement system has invested as of the end of any fiscal quarter.

(4) The provisions of this Code section shall not restrict access to information and records under process of law or by officers otherwise entitled to them for official purposes, but such information and records shall have the same confidential status under process or with such officers as it does in the hands of an eligible large retirement system, and such officers shall respect such confidentiality to the extent consistent with their separate powers and duties.

(5) On the third Monday in January of each year, the director of any public retirement system created by this title, other than by Chapter 5 of this title, shall provide a report to the Governor and the chairpersons of the House and Senate standing committees on retirement detailing the performance of any investments made pursuant to this Code section, including, without limitation, a clear statement of the aggregate loss or profit on such investments for the preceding year. This paragraph shall not be construed so as to require the disclosure of any information otherwise protected by this subsection.

(g) Unless the information has been publicly released, preinvestment and postinvestment diligence information, including reviews and analyses, prepared or maintained by the eligible large retirement system or by an alternative investment firm shall be confidential and exempted from being open to inspection by the general public pursuant to Article 4 of Chapter 18 of Title 50, except to the extent it is subject to disclosure from the requirements of subsection (f) of this Code section.

(h) The respective boards of trustees of eligible large retirement systems making investments authorized by this Code section shall adopt a code of ethics for the consideration of and investment in and disposition of alternative investments.

(i) Funds invested pursuant to this Code section and any return on such investment shall remain funds of the retirement system."

SECTION 4.

Code Section 50-18-72 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to when public disclosure of records is not required and disclosure of exempting legal authority, is amended in subsection (a) by striking "or" at the end of paragraph (22), by replacing the period with "; or" at the end of paragraph (23), and by adding a new paragraph to read as follows:

"(24) Records that are expressly exempt from public inspection pursuant to Code Section 47-20-87."

SECTION 5.

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

SUBJECT: State Auditor's Certification
Substitute to Senate Bill 402
(LC 21 1671S)

Dear Senator Golden:

This substitute bill would amend provisions relating to the Public Retirement Systems Investment Authority Law. Specifically, this bill would define the term 'alternative investments' and would allow 'eligible large retirement systems' to make such alternative investments. This bill would also provide limits regarding the amount of assets that may be invested in alternative investments. Under the provisions of this bill, alternative investments, in the aggregate, may not exceed 5% of the retirement system assets at any time. In the event a system is out of compliance with the limitations, this bill provides provisions for the system to come back into compliance. This bill would also provide for confidentiality of certain documents that are used in determining which alternative investments to hold, and would provide that all funds invested pursuant to this legislation, including any return on such investments, must remain funds of the retirement system. Furthermore, this substitute bill would require large retirement systems to provide an annual report to the chairpersons of the House and Senate Retirement Committees detailing the performance of investments made pursuant to the provisions of this bill. It should be noted that this legislation excludes the Teachers Retirement System from participating in such investment practices.

This substitute bill would also clarify how the term 'aggregate historical cost' is defined for purposes of any investment made in alternative investments pursuant to O.C.G.A §47-7-127 and for any investment made in alternative investments by retirement systems affected by this legislation. If this legislation is enacted, 'aggregate historical cost' shall include all contractually committed, unpaid amounts.

This is to certify that this substitute bill is a nonfiscal bill as defined in the Public Retirement Systems Standards Law.

Respectfully,

/s/ Russell W. Hinton
State Auditor
