Dear Speaker Ralston:

I have vetoed House Bills 181, 456, 911, 975, 1051 and 1117 which passed the General Assembly during the 2012 Regular Session.

Article III, Section V, Paragraph XIII of the Georgia Constitution requires that I transmit these bills to you together with the reasons for such vetoes. These bills and corresponding reasons for the vetoes are attached.

Sincerely,

/s/ Nathan Deal

Veto Number 1

SB 38 – Authority of the State School Superintendent

Georgia's K-12 education system has a unique governing structure with a statewide-elected state school superintendent and a governor-appointed state Board of Education composed of representatives from each congressional district. Current law provides a number of checks and balances between the superintendent and the board. Those checks and balances were put in place during a time in our state history when the superintendent was making detrimental decisions for students. Prior to these changes, the state board was powerless to intervene. While HB 706, which also passed this session, restores many of these powers to the state school superintendent, to this day, unlike a typical CEO and board relationship, the state Board of Education does not have the power to remove the superintendent in the event of malfeasance or mismanagement. In light of this, I believe it is important to keep some of the current checks and balances. Therefore, I VETO SB 38.

Veto Number 2

SB 470 – Georgia Patient Self Referral

Senate Bill 470 attempts to address concerns around Georgia's Patient Self-Referral law, which prohibits health care providers from referring patients for the provision of designated health services to an entity in which the health care provider has an investment interest. The Georgia Patient Self Referral Act of 1993, as well as the Stark Law on the federal level, provides exemptions for rural areas because of the lack of access to adequate healthcare. On close review, this legislation would expand the definition of "rural area" to include "a county in which a military junior college is located, and area which is not an urban area." This expansion would only apply to one county, Baldwin. The Georgia Patient Self Referral Act of 1993 was passed in response to the potential for abuse that is present when physicians are able to self-refer patients. I am vetoing this legislation because I believe SB 470 provides an unfair advantage to one county over other similarly populated counties around the state. I also find that this legislation would open the door for more counties to seek out the "rural" exemption in years to come. Accordingly, I VETO SB 470.

Veto Number 3

HB 181 – Changes to the Special Needs Scholarship

Georgia's existing Special Needs Scholarship helps all students, regardless of their physical or mental circumstances, achieve academic success. I support the main effort of this bill, which sought to better inform parents and codify the enrollment and payment dates for the scholarship, and much of this may still be accomplished via a state Board of Education rule change. However, an amendment that was added to HB 181 would have significantly reduced the scholarship award special needs students receive. This drastic cut would likely reduce the number of students who would be able to take advantage of this scholarship, as the award amount would no longer offset the cost of tuition at a school that would better serve these students' needs. Therefore, I VETO HB 181.

Veto Number 4

HB 456 – Legislative Sunset Review Committee

This bill establishes a new Legislative Sunset Advisory Committee of 14 members that is authorized to review and evaluate every state entity of the executive branch with the purpose of determining which state agencies and entities should be abolished. Implementing HB 456 is estimated to cost between $3 and $7 million. Growing state government with a new committee and statutory authority to review state agencies and the related expenses is not an effective use of state resources. Currently, the General Assembly reviews and evaluates state agencies using the staff in Senate Budget and Evaluation Office, the House Budget and Research Office, and the Senate and House Appropriations committees. Additionally the Department of Audits Performance Audits Division conducts evaluations of state-funded programs and activities to improve state operations. The programs and agencies investigated by the Performance Audit Division are based on the recommendations of legislators and legislative committees. Final performance audits reports and special examinations are published on the Department of Audits website. I have signed SB 33, a bill requiring that all state programs and agencies be reviewed over the next eight to 10 years using Zero Based Budgeting. The ZBB review process is the most cost-effective and efficient way to accomplish the goal of reviewing agency expenditures, evaluating performance and ensuring that we are focused on delivering essential services. Through the budget and legislative process this session alone we have eliminated councils, committees (SB 407) and one state agency (HB 642). The first year of ZBB reviews resulted in elimination of the State Personnel Administration, agency consolidations and realignments, over $9 million in savings, required no additional staff, was a collaborative process with agencies and the House and Senate budget offices and utilized the existing legislative process and House and Senate Appropriations Committees to make the final determinations on the ZBB recommendations. The FY 2013 ZBB Report is available at www.opb.georgia.gov. The intent and desired outcomes of HB 456 are and will be achieved through SB 33 and ZBB review. No additional overhead is needed because legislative authority, committees, and staff to review state agencies and operations are already established in law and the General Assembly did not include funding to implement this legislation. Therefore, I VETO HB 456.

Veto Number 5

HB 911 – Putnam County; change compensation for certain officials

House Bill 911 contains specific language providing additional compensation for the sheriff of Putnam County and various officials of the Putnam County State Court. I am vetoing this legislation because of the lack of justification provided for such increases in compensation for these officials. Accordingly, I VETO HB 911.

Veto Number 6

HB 1051 – Public transit authorities

House Bill 1051 was the companion to House Bill 1052, which failed to pass. HB 1051 would have become effective only if HB 1052 were enacted. Since the mechanism to make HB 1051 effective does not exist, and at the request of the author, I VETO HB 1051.

Veto Number 7

HB 1117 – Bond Debt Elections and Hospital Authority Deposits

The original language of HB 1117 would maintain Fulton County as the only county in the state that is required to hold bond debt elections only on the date of the November general election. An amendment was added to HB 1117 that included an exemption of hospital authorities from OCGA 45-8-12 that requires that any bank or depository holding public funds guarantee the funds with a surety bond, FDIC insurance, or some other form of guarantee or collateral. This exemption would expose public funds to additional investment risk. Hospital Authorities are allowed to participate in the state investment pools which provide the possibility for a higher return on investment but maintain appropriate safeguards against losses. I recommend the author bring back the original legislation for consideration during the next session. This bill puts public funds at additional financial risk. Therefore, I VETO HB 1117.

Veto Number 8

HB 975 – Habersham County; relating to homestead exemption for school district ad valorem taxes

Both the sponsor of this legislation and the Habersham County Commission requested that I veto this legislation. Accordingly, I VETO HB 975.

HB 742–FY 2013 Appropriations BillIntent Language Considered Non-BindingSection 17, pertaining to the Department of Community Health, page 38, line 1175:

The General Assembly seeks to appropriate $50,000 for the Southeastern Firefighters' Burn Foundation, Inc. in the Health Care Access and Improvement program. The purpose of the Health Care Access and Improvement program is to improve health care access and outcomes in rural and underserved areas of Georgia. Some aspects of this initiative are outside the scope of the purpose of the Health Care Access and Improvement program. Therefore, the Department is authorized to operate the program in accordance with the purpose of the program and the general law powers of the Department.

Section 17, pertaining to the Department of Community Health, page 39, line 1219:

The General Assembly seeks to instruct the Department to implement a wastage policy to reimburse for cancer treatment single-dose vials administered in a physician's office. The funds provided are insufficient to implement this policy as of the effective date stated. Additionally, limiting the application of the reimbursement policy to cancer drugs may not be operationally feasible. Therefore, the Department is authorized to utilize the funds in accordance with the purpose of the program and the general law powers of the Department.

Section 17, pertaining to the Department of Community Health, page 41, line 1276:

The General Assembly seeks to instruct the Department to restore the bariatric surgery benefit in the State Health Benefit Plan, effective January 1, 2013. This language limits the Department's ability to effectively manage the State Health Benefit Plan and control expenses. Therefore, the Department is authorized to determine benefits covered under the State Health Benefit Plan pursuant to the direction of the Board of Community Health and in accordance with the purpose of the program and the general law powers of the Department.

Section 27, pertaining to the Department of Human Services, page 84, line 2627:

The General Assembly seeks to appropriate $50,000 for KidsPeace in the Out-of-Home Care program. This appropriation circumvents the Department's process for reimbursing vendors and creates a variance between vendors providing similar services. Therefore, the Department is authorized to utilize the funds in accordance with the purpose of the program and the general law powers of the Department.

Section 33, pertaining to the Department of Natural Resources, page 104, line 3262:

The General Assembly seeks to appropriate $150,000 for the Georgia Water Policy Center in southwest Georgia in the Environmental Protection program. Funding for water initiatives should be prioritized in consideration of statewide water needs rather than regionally focused. Therefore, the Department is authorized to utilize these funds for its highest priority needs and in accordance with the purpose of the program and the general law powers of the Department.

Section 40, pertaining to the University System of Georgia Board of Regents, page 126, line 3969:

The General Assembly seeks to appropriate $50,000 for industrial storm water solutions for Georgia's poultry industry in the Georgia Tech Research Institute program. The Georgia Tech Research Institute has sufficient funding to undertake this research without an additional appropriation. Therefore, the Department is authorized to undertake this research using agency generated funding in lieu of state appropriations.

Section 40, pertaining to the University System of Georgia Board of Regents, page 130, line 4075:

The General Assembly seeks to appropriate $25,000 for the Southern Legislative Conference's (SLC) Center for Advancement of Leadership Skills (CALs) program at Georgia State University in the Teaching program. The purpose of the Teaching program is to provide for direct student instruction or other initiatives supporting student learning. This initiative is outside the scope of the purpose of the Teaching program. Therefore, the Department is authorized to participate in the Southern Legislative Conference's Center for Advancement of Leadership Skills program using agency generated funding in lieu of state appropriations.

Section 48, pertaining to the Department of Transportation, page 154, line 4856:

The General Assembly seeks to appropriate $500,000 for airport aid grant funds for Airport Aid projects including Blairsville, Hampton, North Georgia Regional Airports, Americus, Bainbridge, Griffin, Rome, and Valdosta. Grant funding for airport projects should be awarded on a competitive basis that maximizes all available funds and is in accordance with statewide priorities for air transportation. Therefore, the Department is authorized to utilize the funds in accordance with the purpose of the program and the general law powers of the Department.

HB 742–FY 2013 Appropriations BillLine-Item Vetoes by the GovernorSection 51, pertaining to the State of Georgia General Obligation Debt Sinking Fund, page 167, line 5169:

This language authorizes the appropriation of $256,800 in debt service to finance projects and facilities for the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia, specifically for the renovation of the Rural Development Center at the University of Georgia Tifton campus, through the issuance of $3,000,000 in 20-year bonds. This project was not requested by the Board of Regents and was not identified as a priority in the Board of Regents capital plan. This project would create additional space in order to expand programming and enrollment at the Tifton campus. Projects impacting future enrollment in the University System should be vetted by the Board of Regents to ensure a strategic approach to enrollment growth at higher education institutions in Georgia. Therefore, I veto this language (page 167, line 5169) in the provisions relative to Section 51 State of Georgia General Obligation Debt Sinking Fund and the state general funds of $256,800.

Section 51, pertaining to the State of Georgia General Obligation Debt Sinking Fund, page 173, line 5225:

This language authorizes the appropriation of $133,476 in debt service to finance projects and facilities for the Department of Transportation, specifically for upgrades and maintenance at the Riceboro Southern Railway bridges and railroad grade crossing signal crossbucks on the Georgia Southwestern Railroad and Chattooga and Chickamauga Railway, through the issuance of $1,470,000 in 20-year bonds. The Department has sufficient funding within existing authorized general obligation debt to provide for additional rail improvement projects. Funding for these rail projects should be considered in conjunction with other state rail needs, and projects should be selected by the Department based on the state's highest priority needs. Therefore, I veto this language (page 173, line 5225) in the provisions relative to Section 51 State of Georgia General Obligation Debt Sinking Fund and the state general funds of $133,476.

HR 8 authorizing the Joint Session of the Senate and House was read by the Clerk of the House.

His Excellency, Governor Nathan Deal, addressed the Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives as follows:

Lt. Governor Cagle, Speaker Ralston, President Pro Tem Shafer, Speaker Pro Tem Jones, Members of the General Assembly, Members of the Judiciary, my fellow Georgians:

To the Members of the General Assembly, congratulations on your election. To the new members of the House and Senate, welcome! You are now part of one of the greatest and most successful experiments in the history of mankind, the process of self-governance, whereby free people entrust to us the responsibility of preserving their freedoms.

We do so if we confine our actions to those things which our constituents cannot do for themselves. Our constitution defines some of the things we shall do, as well as some of the things we shall not do. Between those goal posts of shall and shall not lies the field on which we play. It is not a Field of Dreams but a Field of Law. Like spectators in the stands of a great stadium, a cacophony of voices will tell you what play to run and agree or disagree with your performance. Just remember, we are all on the same team with you, and we share a common purpose of making Georgia the best place to work, play, get an education and raise a family.

Last year, I told you that I had a goal: To fulfill the truest purposes of government – the ones for which Georgians need their government most – “and then get out of the way so that they can live their lives in freedom and as they see fit.”

So far, I believe we have done that well. We have made communities safer, improved educational opportunities, provided for infrastructure improvements, driven workforce development, generated a better business environment and created jobs. Together, we have implemented innovative tax reform that incentivizes business growth, passed smart-on-crime criminal justice reform and saved HOPE.

This year, I challenge you to join me as we go forward with a focus on progress. While times have been tough and we have had to make difficult choices, I will not lead our state with a Domsday mindset, reacting erratically and hastily based on fear or ignorance. Instead, we will move forward with confidence, focusing on the proven foundations of a growing Georgia, those that keep us steady during times of uncertainty but also during times of prosperity; foremost among these are public safety, education, healthcare and economic development.

Just as Georgia is too big and too important to fall prey to Domsayers’ pessimism, it is also too big and too important to be divided by race, geography or ideology. This year, let’s concentrate on the things on which we can all agree: The foundations that improve the lives of our citizens and undergird the bright horizons of tomorrow.

In the first foundation, Public Safety, let’s capitalize on the success that we have already had in criminal justice reform, in which, last year, we crafted legislation that saves both lives and taxpayer dollars. Through increased use of accountability courts – drug, DUI, mental health and veteran courts – along with other measures, this state will avoid the need to add 5,000 prison beds over five years and save taxpayers at least $264 million; these measures simultaneously decrease the number of offenders who end up back in jail after being released – and create productive, taxpaying citizens rather than more dangerous criminals. And we have continued funding for accountability courts by allocating $11.6 million toward that purpose in my budget proposal.

This year we will continue our work by bringing legislation designed to produce better results with juvenile offenders and divert them from the adult system. I want to thank the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform for Georgians for their hard work over the past two years. I urge your strong consideration of their recommendations for the Juvenile Justice system. Similar to last year, we would emphasize community-based, non-confinement correctional methods for low-risk offenders as an alternative to regional and state youth centers. To get started, I will be requesting $5 million in the FY 2014 budget to create an incentive funding program that encourages communities to create and utilize these community-based options. These options range from substance abuse treatment to family counseling and provide judges with viable, alternative sentencing options. Just as with last year, we stand to lower recidivism and save taxpayer dollars. For example, are you aware that the cost of each bed in a Youth Detention Center is in excess of $91,000 each year? It is certainly an area where less costly options must be used. Together, we can continue to improve our state's justice systems while keeping our citizens safe by reserving our prison beds for violent offenders.

This year provides another opportunity to bolster public safety.

This past summer, Georgia witnessed several tragic accidents on our waterways.

We know alcohol is involved in over 50 percent of all boating fatalities each year. On Georgia's roads, if the operator of a vehicle has a Blood Alcohol content of .08 or higher, he can be charged with Driving Under the Influence. However, you cannot be charged with Boating Under the Influence unless your Blood Alcohol level is .10 or higher. The Jake and Griffin Prince BUI Law that I am proposing will change that. If you are too drunk to drive an automobile, you are too drunk to drive a boat!

I will also propose, through the Kile Glover Boat Education Law, that you place age limits and educational requirements on young operators of boats and personal watercraft and that children who are 13 or younger must wear life jackets when riding in an open boat that is moving.

Another foundation block for growing a more prosperous Georgia is education. Since we are talking about foundations, let's talk about our earliest learners, who build upon what they learn today for the rest of their lives. We have an outstanding pre-K program that has been nationally recognized. This past year, the National Institute for Early Education Research awarded Georgia its first 10 out of 10 in measures of quality; we were one of only five states to receive such a designation.

In the budget for FY 2014, I have added 10 days to the pre-K school year, thereby restoring it to a full 180 days and increasing the salaries of deserving teachers.

Last year, we focused on literacy by designating $1.6M to establish a reading mentor's program that was designed to grow the percentage of Georgia's children who are reading on grade level by the third grade. Early indicators are proving it a good investment. We must not let our children fall behind, for that is a path toward remediation and delayed success. As such, I have included $1.6 million in this year's budget to continue the reading mentor program.

While most state agencies have seen their budgets for the remainder of this fiscal year and for the FY2014 reduced by an average of 3 percent, K-12 education was not subject to these reductions. In fact, the budget will give $156M in additional funding for enrollment growth in K-12 schools in FY2013. For next year, there will be $147 million for enrollment growth and salary increases for teachers based on training and experience. There is also an additional $41 million to fully fund the revised Equalization formulas adopted last year.

We must continue to make K-12 education a top priority, because Georgia recently ranked 45th out of the 47 states that reported graduation rates under the cohort method. This is unacceptable! We can do better! We will do better!

The people of Georgia spoke loud and clear when they adopted the Constitutional Amendment on Charter Schools by an overwhelming margin. The message they sent was this – They are not satisfied with the status quo! And neither am I!

We have been funding public education under the Quality Basic Education legislation, QBE. This is a 1985 formula that does not meet the needs of a 21st century classroom. While adjustments have been made, as recently as last year, more needs to be done. As we finalize the pilot projects and reforms being produced by our Race To The Top initiative, I look forward to modernizing the way we spend tax payer dollars so that we can produce more positive results in our public schools. Public distrust emanates from poor graduation rates, excessive remediation expenses and substandard test scores. Dedicated educators deserve to have this stigma removed. If we don't do that, we will discourage the bright college students who want to be teachers from choosing that profession. We cannot afford that loss!

Georgia has had too many school boards placed under the sanctions of potential loss of accreditation. While this is a very serious matter, it is somewhat ironic that the loss of accreditation can only be based on governance issues and not on substandard academic progress of the school system. Unless this is addressed by state legislation, we will continue to have thousands of Georgia's children trapped in underperforming schools through no fault of their own. I look forward to working with you to solve this problem. In education, as in most areas of life, poor outcomes are most often not the result of lack of money, but lack of vision and leadership.

One of the primary reasons for getting an education is to get a job. To the parents of children who contemplate dropping out of school, you should remind them that they are condemning themselves to the lowest rung on the employment ladder, and you should prepare them to continue to live at home because the jobs that will be available to them will be few indeed.

Since employment is a primary goal of education, I want to commend the Chancellor of our University System and the Commissioner of our Technical College System for evaluating and refocusing their programs of study to give priority to those educational paths that have a proven record of employability. It is a tragedy when a young person works hard, accumulates debt for student loans and then graduates with a diploma in a field where there are no jobs.

My budget proposes to focus more funds within our HOPE Grant Program toward occupations where we know jobs are available and shortages actually exist. Currently, there are several thousand jobs available for individuals with a commercial driver's license. There are similar shortages in the areas of nursing and early childhood education. In order to fill these vacancies we suggest directing additional funds within our Technical College HOPE Grants so that over 90 percent of the tuition costs in these programs will be provided. That's Putting Your Money Where The Jobs Are!

Two years ago, we worked together to save our HOPE Scholarship program. As a result, it remains one of the most generous state run scholarship programs in the nation. It is also keeping our best and brightest students in Georgia. In FY2011, more than 97 percent of entering in-state freshman at both the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech received the Hope Scholarship.

Today, I am happy to say that my budget will increase the Hope Scholarship by 3 percent over last year, bringing the total funds going to Hope in FY 2014 to nearly $600 million.

This is quite a contrast to the proposed bankruptcy of HOPE that was projected to occur this year. That's why I say, together, we saved HOPE!

Also, in keeping with our emphasis on results based funding, I would like to thank the Higher Education Funding Commission for its hard work over the past year to provide us with a solid recommendation that will be the starting point for change from enrollment-based funding to outcomes-based funding in our university and technical colleges. I encourage you to join me in fully considering their recommendations.

Another foundation block for a growing and prosperous Georgia is healthcare.

I want to thank the Commissioner of Agriculture and the Commissioner of the Department of Public Health for their efforts to keep our citizens healthy and thereby minimize the need for expensive healthcare. Commissioner Black has launched the Georgia Grown program in which he is promoting agricultural products grown in our state. He is working with local farmers and school dieticians to increase the consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables by our school children. Commissioner Fitzgerald is one of the individuals leading the Georgia SHAPE program, which is educating and encouraging children regarding the importance of exercise. Both of these efforts will keep young people healthier and will reduce the scourge of obesity that abounds in our state.

As a result of a downturned economy and the provisions of federal legislation known as Obamacare, we are seeing a growth in our Medicaid rolls. As you know, I have elected not to expand our eligibility limits for Medicaid. At the State Chamber of Commerce Eggs and Issues Breakfast yesterday, I elaborated upon the reasons for that decision. I did not judge it prudent to expand the eligible population of an entitlement program by adding an additional 620,000 new enrollees since our state is already spending approximately $2.5 billion in state taxpayer funds annually.

Even without expanding the eligible population base, we expect our Medicaid rolls to grow by an additional 100,000 individuals. This new population of Medicaid recipients, along with other mandates of Obamacare such as the extension of the time between the review of eligibility, will raise our Medicaid costs by nearly $1.7 billion over the next 10 years.

For FY 2014, I am requesting that you authorize the Board of Community Health to apply a provider fee for hospitals, just as they currently do for nursing homes. Unless this is done, there will be a shortfall in revenue to support the Medicaid program of nearly $700M. Since we cannot adjust benefits, the reduction in reimbursements to hospitals would be the only way to keep the program solvent. Those reductions would be approximately 20 percent, which would seriously jeopardize many of our state's hospitals. Therefore, I urge your favorable consideration of this legislation.

Last year, we appropriated $1.2M to expand residency programs for doctors in our state. I want to thank Dr. Ricardo Azziz, the President of Georgia Regents University Augusta, for leading this effort and the participating hospitals for making it possible for us to develop 400 new residency slots. We believe this is one of the best ways to retain medical doctors in our state. And the FY 2014 budget includes $2M in additional funds to further increase the number of health professionals practicing in the state.

The last foundation block for a prosperous Georgia that I will address today is economic development. For the last 2 years during this State of the State Address you have heard me say, "The state of our state is strong." That statement is no less true today than it was for each of the two preceding years. In fact, it may be more true now when you consider employment numbers, increased job opportunities, revenue growth and the expanding prestige of our state in the international marketplace.

We currently have the lowest unemployment rate we have experienced in nearly 4 years. It is still too high. That is why we must insist that every young person get a high school diploma; otherwise, they become the fuel that stokes the fires of the unemployment furnace.

We are continuing to see promising job growth and many of these jobs are paying substantially above the average wage in our state. Since I stood before you last year at this address, we have announced more than 10,000 jobs, and many of these are on the high end of the employment scale. More and more businesses are deciding to make Georgia their home. Some of the reasons for these decisions are government policies of low taxes and reasonable regulations. Together, we are showing the world that we are running state government the way it should be: in an efficient, common sense and businesslike manner. And clearly businesses are taking note of this!

We have spent taxpayer dollars wisely. Using 2012 dollars, our per capita spending of government money is 17 percent less that it was a decade ago. And we currently have more than 9,000 fewer state employees than we had five years ago.

We have saved taxpayer dollars. The Revenue Shortfall Reserve, better known as the Rainy Day Fund, has been increased by 226 percent since I became Governor.

We have reduced the burden on Georgia taxpayers. The Tax Foundation in an article published last month confirms that our state has decreased its state tax collections per capita over the last decade the most of any state in the nation, “collecting 25 percent less in real dollars than it did ten years earlier.” And last year, with tax reform, you lowered that burden again by increasing the deduction for married couples filing a joint return, bringing the total deduction to $7,400, thus virtually abolishing the so-called “marriage tax penalty.”

There is good reason to believe our job base will continue to grow. Employers like to locate in a state that operates its own affairs in a businesslike manner. But it is not only businesses that pay attention to the fact that we have downsized state government and kept our budget balanced while not raising but actually lowering taxes. Others are watching our state operations, as well, like the three major bond rating agencies that have once again awarded a Triple A rating to Georgia. This comes at a time when some states and the federal government have experienced a downgrade in their ratings. This saves us taxpayer money by reducing the interest rate on our state bonds.

The goal I have set for us is to make Georgia the No. 1 place in the country in which to do business. With Commissioner Cummiskey and his superb team at the Department of Economic Development, we are well on our way to achieving our goal. For two years in a row, we have ranked in the top five for business climate by Site Selection Magazine, and we ranked No. 3 for doing business in 2012 by Area Development Magazine.

Our state is blessed to have the busiest airport in the world in Atlanta’s Hartsfield-Jackson airport. This provides us with rapid access to and from about 80 percent of the U.S. population within two hours. It is also one of the reasons certain businesses are coming to our state.

Another asset is the Port of Savannah, the fourth largest container port in the country and the second largest on the East Coast. As you know, we have worked for many years to expand the Savannah Harbor and deepen the channel in order to allow the larger vessels that will soon be coming through the Panama Canal to dock in our state. We are very pleased that last fall we succeeded in getting a positive Record of Decision from the federal government. This is a major milestone on this project.

My budget includes an additional $50 million in the bond package for this project. This will bring our total state contribution to $231 million. That is almost the state's entire contemplated share of the costs of this project; the remainder of the cost is to be paid by the federal government. While that is a sizable amount of money we expect the benefits to be $5.50 for every dollar spent—Not a bad return on investment!

I will conclude my remarks on a topic that does not require the recitation of statistics, but is one that is recognized in both the public and private domains as a cornerstone of success – that is ethics. We can build the strongest foundations of frugality, efficiency and competitiveness upon which our state government will rest; but if the citizens of Georgia don't trust us, it will all be in vain, for the vibrations of distrust will crack even the strongest foundations. There will always be those in the media and elsewhere who thrive on sowing the seeds of doubt and distrust and who will never recant their sinister innuendos and malicious accusations even when they are vanquished by Truth. And while you will never silence those voices of discord, nor should you try to do so, you can bolster the confidence of the public that might be tempted to listen to them by simply establishing clear rules under which you and those who deal with you in your capacity as elected officials must operate. If there is to be an expansion of the code of ethical conduct for members of the General Assembly, it should apply equally to all elected officials at the state and local levels.

We have laid our foundations for a strong and successful Georgia—public safety, education, healthcare, economic development and ethics. I look forward to working with each of you this session as we continue to grow Georgia in these most crucial areas. And together, we will run a state rather than its citizens' lives.

May God give you wisdom in your deliberations, and may he continue to bless this great state of Georgia.

IN THE MATTER OF SENATE BILL 24 AS SUBSTITUTED AND AMENDED-REFERRED TO AS THE “HOSPITAL MEDICAID FINANCING PROGRAM ACT”

REPORT OF THE MINORITY

Pursuant to Section 2-1.6(a) this report sets forth the reasons for the dissent of the Minority to SB 24 and its substitute and amendments.

HISTORY

In 2010, Georgia hospitals were faced with losing already tight Medicaid reimbursement. The state instituted a hospital provider tax, commonly known as the “hospital bed tax,” which is used to secure federal Medicaid dollars. The bed tax sunsets in 2013, and SB 24 has been introduced as a successor method of raising much needed revenue.

Senate Bill 24

SB 24 authorizes the Department of Community Health (DCH) to assess a tax on hospitals for the purpose of drawing down federal matching funds to pay for Medicaid patient visits. It is intended to follow the model of an existing Georgia health care mechanism for funding nursing homes. The bill tasks DCH with implementing a new bed tax to secure federal matching funds. There are several provisions for legislative oversight, but the bulk of the policy for the new tax will be left up to DCH. This bill has a sunset provision of June 30, 2017.

RATIONALE FOR DISSENT

Transparency

The most egregious problem with this legislation is the lack of transparency to the citizens of Georgia. Not only has this legislation been rushed through the legislative committee process (before the public had access to the bill and a chance to study the new proposal) it was rushed through the entire legislative process before the authors completed the writing. The original version of the bill was not made available to the public until well after the close of business on Monday, January 14, 2013 (approximately 9.p.m.) and a committee substitute offered the following day had significant changes. The bill, still not in its final form, required amendments in committee. After performing due diligence, it is clear that there are still significant oversights and drafting errors in the bill as reported by the committee.

Lack of Government Oversight

Delegation of the oversight for tax collection of this tax to the DCH consolidates too much power within the Executive Branch, ignoring the responsibilities of the state legislature. It removes accountability from the elected representatives of the people of this State and puts it into the hands of the Governor's appointees and state employees. The amendments to this legislation are not sufficient to address the legislative oversight by merely adding additional layers of bureaucracy.

Furthermore, this legislation does not create a fixed tax rate to limit the ability of hospitals, many of which are non-profits with limited budget flexibility, to anticipate their actual tax liability.

Most importantly, there is no guarantee that the state will not cut general fund disbursements to Medicaid and have the DCH further raise the bed tax, increasing the tax burden on sick Georgians.

Constitutionality

Pursuant to the Georgia Constitution, all bills for raising revenue, or appropriating money, shall originate in the House of Representatives. (See Ga. Constitution, Art., Sec 5, paragraph 2: Bill for Revenue") This legislation is a revenue bill that originates in the Senate and is therefore unconstitutional.

ACTION RECOMMENDED

This bill contains serious defects and should not be passed by the Senate in its current form.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED, this 17th day of January 17, 2013

/s/ Stephen B. Henson
Senator Steve Henson

The Senate Regulated Industries and Utilities Committee offered the following substitute to SB 24:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Chapter 8 of Title 31 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to care and protection of indigent and elderly patients, so as to enact the "Hospital Medicaid Financing Program Act"; to authorize the Department of Community Health to assess one or more provider payments on hospitals for the purpose of obtaining federal financial participation for Medicaid; to provide for definitions; to provide for rules and regulations; to provide for one or more segregated accounts within the Indigent Care Trust Fund; to provide for the use of funds; to provide for repeal unless reauthorized; to provide for related matters; to provide for effective dates; to repeal conflicting laws; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Chapter 8 of Title 31 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to care and protection of indigent and elderly patients, is amended by adding a new Article 6C to read as follows:

"ARTICLE 6C

Such term includes public, private, rehabilitative, geriatric, osteopathic, and other specialty hospitals but shall not include psychiatric hospitals which shall have the same meaning as facilities as defined in paragraph (7) of Code Section 37-3-1, critical access hospitals as defined in paragraph (3) of Code Section 33-21A-2, or any state owned or state operated hospitals.

Any provider payment assessed pursuant to this article shall not exceed the amount necessary to obtain federal financial participation allowable under Title XIX of the federal Social Security Act. The board shall be authorized to discontinue any provider payment assessed pursuant to this article. The board shall cease to impose any such provider payment if:

"ARTICLE 931-8-300.

The General Assembly finds and declares that Alzheimer's disease is a looming national public health crisis and impacts every state. It is important for Georgia to assess its ability to provide appropriate and necessary programs and services to Georgia's citizens living with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias, and determine where Georgia is, where Georgia is doing well, where gaps may exist, and where the private sector, public sector, nonprofit and faith-based communities' resources may be leveraged to ensure that Georgia grows to be fully dementia capable. The General Assembly further finds that access to quality health care for Alzheimer's and related dementias and the rising cost of such care are vitally important to the citizens of Georgia. Therefore, the General Assembly has determined that it is in the best interests of the state and its citizenry to address this issue.

Hunstein, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, was called to order by the Speaker of the House. HR 10 authorizing the Joint Session of the Senate and House was read by the Clerk of the House.

Honorable Carol W. Hunstein, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, addressed the Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives as follows:

Lt. Governor Cagle, Speaker Ralston, President Pro Tem Shafer, Speaker Pro Tem Jones, members of the General Assembly, my fellow judges, ladies and gentlemen:

Thank you once again for the opportunity to deliver to this distinguished body the State of the Judiciary Address. Your annual invitation to the Chief Justice to give a candid review of our goals, accomplishments and challenges ahead is a reflection of the honor and support you have extended to the judicial branch of government. On behalf of the judiciary, I thank you for your support.

I am privileged to stand among some of the finest judges this country has. And today, some of them are here. They include my friends and colleagues on the Supreme Court of Georgia --- Presiding Justice Hugh Thompson, Justices Robert Benham, Harold Melton, David Nahmias and our newly appointed Justice, the Honorable Keith Blackwell. Justice Harris Hines is under the weather and not here today. Also here are the esteemed judges of the Court of Appeals of Georgia, including Chief Judge John Ellington. In addition, we are honored to have in the gallery judges from around the state. Just as you have always welcomed us, we too welcome you to visit our courtrooms and our chambers at any time.

I particularly want to welcome the legislators who are new to the Georgia General Assembly. I had the opportunity to meet some of you recently at the University of Georgia for the 28th Biennial Institute for legislators. All of us in the judicial branch look forward to working with you in our common mission to serve the people of this state to the very best of our abilities.

It is said that “leadership is the capacity to translate vision into reality.”

I am grateful that during the almost four years I have been Chief Justice, I have had the privilege of working closely with true leaders who were elected to this body of lawmakers – people who have had a vision, and begun to translate it into reality.

The work that has begun in this state on criminal justice reform is extraordinary. Thanks to your leadership, the leadership of our governor, Nathan Deal, and the leadership of this state’s judges, two years ago all three branches of government came together united in our effort to enhance citizens' public safety while protecting their tax dollars from runaway prison costs.

In 2011, Representative Jay Neal introduced legislation creating the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform. I could not be more proud of the work of the Special Council, of which I have been privileged to be an active member, along with Judge Michael Boggs of the Georgia Court of Appeals who today co-chairs the council, Senators John Crosby and Ronald Ramsey, Representatives Wendell Willard, Mary Margaret Oliver and Jay Powell, and a number of others, including co-chair David Werner, the Governor's Deputy Chief of Staff, and Thomas Worthy, the Governor's Deputy Executive Counsel.

The Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform has worked diligently, and last year the Georgia General Assembly passed House Bill 1176, a comprehensive set of measures proposed by the council to divert non-violent and low-level offenders away from costly prison beds and into more effective drug and mental health courts and treatment programs. Our goal from the beginning has been to create a safer Georgia through lower recidivism rates while saving millions of taxpayer dollars. Less than a year later, we already have begun to see the fruits of our labor.

Recently, Corrections Commissioner Brian Owens announced that after years of steady growth, Georgia's prison population appears to be leveling off, putting us on track to save $264 million in five years. The number of inmates sitting in county jails as they wait for state prison beds is declining, and there has been a real reduction in the number of inmates waiting in local jails for beds in Probation Detention Centers. These are important changes that represent real savings.

One of the most significant achievements has been the beginning of a new way of handling long-term inmates who have served many years – sometimes decades – in prison. The fact is that 95 percent of this state's 57,000 prison inmates will eventually walk out of prison; only 5 percent will die there. We want to be sure that when they come out, they remain crime-free and are prepared to integrate safely back into society as wage-earning, tax-paying citizens. Yet a significant number of our most institutionalized prisoners will "max out." That means they will serve every day of their sentence in prison, but they will then be released into our communities with no parole officer or supervision of any kind.

That is beginning to change. Rather than turning them out the prison gate with a bus ticket, $25 and a "good luck" wish, the State Board of Pardons and Paroles has begun assigning these long-term prison inmates to transitional centers some six months before their final release date to help them transition back into society. This change alone should significantly improve public safety by making these inmates less likely to return to a life of crime.

Also in the last year, thanks to your appropriation, 12 new drug and mental health courts have been created, along with a number of new substance abuse and mental health treatment centers.

But the best measure of our success is counted in the many individual lives that are being changed daily as a result of these accountability courts. I have been privileged this past year to participate in several drug court graduations, as I know some of you have. I have been blessed to meet families who have been reunited by the courts, mothers and fathers who are once again truly functioning as parents and as tax-paying citizens who are showing up for work, on time and sober. And I have been honored to receive personal letters from a number of the graduates. One graduate wrote: "On October 31st, I went to court and regained full custody of my 6-year-old son, Nicholas. It was the happiest day of my life other than the day he was born. I am so grateful for the opportunity of giving back when I, for so long, took away."

Another wrote: "I just wanted to say thank you for giving me a second chance to change my life and to start over." And a third: "Because of Drug Court, I have my life back."

All three were charged with crimes. All three got second chances. And all three have gone from being tax burdens to taxpayers.

One year ago, when I last addressed this legislature, I asked you to consider that perhaps these reforms we have begun putting into place for adults should begin with children.

Again, I am proud of the work of the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform, which has spent its second year studying how this state handles youths who break the law.

Today, we as Georgians – and as a nation – stand at a crossroads in juvenile justice history. We have learned, just as we did with adult criminal justice, that cracking down on juvenile crime is not enough. We must also be smart about juvenile crime and take action to reduce it.

Right now, nearly 2,000 children are in a Georgia facility other than their own home: They are in youth prisons, youth jails, or residential programs, such as group homes. More than half of these children were sent there for committing non-violent offenses; 40 percent are considered low risk; 25 percent are there for having committed a misdemeanor or status offense, which would not be a crime if committed by an adult.

It costs this state $91,000 a year to house a child in a youth prison. By comparison, it costs $19,000 a year to house an adult. The difference in cost is based on young people's educational and other needs that must be met under state and federal laws.

But consider the return we get on every dollar spent housing these juveniles: Of the 619 children in our youth prisons, nearly 65 percent will commit another offense within three years of getting out – and nearly every one of them will get out.

If we thought the poor return on our investment in the adult arena warranted criminal justice reform, surely the poor return on our investment in children warrants juvenile justice reform. We know one thing for certain: Spending $91,000 a year to lock up a juvenile and getting 65 percent recidivism in return is not working. We can be smarter with taxpayer dollars. More importantly, we can produce a safer Georgia.

The research shows that our reliance on incarceration for young people does not reduce their likelihood to reoffend. Indeed, it may do just the opposite, exposing low-risk young people to violence and abuse, and putting some on the path to adult criminality.

At the same time, we have evidence of what does work: community-based programs that offer mental health and substance abuse treatment, anger management programs, family counseling, education and employment programs, and probation supervision.

This year, as last, I have heard from judges across our state. Many juvenile judges have said the same thing: State budget cuts, particularly in the area of mental health, have left them with few alternatives but youth jail or prison for many of the children who come before them. As one judge explained, it is almost impossible to get mental health services for clearly disturbed youngsters unless they threaten suicide or homicide. “We wait for the explosion, and it will come.”

What does a judge do with a chronic runaway girl who comes before him with untreated mental health problems and a history of being sexually exploited while living on the streets? What does a judge do with the boy who repeatedly is charged with shoplifting but whose family is seriously dysfunctional? Most juvenile judges say they do not want to send these children to locked facilities, but with no community resources and fearing for the children’s safety, they feel they have no alternative. As one juvenile judge recently wrote, without resources at home, detention becomes a default “when the hammer is the only tool in the toolbox.”

You now have before you the final Report of the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform. I encourage each of you to read the report. It contains a number of concrete recommendations for your consideration. Just as with adults, we want to reserve our youth prison beds for the most serious offenders while providing alternatives for those who are low-risk and non-violent.

Just as the success of adult drug courts depends on the availability of community treatment programs, the key to the success of our juvenile courts in handling troubled youths who have not yet committed serious crimes is the availability of programs that can intervene before it’s too late.

Of course, community resources cost money, at a time when we as a state and nation are still struggling to crawl out of the most protracted recession since the Great Depression. But other states have come up with a brilliant way to reinvest dollars spent on juvenile incarceration into community-based programs.

In Ohio, counties get an annual allocation from the state for handling youthful offenders. The allocation is based on what it used to cost the state to incarcerate that county's youths in state facilities. It is now up to the county to decide whether to use the allocation on costly out-of-home beds or to develop less costly community-based options.

Think about it. This is a wonderful financial incentive. Instead of spending $91,000 per child on incarceration, counties can reinvest that money into more economical and effective community programs.

Under a similar program, the state of Illinois has seen a reduction in the commitment of youths to state institutions that has resulted in $11 million in savings in two years. Texas also has developed a pilot program similar to Ohio's.

And now – under Governor Deal's leadership – Georgia stands at the threshold of possibly becoming the next state to pilot this reinvestment of funds to make our state safer by giving communities the ability to tailor their juvenile justice programs to meet their specific needs. The Governor has proposed allocating $5 million to the top Georgia counties that account for more than half the kids in juvenile detention.

Those of us who are judges are sworn to uphold the law and order of this state. I want to emphasize that no one is urging Georgia to become soft on crime. Some of our juvenile offenders have committed heinous, violent crimes, and must be treated as adults and locked away from society.

But they are the minority. For our citizens' sake, we must do better with the majority.

The fact is, many of our juveniles deserve second chances.

When did we stop believing that some young people deserve second chances? When did we start believing that a sixth grader should be suspended because she brought a Tweety Bird wallet to school that was attached to a 10-inch chain?

When did we stop believing that children are different from adults and that teenagers do stupid things, act impulsively and consider themselves immortal? When did we forget what we were like as teenagers?

I have not forgotten what I was like. It is not a good memory.

Not all of us who are judges, or lawmakers, or leaders of government took the path our parents tried to steer us down, consistently got good grades, never got into fights at school, never drank or drove recklessly or broke the law. But for those of us who did those things, we got second chances.

Let me tell you about someone here today who got a second chance. He was 13 years old when one day during school, two friends dared him to rewire a fire door that was supposed to remain open except for an emergency. He took the dare, succeeded in overriding the system, and got the door to close. But what he didn't realize was that once the door closed, the fire alarm would go off with a vengeance. In addition to fire trucks, police swooped down upon the school. Very quickly, they identified him as the perpetrator. He heard the police in the principal's office saying they were going to arrest him. And at that moment, his world shattered. In his 13-year-old mind, he was certain he was going to jail, and that he would never again see his mother, father, sisters or brothers. But then he heard something else. He heard his principal urging them not to arrest him. The principal assured them the boy would suffer consequences. And at that very moment, the boy learned a lesson in mercy and forgiveness. It was a defining moment in his life.

He grew up, enlisted in the U.S. Navy, became a lawyer, and today is a juvenile judge in Clayton County where he has never forgotten a principal who once gave him a second chance. With every case that comes before him, he asks himself: "What would I do if the child before me were my own?" And whenever possible, he draws a delinquent child's parents into the rehabilitative process.

Today he is an advocate for youth, a proponent of alternatives to unnecessary detention, and a leader in the field of juvenile justice, not only in this state but nationwide. In his own county, to interrupt the "pipeline from school to prison," he has brought together school leaders, police, prosecutors and social service providers to steer disruptive school children away from court and detention into cheaper, more effective alternative responses to their behavior.

As a result, from 2004 to the present, the number of kids arrested in Clayton County schools has dropped 83 percent. As he says: "The juvenile court should be reserved for children who scare us, not for those who make us mad."

Ladies and gentlemen, if you do not already know him, it is my honor to introduce to you Clayton County Presiding Juvenile Judge Steven Teske.

I began today by telling you that I am proud to stand beside some of this nation's finest judges. As I said last year and the year before, the entire judicial branch operates with less than 1 percent of the state budget. That means that for every Georgia citizen's tax dollar, less than one penny goes to funding the entire judicial branch of government.

Budget cuts have been difficult for everyone, the judiciary included. But I am proud that this branch of government has worked with the governor and you legislators to meet the demands of the budget shortfall.

As judges, we are sworn to dispense justice, uphold the law and protect constitutional freedoms. Our duties are simple but profound. They are fundamental to our democracy and a core function of government. We have no choice but to respond to all problems and conflicts that come before our courts.

Despite the economic challenge, our judges have always worked hard to move forward.

* In Barrow and Jackson counties, judges have leveraged federal funds to create not just one, but four drug and mental health courts.

* The Commission on Interpreters has forged ahead with a pilot project to provide constitutionally mandated interpreting services to courts in outlying areas.

* In the area of domestic violence, Georgia ranks a dismal 10th in the nation for the rate at which men kill women. But thanks to the leadership of Representative Edward Lindsey, prosecutors have been given more tools to hold abusers accountable. And thanks to Judges Stephen Kelley and Peggy Walker, we now have a comprehensive plan that offers a road map for how to significantly reduce family violence in Georgia.

* We also continue to make progress in the electronic filing of legal documents. Our E-Filing Committee, chaired by my colleague, Justice Harold Melton, is persevering in its goal to develop a statewide electronic filing system that is compatible with all courts.

I have mentioned a number of things today that the judiciary has accomplished, even in the face of challenging economic times. There is one more significant accomplishment that I would like to draw to your attention. In many ways, it is tied directly to juvenile justice reform because for many juveniles, justice means never coming into the criminal justice system.

For 12 years, my colleague, Justice P. Harris Hines, has quietly chaired the Georgia Supreme Court's Committee on Justice for Children. Justice Hines has lent rock solid support to the mission of improving the civil process involved in child abuse and neglect cases. This committee's work, under Justice Hines' leadership and the staff leadership of Michelle Barclay, has contributed to a reduction in the number of children in foster care who fall through the cracks and never get out of the system. With the Cold Case Project, we have improved the likelihood of finding children permanent homes before they age out of the system as adults with no families and no support. We know from research that those who age out of foster care are less likely to get an education and a job, and more likely to be homeless and enter the criminal justice system. This past year alone, the Committee reviewed the files of 245 children as part of the Cold Case Project, and it is committed to finding all of them families they can call their own.

Just like so many of you, Georgia has among its judges many strong leaders who have managed to do more with less while translating a vision into reality.

So in conclusion, I want to say it has been an honor and a pleasure to represent these judges as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Georgia. And I want to pay special tribute to one judge in particular.

When I came onto the Supreme Court in 1992, the first Chief Justice I served under was the honorable Harold G. Clarke, Jr., who also served in the Georgia legislature. Justice Clarke is ill right now and I would ask you to keep him in your thoughts and prayers. He is not only a great jurist but he is a quiet, strong leader of principle and the kindest man I have known.

Finally, I am confident that when my term concludes later this year, my friend and colleague, Presiding Justice Hugh Thompson, will move seamlessly into the position.

I recognize that you as lawmakers have difficult decisions ahead. But I am supremely confident in your leadership and courage.

I thank all of you for your support of the judiciary and your service to this state.

God bless you, and God bless the people of the great state of Georgia.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

A physician's certificate shall expire seven days after it is executed. Any peace officer, within 72 hours after receiving such certificate, shall make diligent efforts to take into custody the person named in the certificate and to deliver him or her forthwith to the nearest available emergency receiving facility serving the county in which the patient is found, where he or she shall be received for examination.

(b) The appropriate court of the county in which a person may be found may issue an order commanding any peace officer to take such person into custody and deliver him or her forthwith for examination, either to the nearest available emergency receiving facility serving the county in which the patient is found, where such person shall be received for examination, or to a physician who has agreed to examine such patient and who will provide, where appropriate, a certificate pursuant to subsection (a) of this Code section to permit delivery of such patient to an emergency receiving facility pursuant to subsection (a) of this Code section. Such order may only be issued if based either upon an unexpired physician's certificate, as provided in subsection (a) of this Code section, or upon the affidavits of at least two persons who attest that, within the preceding 48 hours, they have seen the person to be taken into custody and that, based upon observations contained in their affidavit, they have reason to believe such person is a mentally ill person requiring involuntary treatment. SECTION 2.

Said chapter is further amended by revising Code Section 25-9-4, relating to design locate request and response, as follows:

(a) Any person may submit a design locate request to the UPC. Such design locate request shall:

(1) Describe the tract or parcel of land for which the design locate request has been submitted with sufficient particularity, as defined by policies developed and promulgated by the UPC, to enable the facility owner or operator to ascertain the precise tract or parcel of land involved; and

(2) State the name, address, and telephone number of the person who has submitted the design locate request, as well as the name, address, and telephone number of any other person authorized to review any records subject to inspection as provided in paragraph (3) of subsection (b) of this Code section.

(b) Within ten working days after a design locate request has been submitted to the UPC for a proposed project, the facility owner or operator shall respond by ~~one of the following methods~~ the method requested by the person calling in the design locate request:

(1) Designate or cause to be designated by a locator in accordance with Code ~~Section Sections 25-9-7 and 25-9-9~~ the location of all utility facilities and sewer laterals within the area of the proposed excavation;

(2) Provide to the person submitting the design locate request the best available description of all utility facilities and sewer laterals in the area of proposed excavation, which might include drawings of utility facilities and sewer laterals already built in the area, or other facility records that are maintained by the facility owner or operator; or

(c) Upon responding using any of the methods provided in subsection (b) of this Code section, the facility owner or operator shall provide the response to the UPC in accordance with UPC procedures.

(d) A design locate request shall not be used for excavation purposes."

SECTION 3.

Said chapter is further amended by revising Code Section 25-9-6, relating to prerequisites to blasting or excavating and marking of sites, as follows:

"25-9-6.

(a) No person shall commence, perform, or engage in blasting or in excavating with mechanized excavating equipment on any tract or parcel of land in any county in this state unless and until the person planning the blasting or excavating has given 48 hours' notice by submitting a locate request to the UPC, beginning the next business day after such notice is provided, excluding hours during days other than business days. Any person performing excavation is responsible for being aware of all information timely entered into the PRIS prior to the commencement of excavation. If, prior to the expiration of the 48 hour waiting period, all identified facility owners or operators have responded to the locate request, and if all have indicated that their facilities are either not in conflict or have been marked, then the person planning to perform excavation or blasting shall be authorized to commence work, subject to the other requirements of this Code section, without waiting the full 48 hours. The 48 hours' notice shall not be required for excavating where minimally intrusive excavation methods are used exclusively. Any locate request received by the UPC after business hours shall be deemed to have been received by the UPC the next business day. Such locate request shall:

- (1) Describe the tract or parcel of land upon which the blasting or excavation is to take place with sufficient particularity, as defined by policies developed and promulgated by the UPC, to enable the facility owner or operator to ascertain the precise tract or parcel of land involved;
 - (2) State the name, address, and telephone number of the person who will engage in the blasting or excavating;
 - (3) Describe the type of blasting or excavating to be engaged in by the person; and
 - (4) ~~Designate the date upon which the blasting or excavating will commence~~ Define the time frame in which requested excavation may occur.
- (b) In the event the location upon which the blasting or excavating is to take place cannot be described with sufficient particularity to enable the facility owner or operator to ascertain the precise tract or parcel involved, the person proposing the blasting or excavating shall mark the route or boundary of the site of the proposed blasting or excavating by means of white paint, white stakes, or white flags if practical, or schedule an on-site meeting with the locator or facility owner or operator and inform the UPC, within a reasonable time, of the results of such meeting. The person marking a site with white lining shall comply with the rules and regulations of the Department of Transportation as to the use of such markings so as to not obstruct signs, pavement markings, pavement, or other safety devices.
- (c) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, notice given pursuant to subsection (a) of this Code section shall expire 21 calendar days following the date of such notice, and no blasting or excavating undertaken pursuant to this notice shall continue after such time has expired. In the event that the blasting or excavating which is the subject of the notice given pursuant to subsection (a) of this Code section will not be completed within 21 calendar days following the date of such notice, an additional notice must be given in accordance with subsection (a) of this Code section for the locate request to remain valid. Additional notices for an existing request shall not expand the tract or parcel of land upon which the blasting or excavation is to take place.

(d) For emergencies, notice shall expire at 7:00 A.M. three business days after the notification is made to the UPC.

(e) Except for those persons submitting design locate requests, no person, including facility owners or operators, shall request marking of a site through the UPC unless excavating is scheduled to commence. In addition, no person shall make repeated requests for re-marking, unless the repeated request is required for excavating to continue or due to circumstances not reasonably within the control of such person. Any person who willfully fails to comply with this subsection shall be liable to the facility owner or operator for $100.00 or for actual costs, whichever is greater, for each repeated request for re-marking.

(f) If, subsequent to giving the notice to the UPC required by subsection (a) of this Code section, a person planning excavating determines that such work will require blasting, then such person shall promptly so notify the UPC and shall refrain from any blasting until the facility owner or operator responds within 24 hours, excluding hours during days other than business days, following receipt by the UPC of such notice.

(g) When a locate request is made in accordance with subsection (a) of this Code section, excavators other than the person planning the blasting or excavating may conduct such activity, provided that the person planning the blasting or excavating shall remain responsible for ensuring that any stakes or other markings placed in accordance with this chapter remain in place and reasonably visible until such blasting or excavating is completed; and provided, further, that such blasting or excavating is:

- (1) Performed on the tract or parcel of land identified in the locate request;
- (2) Performed by a person authorized by and having a contractual relationship with the person planning the blasting or excavating;
- (3) The type of blasting or excavating described in the locate request; and
- (4) Carried out in accordance with all other requirements of this chapter.

(h) Facility owners or operators may bill an excavator their costs for any requests for re-marking other than for re-marks with no more than five individual addresses on a single locate request. Such costs shall be documented actual costs and shall not exceed $100.00 per re-mark request."

SECTION 4.

Said chapter is further amended by revising Code Section 25-9-7, relating to determining whether utility facilities are present, information to UPC, noncompliance, future utility facilities, and abandoned utility facilities, as follows:

"25-9-7.

(a)(1) Within 48 hours beginning the next business day ~~after the business day~~ following receipt by the UPC of the locate request filed in accordance with Code Section 25-9-6, excluding hours during days other than business days, each facility owner or operator shall determine whether or not utility facilities are located on the tract or parcel of land upon which the excavating or blasting is to occur. If utility facilities are determined to be present, the facility owner or operator shall designate, through stakes, flags, permanent markers, or other marks on the surface of the tract or parcel of land, the location of utility facilities. This subsection shall not apply to large projects.

(2) Designation of the location of utility facilities through staking, flagging, permanent markers, or other marking shall be in accordance with the American Public Works Association (APWA) color code in place at the time the location of the utility facility is designated. Additional marking requirements beyond color code, if any, shall be prescribed by rules and regulations promulgated by the Public Service Commission.

(3) A facility owner or operator is not required to mark its own facilities within 48 hours if the facility owner or operator or its agents are the only parties performing the excavation; however, such facilities shall be designated prior to the actual start of excavation.

(b)(1) Within 48 hours beginning the next business day ~~after the business day~~ following receipt by the UPC of the locate request filed in accordance with Code Section 25-9-6, excluding hours during days other than business days, each sewer system owner or operator shall determine whether or not sewer laterals are located or likely to be located on the tract or parcel of land upon which the excavating or blasting is to occur. If sewer laterals are determined to be present or likely to be present, then the sewer system owner or operator shall assist in designating sewer laterals up to the edge of the public right of way. Such assistance shall not constitute ownership or operation of the sewer lateral by the sewer system owner or operator. Good faith compliance with provisions of this subsection in response to a locate request shall constitute full compliance with this chapter, and no person shall be found liable to any party for damages or injuries as a result of performing in compliance with the requirements of this subsection.

(2) To assist in designating sewer laterals, the sewer system owner or operator shall provide its best available information regarding the location of the sewer laterals to the excavator. This information shall be conveyed to the excavator in a manner that may include, but shall not be limited to, any one of the following methods:

(A) Marking the location of sewer laterals in accordance with subsection (a) of this section, provided that:

(i) Any sewer lateral designated using the best available information shall constitute a good faith attempt and shall be deemed to be in compliance with this subsection, provided that such mark represents only the best available information of the sewer system owner or operator and may not be accurate; and

(ii) If a sewer lateral is unlocatable, a triangular green mark shall be placed at the sewer main pointing at the address in question to indicate the presence of an unlocatable sewer lateral;

(B) Providing electronic copies of or delivering the records through facsimile or by other means to an agreed upon location within 48 hours beginning the next business day ~~after the business day~~ following receipt by the UPC of the locate request filed in accordance with Code Section 25-9-6, excluding hours during days other than business days; provided, however, that for local governing authorities that receive fewer than 50 locate requests annually, the local governing authority may designate the agreed upon location and communicate such designation to the excavator;

(C) Arranging to meet the excavator on site to provide the best available information about the location of the sewer laterals;

(D) Providing the records through other processes and to other locations approved by documented agreement between the excavator and the facility owner or operator; or

(E) Any other reasonable means of conveyance approved by the commission after receiving recommendations from the advisory committee, provided that such means are equivalent to or exceed the provisions of subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) of this paragraph.

(c) Each facility owner or operator, either upon determining that no utility facility or sewer lateral is present on the tract or parcel of land or upon completion of the designation of the location of any utility facilities or sewer laterals on the tract or parcel of land as required by subsection (a) or (b) of this Code section, shall provide this information to the UPC in accordance with procedures developed by the UPC, which may include the use of the PRIS. In no event shall such notice be provided later than midnight of the second business day following receipt by the UPC of actual notice filed in accordance with Code Section 25-9-6.

(d) In the event the facility owner or operator is unable to designate the location of the utility facilities or sewer laterals due to extraordinary circumstances, the facility owner or operator shall notify the UPC and provide an estimated completion date in accordance with procedures developed by the UPC, which may include the use of the PRIS.

(e) If, at the end of the time period specified in subsections (a) and (b) of this Code section, any facility owner or operator has not complied with the requirements of subsections (a), (b), and (c) of this Code section, as applicable, the UPC shall issue a second request to each such facility owner or operator. If the facility owner or operator does not respond to this additional request by 12:00 Noon of that business day, either by notifying the UPC in accordance with procedures developed by the UPC that no utility facilities or sewer laterals are present on the tract or parcel of land, or by designating the location of such utility facilities or sewer laterals in accordance with the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this Code section, as applicable, then the person providing notice pursuant to Code Section 25-9-6 may proceed with the excavating or blasting, provided that there is no visible and obvious evidence of the presence of an unmarked utility facility or sewer lateral on the tract or parcel of land. Such person shall not be subject to any liability resulting from damage to the utility facility or sewer lateral as a result of the blasting or excavating, provided that such person complies with the requirements of Code Section 25-9-8.

(f) If visible and obvious evidence of the presence of an unmarked utility facility or sewer lateral does exist and the facility owner or operator either refuses to comply with subsections (a) through (d) of this Code section, as applicable, or is not a member of the UPC, then the excavator shall attempt to designate such facility or sewer lateral prior to excavating. The facility owner or operator shall be strictly liable for the actual costs associated with the excavator designating such utility facilities and sewer laterals and any associated downtime. Such costs shall not exceed $100.00 or documented actual costs, whichever is greater, for each locate request.

(g) All utility facilities installed by facility owners or operators on or after January 1, 2001, shall be installed in a manner which will make them locatable using a generally accepted electronic locating method. All sewer laterals installed on or after January 1, 2006, shall be installed in a manner which will make them locatable by facility owners or operators using a generally accepted electronic locating method. In the event that an unlocatable utility facility or unlocatable sewer lateral becomes exposed when the facility owner or operator is present or in the case of sewer laterals when the sewer utility owner or operator is present on or after January 1, 2006, such utility facility or sewer lateral shall be made locatable through the use of a permanent marker or an updating of permanent records.

(h) Facility owners or operators shall either maintain recorded information concerning the location and other characteristics of abandoned utility facilities, maintain such abandoned utility facilities in a locatable manner, or remove such abandoned utility facilities. Facility owners or operators shall provide information on abandoned utility facilities, when possible, in response to a locate request or design locate request. When the presence of an abandoned facility within an excavation site is known, the facility owner or operator should attempt to ~~locate and mark~~ designate the abandoned facility or provide information to the excavator regarding such facilities. When located or exposed, all abandoned utility facilities and sewer laterals shall be treated as live utility facilities and sewer laterals.

(i) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a facility owner or operator may use a locator to designate any or all utility facilities and sewer laterals. The use of a locator shall not relieve the facility owner or operator of any responsibility under this chapter. However, by contract a facility owner or operator may be indemnified by a locator for any failure on the part of the locator to comply with the provisions of this chapter.

(j) ~~By January 1, 2006, the advisory committee shall propose to the Public Service Commission rules and processes specific to the locating of large projects. These rules shall include, but shall not be limited to, the establishment of detailed processes. Such rules may also include changes in the time period allowed for a facility owner or operator to comply with the provisions of this chapter and to the time period for which designations are valid. The commission shall promulgate rules addressing this subsection no later than June 1, 2006~~ Large project rules shall be promulgated by the Public Service Commission. These rules shall include, but shall not be limited to, the establishment of detailed processes. Such rules may also include changes in the time period allowed for a facility owner or operator to comply with the provisions of this chapter and the time period for which designations are valid.

(k)(1) Within 48 hours beginning the next business day ~~after the business day~~ following receipt by the UPC of the locate request filed in accordance with Code

Section 25-9-6, excluding hours during days other than business days, each facility owner or operator shall determine whether or not unlocatable facilities other than sewer laterals are present. In the event that such facilities are determined to be present, the facility owner or operator shall exercise reasonable care in locating such facilities. The exercise of reasonable care shall require, at a minimum, the use of the best available information to designate the facilities and notification to the UPC of such attempted location. Placing markers or otherwise leaving evidence of locations of facilities is deemed to be an acceptable form of notification to the excavator or locator.

(2) This subsection shall not apply to sewer laterals."

SECTION 5.

Said chapter is further amended by revising Code Section 25-9-8, relating to treatment of gas pipes and other underground utility facilities by blasters and excavators, as follows:

(a) Persons engaged in blasting or in excavating with mechanized excavating equipment shall not strike, damage, injure, or loosen any utility facility or sewer lateral which has been staked, flagged, or marked in accordance with this chapter.

(b) When excavating or blasting is to take place within the tolerance zone, the excavator shall exercise ~~such~~ reasonable care ~~as may be necessary~~ for the protection of the utility facility or sewer lateral, including permanent markers and paint placed to designate utility facilities. This protection shall include, but ~~may~~ not be limited to, at least one of the following based on geographical and climate conditions: hand digging, pot holing, soft digging, vacuum excavation methods, pneumatic hand tools, or other technical methods that may be developed. ~~Other mechanical methods may be used with the approval of the facility owner or operator, or other generally accepted methods. For parallel type excavations, the existing facility shall be exposed at intervals as often as necessary to avoid damages.~~

(c) If the precise location of the underground facilities cannot be determined by the excavator, the facility owner or operator thereof shall be notified by the excavator so that the operator and the excavator shall work together to determine the precise location of the underground facilities prior to continuing the excavation.

~~(e)~~(d) When conducting trenchless excavation the excavator must exercise reasonable care, as described in subsection (b) of this Code section, and shall take additional care to attempt to prevent damage to utility facilities and sewer laterals. The recommendations of the HDD consortium applicable to the performance of trenchless excavation set out in the document 'Horizontal Directional Drilling Good Practice Guidelines,' dated May, 2001, are adopted by reference as a part of this subsection to describe such additional care. The advisory committee may recommend to the commission more stringent criteria as it deems necessary to define additional care and the commission is authorized to adopt additional criteria to define additional care.

~~(d)~~(e) Any person engaged in blasting or in excavating with mechanized excavating equipment who strikes, damages, injures, or loosens any utility facility or sewer lateral, regardless of whether the utility facility or sewer lateral is marked, shall immediately cease such blasting or excavating and notify the UPC and the appropriate facility owner or operator, if known. (2)(A) The commission is not authorized to impose civil penalties on any local governing authority except as provided in this paragraph. The commission may recommend training for local governing authorities in response to any probable or proven violation. ~~On or after January 1, 2007, civil~~ Civil penalties may be recommended for or imposed on any local governing authority for refusal to comply with the requirements of Code Section 25-9-7 or for other violations of Code Section 25-9-7 that result in injury to people, damage to property, or the interruption of utility service in the event that investigators find that a local governing authority has demonstrated a pattern of willful noncompliance. Civil penalties may be recommended or imposed on or after January 1, 2006, for violations of provisions of this chapter other than Code Section 25-9-7 in the event that investigators find that the severity of an excavation violation warrants civil penalties or that a local governing authority has demonstrated a pattern of willful noncompliance. Any such civil penalty shall be recommended or imposed in accordance with a tiered penalty structure designed for local governing authorities. In the event that the investigators determine that a local governing authority has made a good faith effort to comply with this chapter, the investigators shall not recommend a civil penalty. For purposes of this subsection 'refusal to comply' means that a utility facility owner or operator does not respond in PRIS to a locate request, does not respond to a direct telephone call to ~~locate~~ designate their facilities, or other such direct refusal. Refusal to comply does not mean a case where the volume of requests or some other mitigating circumstance prevents the utility owner or operator from locating in accordance with Code Section 25-9-7.

(B) No later than January 1, 2006, the advisory committee shall recommend to the commission for adoption a tiered penalty structure for local governing authorities. Such structure shall take into account the size, annual budget, gross receipts, number of utility connections and types of utilities within the territory of the local governing authority. Such penalty structure shall also take into account the number of locate ~~tickets~~ requests received annually by the local governing authority, the number of locate codes made annually to the local governing authority from the UPC, the number of utility customers whose service may have been interrupted by violations of this chapter, and the duration of such interruptions. Such penalty structure shall also consider the cost of compliance. The penalty structure shall establish for each tier the maximum penalty per violation and per 12 month period at a level to induce compliance with this chapter. Such maximum penalty shall not exceed $5,000.00 per violation or $50,000.00 per 12 month period for the highest tier.

(3) If commission investigators find that a probable violation has occurred, they may recommend training in lieu of penalties to any person for any violation. The commission shall provide suggestions for corrective action to any person requesting such assistance. Commission investigators shall make recommended findings or offers of settlement to the respondent.

(4) Any respondent may accept or disagree with the settlement recommended by the investigators. If the respondent disagrees with the recommended settlement, the respondent may dispute the settlement recommendation to the advisory committee. The advisory committee shall then render a recommendation either supporting the investigators' recommendation, rejecting the investigators' recommendation, or substituting its own recommendation. With respect to an investigation of any probable violation committed by a local governing authority, any recommendation by the advisory committee shall be in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (2) of this subsection. In its deliberations the advisory committee shall consider the gravity of the violation or violations; the degree of the respondent's culpability; the respondent's history of prior offenses; and such other mitigating factors as may be appropriate. If the advisory committee determines that a respondent has made a good faith effort to comply with this chapter, the committee shall not recommend civil penalties against the respondent. To the extent that a respondent does not accept a settlement agreement or request to dispute the recommendation of the investigators to the advisory committee, the respondent shall be assigned to a hearing officer or administrative law judge.

(5) If any respondent disagrees with the recommendation of the advisory committee, after notice and hearing by a hearing officer or administrative law judge, such officer or judge shall make recommendations to the commission regarding enforcement, including civil penalties. Any such recommendations relating to a local governing authority shall comply with the provisions of paragraph (2) of this subsection. The acceptance of the recommendations by the respondent at any point will stop further action by the investigators in that case.

(6) When the respondent agrees with the advisory committee recommendation, the investigators shall present such agreement to the commission. The commission is then authorized to adopt the recommendation of the advisory committee regarding a civil penalty, or to reject such a recommendation. The commission is not authorized to impose a civil penalty greater than the civil penalty recommended by the advisory committee or to impose any civil penalty if the advisory committee does not recommend a civil penalty.

(7) The commission may, by judgment entered after a hearing on notice duly served on any person not less than 30 days before the date of the hearing, impose a civil penalty not exceeding $10,000.00 for each violation, if it is proved that the person violated any of the provisions of this chapter as a result of a failure to exercise additional care in accordance with subsection ~~(e)~~ (d) of Code Section 25-9-8 or reasonable care in accordance with other provisions of this chapter. Any such recommendations relating to a local governing authority shall comply with the provisions of paragraph (2) of this subsection. Any proceeding or civil penalty undertaken pursuant to this Code section shall neither prevent nor preempt the right of any party to obtain civil damages for personal injury or property damage in private causes of action except as otherwise provided in this chapter.

~~(i)~~(j) All civil penalties ordered by the commission and collected pursuant to this Code section shall be deposited in the general fund of the state treasury."

(3) The council shall meet initially upon the call of the director and shall elect a chairperson at the initial meeting. Subsequent meetings shall be called by the chairperson; provided, however, that the council shall meet at least quarterly. Councilmembers shall receive no compensation for their services as members of the council, but their travel expenses, if any, related to the performance of their official duties may be covered by the departments, agencies, or organizations they represent.

- (1) To monitor, study, and ascertain, in cooperation with other state and local agencies and any agency of the United States government, the state's present geospatial capabilities, the need for strengthening capabilities, and the extent to which such needs are being currently met;

- (3) To seek input from relevant stakeholders;
- (4) To compile and disseminate reports;
- (5) To coordinate with and make recommendations to the Governor, the General Assembly, state agencies, counties, municipalities, and other political subdivisions of this state regarding geographical informations systems; and

(6) To adopt bylaws for the conduct of its business.

(e) The council shall audit Georgia's geospatial capabilities at county, regional, and state levels. The audit shall contain a complete status update and recommendations for utilizing the geospatial capabilities in Georgia to meet Federal Emergency Management Agency notification requirements, recommendations for moving forward to achieve governmental data interoperability and enhanced delivery of services to Georgia citizens through the geospatial approach, and any other information determined by the council to be necessary for the advancement of geospatial technology.

(f) The council shall closely coordinate its efforts with the Georgia Technology Authority to ensure compliance with all state and federal standards, contracts, and procedures.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

ARTICLE I
SECTION 1.

That the State of Georgia is the owner of the hereinafter described real property lying and being in GMD 243 Barrow County, Georgia, and that the property is in the custody of the Georgia Department of Natural Resources, which does not object to the granting of this easement, hereinafter referred to as the easement area and that, in all matters relating to the easement area, the State of Georgia is acting by and through its State Properties Commission.

SECTION 2.

That the State of Georgia, acting by and through its State Properties Commission, may grant to Georgia Power Company, or its successors and assigns, a nonexclusive easement area for installing, maintaining and operating overhead and underground utility lines to the Camp Will-A-Way campground host site and to recreational fields. Said easement area is located at Fort Yargo State Park, Camp Will-A-Way, Barrow County, Georgia and is more particularly described as follows:

That approximately 0.05 of an acre and that portion only as shown on a drawing prepared by Josh Sweat titled Georgia Power Company, Exhibit "A" and being on file in the offices of the State Properties Commission, and may be more particularly described by a plat of survey prepared by a Georgia registered land surveyor and presented to the State Properties Commission for approval.

SECTION 3.

That the above-described premises shall be used solely for the purpose of installing, maintaining, and operating said overhead and underground utility lines.

SECTION 4.

That Georgia Power Company shall have the right to remove or cause to be removed from said easement area only such trees and bushes as may be reasonably necessary for the proper installation, operation, and maintenance of said overhead and underground utility lines.

SECTION 5.

That, after Georgia Power Company has put into use the overhead and underground utility lines this easement is granted for, a subsequent abandonment of the use thereof shall cause a reversion to the State of Georgia, or its successors and assigns, of all the rights, title, privileges, powers, and easement granted herein. Upon abandonment, the Georgia Power Company, or its successors and assigns, shall have the option of removing its facilities from the easement area or leaving the same in place, in which event the siren system shall become the property of the State of Georgia, or its successors and assigns.

SECTION 6.

That no title shall be conveyed to Georgia Power Company and, except as herein specifically granted to Georgia Power Company, all rights, title, and interest in and to said easement area is reserved in the State of Georgia, which may make any use of said easement area not inconsistent with or detrimental to the rights, privileges, and interest granted to Georgia Power Company.

SECTION 7.

That if the State of Georgia, acting by and through its State Properties Commission, determines that in order to avoid interference with the state's use or intended use of the easement area, the easement area should be relocated to an alternate site within the property, it may grant a substantially equivalent nonexclusive easement to an alternate site under such terms and conditions as the State Properties Commission shall in its discretion determine to be in the best interest of the State of Georgia. The Grantee shall remove or relocate its facilities to the alternate easement area at its sole cost and expense, unless the State Properties Commission determines that the requested removal or relocation is to be for the sole benefit of the State of Georgia and Grantee provides, and the State Properties Commission receives and approves, in advance of any construction being commenced a written estimate for the cost of such removal and relocation. Upon written request from Grantee or any third party, the State Properties Commission, in its sole discretion, may grant a substantially equivalent nonexclusive easement within the property for the relocation of the facilities without cost, expense or reimbursement from the State of Georgia.

SECTION 8.

That the easement granted to Georgia Power Company shall contain such other reasonable terms, conditions, and covenants as the State Properties Commission shall deem in the best interest of the State of Georgia and that the State Properties Commission is authorized to use a more accurate description of the easement area so long as the description utilized by the State Properties Commission describes the same easement area herein granted.

SECTION 9.

That this resolution does not affect and is not intended to affect any rights, powers, interest, or liability of the Department of Transportation with respect to the state highway system, of a county with respect to the county road system, or of a municipality with respect to the city street system. The grantee shall obtain any and all other required permits from the appropriate governmental agencies as are necessary for its lawful use of the easement area or public highway right of way and comply with all applicable state and federal environmental statutes in its use of the easement area.

SECTION 10.

That the consideration for such easement shall be $10 since this action will solely benefit the Department of Natural Resources and the State of Georgia.

SECTION 11.

That this grant of easement shall be recorded by the grantee in the Superior Court of Barrow County and a recorded copy shall be forwarded to the State Properties Commission.

SECTION 12.

That the authorization in this resolution to grant the above-described easement to Georgia Power Company shall expire three years after the date this resolution is enacted into law and approved by the State Properties Commission.

Upon abandonment, the Georgia Power Company, or its successors and assigns, shall have the option of removing its facilities from the easement area or leaving the same in place, in which event the power line and any equipment shall become the property of the State of Georgia, or its successors and assigns.

The Grantee shall remove or relocate its facilities to the alternate easement area at its sole cost and expense, unless the State Properties Commission determines that the requested removal or relocation is to be for the sole benefit of the State of Georgia and Grantee provides, and the State Properties Commission receives and approves, in advance of any construction being commenced a written estimate for the cost of such removal and relocation. Upon written request from Grantee or any third party, the State Properties Commission, in its sole discretion, may grant a substantially equivalent nonexclusive easement within the property for the relocation of the facilities without cost, expense or reimbursement from the State of Georgia.

The appropriations in this Act consist of the amount stated in the right-most column, for each line at the lowest level of detail for the fund source categories, "Total State Funds" and "Total Federal Funds," under a caption beginning with a program or special project number that has a 100 or a higher number after the decimal and a program or special project name. In each case, such appropriation is associated with the immediately preceding program or special project name, number, and statement of program or special project purpose. The program or special project purpose is stated immediately below the program or special project name. For authorizations for general obligation debt in Section 51, the indented, bold-faced paragraphs following each Bond number are the lowest level of detail and constitute appropriations in accordance with Article VII, Section IV, Paragraph III(a)(1) of the Georgia Constitution. The caption above the Bond number, the light-faced text immediately following the Bond number before the bold-faced text, and the light-faced after the bold-faced text are information only.

Similarly, text in a group of lines that has a number less than 100 after the decimal (01 through 99) is not part of a statement of purpose but constitutes information as to how the appropriation was derived. Amounts in the columns other than the right-most column are for informational purposes only. The summary and lowest level of detail for the fund source categories "Total Agency Funds" and "Total Intra-State Governmental Transfers," are for informational purposes only. In the preceding sentence, "Federal Funds" means any federal funding source, whether specifically identified or not specifically identified; "Other Funds" means all other fund sources except State Funds or Federal Funds, including without limitation Intra-State Government Transfers. This paragraph shall not permit an agency to include within its flex the appropriations for an agency attached to it for administrative purposes.

For purposes of the appropriations for the "Medicaid: Low-Income Medicaid" and "Medicaid: Aged, Blind, and Disabled" programs of the Department of Community Health, the appropriation of a particular State fund source for each program shall be the amount stated, and each such program shall also be authorized up to an additional amount of ten percent (10%) of the amount stated. However, if the additional authority is used, the appropriation of the same State fund source for the other program to that agency shall be reduced in the same amount, such that the stated total in program appropriations from that State fund source for the two programs shall not be exceeded. However, the additional amount shall be from a State fund source which is lawfully available for the program to which it is added.

REPORT OF THE MINORITY
February 22, 2013*IN THE MATTER OF SENATE BILLS 4, 5, 6, 8, 9 and 54

Pursuant to Section 2-1.6(a), this report sets forth the reasons for the dissent of the Minority to SB 4, 5, 6, 8, 9 and 54

Senator Buddy Carter (1st) has proposed the following legislation concerning elections.

- SB 4 Grants authority to the General Assembly to allow for, by local Act, non-partisan elections of clerks of superior court.
- SB 5 Grants authority to the General Assembly to allow for, by local Act, non-partisan elections of district attorneys.
- SB 6 Grants authority to the General Assembly to allow for, by local Act, non-partisan elections to fill the office of Sheriff.

- SB 8 Grants authority to the General Assembly to allow for, by local Act, non-partisan elections to fill the offices of Tax Commissioner, Tax Receiver and Tax Collector.
- SB 9 Grants authority to the General Assembly to allow for, by local Act, non-partisan elections of Solicitor General.
- SB 54 Grants authority to the General Assembly to allow for, by local Act, non-partisan elections of Coroners.

RATIONAL FOR AREAS OF DISSENT

Suppression of Voter Turnout

Nonpartisan elections lead to lower voter turnout by up to twenty percent. This is due to a number of factors. Many voters rely on party choice to evaluate a candidate's views. Without information as to a candidate's choice of party, many voters will not feel like they have enough information to make an educated choice in the election. Attachment to a political party also "motivates individuals to participate as a display of party support." (Schaffer, Streb, and Wright 2001).

Reduced Voter Information

The lack of party labels, which generally convey accurate policy information, raises the cost of information about candidates for voters. Decreased access to information would make nonpartisan elections more difficult especially for the poor and uneducated who often lack access to higher information costs.

Favoritism of Wealthy Candidates

Nonpartisan elections favor wealthy candidates because wealthy candidates are more likely to have access to non-party political resources, while lower and middle class candidates are more dependent on party resources (Hawley 1973).

Reduced Campaign Transparency

Nonpartisan elections do not reduce the influence of political parties; they merely conceal the involvement. Officially nonpartisan elections often become very partisan with partisan groups and political parties themselves actively involved in campaigns. However, a voter would be unaware of the candidate's affiliation unless he or she looked at the candidate's campaign disclosures.

Incumbent Advantage

Nonpartisan elections give an edge to incumbent candidates. Without party labels, the only easily accessible information available to voters is incumbency.

ACTION RECOMMENDED

Any bill that would have a negative impact on a citizen's ability to exercise his/her right to vote should be rejected. As stated above, non-partisan elections have a negative impact on voter education and voter turnout. The General Assembly should therefore oppose SB 4,5,6,8, 9 and 54.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED, this 22st day February, 2013

AN ACT

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Article 5 of Chapter 4 of Title 10 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to self-service storage facilities, is revised as follows:

"ARTICLE 5

10-4-210.

This article shall be known and may be cited as the 'Georgia Self-service Storage Facility Act of 2013.'

10-4-211.

For purposes of this article, the term:

(1) 'E-mail' means an electronic message or an executable program or computer file that contains an image of a message that is transmitted between two or more computers or electronic terminals. The term includes electronic messages that are transmitted within or between computer networks.

~~(1)~~(2) 'Last known address' means that the street address, post office box address, or e-mail address provided by the occupant in the latest rental agreement or the address provided by the occupant in a subsequent written notice of a change of address by hand delivery, verified mail, or e-mail.

~~(2)~~(3) 'Occupant' means a person, his or her sublessee, successor, or assign entitled to the use of the storage space at a self-service storage facility under a rental agreement, to the exclusion of others.

(3)(4) 'Owner' means the owner, operator, lessor, or sublessor of a self-service storage facility, his or her agent, or any other person authorized ~~by him~~ to manage the facility or to receive rent from an occupant under a rental agreement.

(4)(5) 'Personal property' means movable property not affixed to land and includes, but is not limited to, goods, wares, merchandise, motor vehicles, trailers, watercraft, and household items and furnishings.

(5)(6) 'Rental agreement' means any agreement or lease, written or oral, that establishes or modifies the terms, conditions, rules, or any other provisions concerning the use and occupancy of a self-service storage facility.

(6)(7) 'Self-service storage facility' means any real property designed and used for the purpose of renting or leasing individual storage space to occupants who are to have access to such for the purpose of storing and removing personal property. No occupant shall use a self-service storage facility for residential purposes. A self-service storage facility is not a warehouse within the meaning of Article 1 of this chapter, known as the 'Georgia State Warehouse Act,' and the provisions of law relative to bonded public warehousemen shall not apply to the owner of a self-service storage facility. A self-service storage facility is not a safe-deposit box or vault maintained by banks, trust companies, or other financial entities.

(8) 'Verified mail' means the method of mailing that is offered by the United States Postal Service or statutory overnight delivery that provides evidence of mailing.

The owner of a self-service storage facility and his or her heirs, executors, administrators, successors, and assigns have a lien upon all personal property located at a self-service storage facility for rent, labor, or other charges, present or future, in relation to the personal property and for expenses necessary for its preservation or expenses reasonably incurred in its sale or other disposition pursuant to this article. The lien provided for in this Code section is superior to any other lien or security interest except those which are perfected and recorded prior to the date of the rental agreement in Georgia in the name of the occupant, either in the county of the occupant's last known address or in the county where the self-service storage facility is located, except any tax lien as otherwise provided by law and except any lienholder with an interest in the property of whom the owner has knowledge either through the disclosure provision of the rental agreement or through other written notice. The lien attaches as of the date the personal property is brought to the self-service storage facility.

Provided that it complies with the requirements of this Code section, an owner may enforce the lien without judicial intervention. ~~The owner~~ Owner shall obtain from the occupant a written rental agreement which includes the following language:

This agreement, made and entered into this _____ day of _____, _____, by and between _____, hereinafter called Owner, and _____, hereinafter called Occupant, whose last known address is _____. For the consideration hereinafter stated, ~~the~~ Owner agrees to let ~~the~~ Occupant use and occupy a space in the self-service storage facility, known as _____, situated in the City of _____, County of _____, State of Georgia, and more particularly described as follows: Building #_____, Space #_____, Size _____. Said space is to be occupied and used for the purposes specified herein and subject to the conditions set forth for a period of _____, beginning on the _____ day of _____, _____, and continuing month to month until terminated.

'Space,' as used in this agreement, will be that part of the self-service storage facility as described above. ~~The~~ Occupant agrees to pay ~~the~~ Owner, as payment for the use of the space and improvements thereon, the monthly sum of $_____. Monthly installments are payable in advance on or before the first of each month, in the amount of $_____, and a like amount for each month thereafter, until the termination of this agreement.

If any monthly installment is not paid by the ~~tenth~~ seventh calendar day of the month due, or if any check given in payment is dishonored by the financial institution on which it is drawn, Occupant shall be deemed to be in default.

Occupant further agrees to pay the sum of one month's fees, which shall be used as a clean-up and maintenance fund, and is to be used, if required, for the repair of any damage done to the space and to clean up the space at the termination of the agreement. In the event that the space is left in a good state of repair, and in a broom-swept condition, then this amount shall be refunded to ~~the~~ Occupant. However, it is agreed to between the parties that ~~the~~ Owner may set off any claims it may have against ~~the~~ Occupant from this fund.

The space named herein is to be used by ~~the~~ Occupant solely for the purpose of storing any personal property belonging to ~~the~~ Occupant. ~~The~~ Occupant agrees not to store any explosives or any highly inflammable goods or any other goods in the space which would cause danger to the space. ~~The~~ Occupant agrees that the property will not be used for any unlawful purposes and ~~the~~ Occupant agrees not to commit waste, nor alter, nor affix signs on the space, and to keep the space in good condition during the term of this agreement.

OWNER HAS A LIEN ON ALL PERSONAL PROPERTY STORED IN OCCUPANT'S SPACE FOR RENT, LABOR, OR OTHER CHARGES, PRESENT OR FUTURE, IN RELATION TO THE PERSONAL PROPERTY, AND FOR ITS PRESERVATION OR EXPENSES REASONABLY INCURRED IN ITS SALE OR OTHER DISPOSITION PURSUANT TO THIS AGREEMENT. PERSONAL PROPERTY STORED IN OCCUPANT'S SPACE WILL BE SOLD OR OTHERWISE DISPOSED OF IF NO PAYMENT HAS BEEN RECEIVED FOR A CONTINUOUS THIRTY-DAY PERIOD AFTER DEFAULT. IN ADDITION, UPON OCCUPANT'S DEFAULT, OWNER MAY WITHOUT NOTICE DENY OCCUPANT ACCESS TO THE PERSONAL PROPERTY STORED IN OCCUPANT'S SPACE UNTIL SUCH TIME AS PAYMENT IS RECEIVED. IF ANY MONTHLY INSTALLMENT IS NOT MADE BY THE ~~TENTH~~ SEVENTH CALENDAR DAY OF THE MONTH DUE, OR IF ANY CHECK GIVEN IN PAYMENT IS DISHONORED BY THE FINANCIAL INSTITUTION ON WHICH IT IS DRAWN, THE OCCUPANT IS IN DEFAULT FROM DATE PAYMENT WAS DUE.

For purposes of Owner's lien: 'personal property' means movable property, not affixed to land, and includes, but is not limited to, goods, wares, merchandise, motor vehicles, trailers, watercraft, household items, and furnishings; 'last known address' means ~~that the street address or post office box address provided by the occupant~~ Occupant in the latest rental agreement or the address provided by ~~the occupant~~ Occupant in a subsequent written notice of a change of address by hand delivery, verified mail, or e-mail.

The Owner's lien is superior to any other lien or security interest, except those which are evidenced by a certificate of title or perfected and recorded prior to the date of this rental agreement in Georgia, in the name of ~~the~~ Occupant, either in the county of ~~the~~ Occupant's 'last known address' or in the county where the self-service storage facility is located, except any tax lien as provided by law and except those liens or security interests of whom ~~the~~ Owner has knowledge through ~~the~~ Occupant's disclosure in this rental agreement or through other written notice. Occupant attests that the personal property in his Occupant's space(s) is free and clear of all liens and secured interests except for _____. ~~The~~ Owner's lien attaches as of the date the personal property is brought to the self-service storage facility.

Except as otherwise specifically provided in this rental agreement, the exclusive care, custody, and control of any and all personal property stored in the leased space shall remain vested in ~~the~~ Occupant. ~~The~~ Owner does not become a bailee of ~~the~~ Occupant's personal property by the enforcement of ~~the~~ Owner's lien.

If Occupant has been in default continuously for thirty (30) days, Owner may enforce its lien, provided Owner shall comply with the following procedure:

~~The~~ Occupant shall be notified ~~in writing by delivery in person or by certified mail or statutory overnight delivery to the last known address of Occupant~~ of Owner's intent to enforce Owner's lien by written notice delivered in person, by verified mail, or by e-mail. ~~The~~ Owner also shall notify other parties with superior liens or security interests as defined in this rental agreement. A Such notice given pursuant to this rental agreement shall be presumed delivered as of the date indicated on the proof of delivery or, if there is no proof of delivery, on the fourteenth day after sending as shown by sent when it is deposited with the United States Postal Service or the statutory overnight delivery service properly addressed with postage or delivery fees prepaid or sent by e-mail. If Owner sends notice of a pending sale of property to Occupant's last known e-mail address and does not receive a nonautomated response or a receipt of delivery to the e-mail address, Owner shall send notice of the sale to Occupant by verified mail to Occupant's last known postal address before proceeding with the sale.

Owner's notice to Occupant shall include an itemized statement of ~~the~~ Owner's claim showing the sum due; at the time of the notice; and the date when the sum became due. ~~It shall briefly and generally describe the personal property subject to~~ ~~the lien. The description shall be reasonably adequate to permit the person(s) notified to identify it, except that any container included, but not limited to, a trunk, valise, or box that is locked, fastened, sealed, or tied in a manner which deters immediate access to its contents may be described as such without describing its contents.~~ Owner's notice shall notify Occupant of denial of access to the personal property and provide the name, street address, e-mail address, and telephone number of the Owner or its designated agent, whom the Occupant may contact to respond to this notice. Owner's notice shall demand payment within a specified time, not less than fourteen (14) days after delivery of the notice. It shall state that, unless the claim is paid, within the time stated in the notice, the personal property will be advertised for public sale to the highest bidder, and will be sold at a public sale to the highest bidder, at a specified time and place.

After the expiration of the time given in Owner's notice, Owner shall publish an advertisement of the public sale to the highest bidder, once a week, for two consecutive weeks, ~~in a newspaper of general circulation where the self-service storage facility is located~~ the legal organ for the county where the self-service storage facility is located. The sale shall be deemed commercially reasonable if at least three (3) independent bidders attend the sale at the time and place advertised. 'Independent bidder' means a bidder who is not related to and who has no controlling interest in, or common pecuniary interest with, Owner or any other bidder. The advertisement shall include: a brief and general description of the personal property, reasonably adequate to permit its identification; the address of the self-service storage facility, and the number, if any, of the space where the personal property is located, and the name of the Occupant; and the time, place, and manner of the public sale. The public sale to the highest bidder shall take place not sooner than fifteen (15) days after the first publication. ~~If there is no newspaper of general circulation where the self-service storage facility is located, the advertisement shall be posted at least ten (10) days before the date of the public sale and in not less than six (6) conspicuous places in the neighborhood where the self-service storage facility is located.~~ Regardless of whether a sale involves the property of more than one Occupant, a single advertisement may be used to advertise the disposal of property at the sale. A public sale includes offering the property on a publicly accessible website that regularly conducts online auctions of personal property. Such sale shall be considered incidental to the self-storage business and no license shall be required.

If no one purchases the property at the public sale and if the Owner has complied with the foregoing procedures, the Owner may otherwise dispose of the property and shall notify the Occupant of the action taken. Any sale or disposition of the personal property shall be held at the self-service storage facility or at the nearest suitable place to where the personal property is held or stored.

Before any sale or other disposition of personal property pursuant to this agreement, the Occupant may pay the amount necessary to satisfy the lien and the reasonable expenses incurred and thereby redeem the personal property and thereafter the Owner shall have no liability to any person with respect to such personal property.

A Purchaser in good faith of the personal property sold to satisfy Owner's lien takes the property free of any rights of persons against whom the lien was valid, despite noncompliance by ~~the~~ Owner with the requirements of this agreement.

In the event of a sale, ~~the~~ Owner may satisfy his or her lien from the proceeds of the sale. ~~The~~ Owner shall hold the balance of the proceeds, if any, for ~~the~~ Occupant or any notified secured interest holder. If not claimed within two years of the date of sale, the balance of the proceeds shall be disposed of in accordance with Article 5 of Chapter 12 of Title 44, the 'Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act.' In no event shall ~~the~~ Owner's liability exceed the proceeds of the sale.

If the rental agreement contains a limit on the value of property stored in Occupant's storage space, the limit shall be deemed to be the maximum value of the property stored in that space.

If the property upon which the lien is claimed is a motor vehicle, trailer, or watercraft and rent and other charges related to the property remain unpaid or unsatisfied for 60 days following the maturity of the obligation to pay rent, Owner may have the property towed in lieu of foreclosing on the lien. If a motor vehicle, trailer, or watercraft is towed as authorized in this section, Owner shall not be liable for the motor vehicle, trailer, or watercraft or any damages to the motor vehicle, trailer, or watercraft once the tower takes possession of the property.

Nothing in this article shall be construed as in any manner impairing or affecting the right of the parties to create additional rights, duties, and obligations in and by virtue of the rental agreement. The rights provided by this article shall be in addition to all other rights allowed by law to a creditor against his or her debtor.

10-4-215.

All rental agreements entered into before July 1, ~~1982~~ 2013, and not extended or renewed after that date, and the rights and duties and interests flowing from them shall remain valid and may be enforced or terminated in accordance with their terms or as permitted by any other statute or law of this state."

SECTION 2.

This Act shall become effective on July 1, 2013.

SECTION 3.

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

On the adoption of the substitute, there were no objections, and the committee substitute was adopted.

The report of the committee, which was favorable to the passage of the bill by substitute, was agreed to.

The Senate Transportation Committee offered the following substitute to SB 70:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Article 4 of Chapter 2 of Title 32 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the Department of Transportation's power to contract generally, so as to change the type of projects eligible for design-build contracts and the procurement process for such contracts; to provide for related matters; to repeal conflicting laws; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Article 4 of Chapter 2 of Title 32 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the Department of Transportation's power to contract generally, is amended by revising Code Section 32-2-81, relating to the procedures for awarding design-build contracts by the Department of Transportation, as follows:

"32-2-81.

(a) As used in this Code section, the term 'design-build procedure' means a method of contracting under which the department contracts with another party for the party to both design and build the structures, facilities, systems, and other items specified in the contract.

(b) The department may use the design-build procedure for buildings, bridges and approaches, rail corridors, technology deployments, and limited or controlled access projects or projects that may be constructed within existing rights of way where the scope of work can be clearly defined or when a significant savings in project delivery time can be attained.

(c) When the department determines that it is in the best interests of the public, the department may combine any or all of the environmental services, utility relocation services, right of way services, design services, and construction phases of a public road or other transportation purpose project into a single contract using a design-build procedure. Design-build contracts may be advertised and awarded notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph (1) of subsection (d) of Code Section 32-2-61. However, construction activities ~~may~~ shall not begin on any portion of such projects until title to the necessary rights of way and easements for the construction of that portion of the project has vested in the state or a local governmental entity and all railroad crossing and utility agreements have been executed.

(d) The department shall adopt by rule procedures for administering design-build contracts. Such procedures shall include, but not be limited to:

(1) Prequalification requirements;

(2) Public advertisement procedures;

(3) ~~Scope of service requirements;~~

(4) ~~Letters of interest~~ Request for qualification requirements;

~~(5)(4) Request for proposals requirements. Requests for proposal shall include the applicable percentage to be applied to each evaluation criterion and the relative weight to be assigned to each;~~

~~(6)(5) Criteria for evaluating technical information and project costs;~~

~~(7)(6) Criteria for selection and award process, provided that the rules shall specify that the criteria for selection shall consist of the following minimum two components~~ for any two-step procurement process:

(A) A statement of qualifications from which the department will determine a list of qualified firms for the project, provided that, if the department determines it is in the state's best interest, it may omit this requirement and move directly to a one-step procurement process through the issuance of a request for proposal from which the department may select the lowest qualified bidder; and

(B) From the list of qualified firms as provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, a technical proposal and a price proposal from each firm from which the department shall select the lowest qualified bidder; provided, however, that a or, in the event the department uses the best value procurement process, the request for proposal shall specify the requirements necessary for the selection of the best value proposer which shall include, at a minimum, a weighted cost component and a technical component. A proposal ~~will~~ shall only be considered nonresponsive if it does not contain all the information and level of detail requested in the request for proposal. "51-3-3.

(a) As used in this Code section, the term 'possessor of land' means the land owner, occupant of the land, or lessee of the land.

(b) A lawful possessor of land owes no duty of care to a trespasser except to refrain from causing a willful or wanton injury.

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this Code section, a lawful possessor of land may be subject to liability for death or serious bodily harm to a child trespasser caused by an artificial condition upon such land if:

(1) The place where the artificial condition exists is one upon which the possessor knows or has reason to know that children are likely to trespass;

(3) The children because of their youth do not discover the artificial condition or realize the risk involved in intermeddling with it or in coming within the area made dangerous by it;

(4) The utility to the possessor of maintaining the artificial condition and the burden of eliminating the danger were slight as compared with the risk to the children involved; and

Coverdell Legislative Office Building, Room 319-B

SUBJECT: State Auditor's Certification
Senate Bill 143 (LC 21 1999)

Dear Senator Millar:

This bill would amend general provisions relative to the "Public Retirement Systems Standards Law." Specifically, this bill would clarify that the duties of the boards of trustees of public retirement systems, as outlined in Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, are in addition to the common law duties of the trustee as described in Title 53 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated. This would not apply in the event the duties are inconsistent.

This is to certify that this bill is a nonfiscal retirement bill as defined in the Public Retirement Systems Standards Law.

Respectfully,

/s/ Greg S. Griffin
State Auditor

Code Section 20-2-133 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to free public instruction, is amended by revising subsection (b) as follows:

"(b)(1) Any child, except a child in a youth development center as specifically provided in this paragraph, who is in the physical or legal custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice or the Department of Human Services;~~;~~ ~~or~~ in a placement operated by the Department of Human Services or the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities;~~;~~ or in a facility or placement paid for by the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Human Services or any of its divisions, or the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities and who is physically present within the geographical area served by a local unit of administration for any length of time is eligible for enrollment in the educational programs of that local unit of administration; provided, however, that the child meets the age eligibility requirements established by this article. The local unit of administration of the school district in which such child is present shall be responsible for the provision of all educational programs, including special education and related services, at no charge as so long as the child is physically present in the school district. A child will be considered in the physical or legal custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice or the Department of Human Services or any of its divisions if custody has been awarded either temporarily or permanently by court order or by voluntary agreement, or if the child has been admitted or placed according to an individualized treatment or service plan of the Department of Human Services. A child will be considered in a facility or placement paid for or operated by the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities if the child has been admitted or placed according to an individualized treatment or service plan of the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities. No child in a youth development center, regardless of his or her custody status, shall be eligible for enrollment in the educational programs of the local unit of administration of the school district in which that youth development center is located. No child or youth in the custody of the Department of Corrections or the Department of Juvenile Justice and confined in a facility as a result of a sentence imposed by a court shall be eligible for enrollment in the educational programs of the local unit of administration of the school district where such child or youth is being held.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this Code section, placement in a facility by a parent or by another local unit of administration shall not create an obligation, financial or otherwise, on the part of the local unit of administration in which the facility is located to educate the child.

(3) For any child described in paragraph (1) of this subsection, the custodian of or placing agency for the child shall notify the appropriate local unit of administration at least five days in advance of the move, when possible, when the child is to be moved from one local unit of administration to another.

(4) When the custodian of or placing agency for any child notifies a local unit of administration, as provided in paragraph (3) of this subsection, that the child may become eligible for enrollment in the educational programs of a local unit of administration, such local unit of administration shall request the transfer of the educational records and Individualized Education Programs (~~IEP's~~) and all education related evaluations, assessments, social histories, and observations of the child from the appropriate local unit of administration no later than ten days after receiving notification. Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the custodian of the records has the obligation to transfer these records and the local unit of administration has the right to receive, review, and utilize these records. Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, upon the request of a local unit of administration responsible for providing educational services to a child described in paragraph (1) of this subsection, the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities, or the Department of Human Services shall furnish to the local unit of administration all medical and educational records in the possession of the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities, or the Department of Human Services pertaining to any such child, except where consent of a parent or legal guardian is required in order to authorize the release of any of such records, in which event the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities, or the Department of Human Services shall obtain such consent from the parent or guardian prior to such release.

(5) Any local unit of administration which serves a child pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subsection shall receive in the form of annual grants in state funding for that child the difference between the actual state funds received for that child pursuant to Code Section 20-2-161 and the reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in educating that child, calculated pursuant to regulations adopted by the State Board of Education. Each local board of education shall be held harmless by the state from expending local funds for educating students pursuant to this Code section; provided, however, that this shall only apply to students who are unable to leave the facility in which they have been placed.

(6) Enrollment of an eligible child pursuant to this Code section shall be effectuated in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by the State Board of Education.

(7) For purposes of the accountability program provided for in Part 3 of Article 2 of Chapter 14 of this title, all facilities serving children described in paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be, consistent with department rules and regulations, treated as a single local education agency; provided, however, that this paragraph shall not be construed to alleviate any responsibilities of the local unit of administration of the school district in which any such children are physically present for the provision of education for any such children.

~~(7)~~(8) The Department of Education, the Department of Human Services, the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities, and the local units of administration where Department of Education, Department of Juvenile Justice, Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities, or Department of Human Services placements, facilities, or contract facilities are located shall jointly develop procedures binding on all agencies implementing the provisions of this Code section applicable to children and youth in the physical or legal custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice, ~~or~~ under the care or physical or legal custody of the Department of Human Services, or under the physical custody of the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities."

Senate Bill 142 (LC 21 2051)

Dear Senator Millar:

This bill would amend provisions relating to retirement benefits paid under the Georgia Judicial Retirement System. If this legislation is enacted, the board of trustees would be authorized to determine the time and circumstances of paying benefits to members, to the extent necessary, to preserve the System's status as a qualified plan under federal law. Additionally, this legislation would require the board to discontinue the payment of retirement benefits to any member who returns to the service of the state. This would include service directly or indirectly as or for an independent contractor. It should be noted that any retired member who is subsequently elected to the General Assembly may continue to receive his or her retirement benefits.

This is to certify that this bill is a nonfiscal retirement bill as defined in the Public Retirement Systems Standards Law.

Respectfully,

/s/ Greg S. Griffin
State Auditor

The Senate Retirement Committee offered the following substitute to SB 142:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Article 6 of Chapter 23 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to salary, retirement, death, and disability benefits under the Georgia Judicial Retirement System, so as to provide that the board of trustees shall have the authority to determine the time and circumstances of paying benefits to the extent necessary to preserve the retirement system's status as a qualified plan under federal law; to provide that a prohibition against a person receiving a pension from accepting public employment shall apply to persons who become members on or after July 1, 2014, without regard to age; to require notice to the board of trustees of such employment; to provide for penalties; to repeal conflicting laws; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Article 6 of Chapter 23 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to salary, retirement, death, and disability benefits under the Georgia Judicial Retirement System, is amended in Code Section 47-23-102, relating to vesting and benefits upon retirement, by designating the existing portion of such Code section as subsection (a) and by adding a new subsection to read as follows:

"(b) The board is authorized to provide by rule or regulation for the payment of benefits to members or beneficiaries of the retirement system at a time and under circumstances not provided for in this chapter to the extent that such payment is required to maintain the retirement system as a qualified retirement plan for the purposes of federal income tax laws and regulations."

SECTION 2.

Said article is further amended by revising Code Section 47-23-109, relating to cessation of retirement allowance for resuming state service, as follows:

"47-23-109.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this Code section, if any retired member ~~who has not yet reached normal retirement age~~ returns to the service of the state in any position, including, without limitation, service directly or indirectly as or for an independent contractor, except as a member of the General Assembly, his or her retirement allowance shall cease. Upon cessation of such service, the retired member, after proper notification to the board, shall receive the same retirement allowance which he or she was receiving prior to returning to state service, calculated with any increases granted during the period of compensation.

(b) The retirement allowance of a retired member ~~who has reached normal retirement age and~~ who returns to the service of the state in any position, including, without limitation, service directly or indirectly as or for an independent contractor, other than as a member of the General Assembly shall not cease, provided that such member performs no more than 1,040 hours of such service in any calendar year.

(c) Any state entity that employs a retired plan member, other than for service in the General Assembly as provided in subsection (a) of this Code section, shall within 30 days of the employee's accepting employment notify the board in writing stating the name of the plan member and the number of hours the employee is expected to work annually and shall provide such other information as the board may request. If the retired plan member performs more than 1,040 hours of work in any calendar year, the employer shall so notify the board as soon as such information is available. Any employer that fails to notify the board as required by this subsection shall reimburse the retirement system for any benefits wrongfully paid. It shall be the duty of the retired plan member seeking employment by the employer to notify the employer of his or her retirement status prior to accepting such position. If a retired plan member fails to so notify the employer and the employer becomes liable to the retirement system, the plan member shall hold the employer harmless for all such liability."

Substitute to Senate Bill 142
(LC 21 2123S)

Dear Senator Millar:

This substitute bill would amend provisions relating to retirement benefits paid under the Georgia Judicial Retirement System. In the event the employer fails to notify the board, the employer may be required to reimburse the board for benefits that have been wrongfully paid.

REPORT OF THE MINORITY
IN THE MATTER OF HB 266
February 28, 2013

Mr. Bob Ewing
Secretary of the Senate
353 State Capitol
Atlanta, Georgia 30334

Dear Bob,

Pursuant to Section 2-1.6(a), I submit the following minority report in reference to HB 266, which received a favorable report from the Senate Finance Committee on February 27, 2013.

Since 2007, the Senate Finance Committee has made every attempt to be fiscally responsible in its actions on bills before the committee, very carefully and deliberately maintaining the balance of protecting the state's revenue stream while guarding the financial burden on Georgia's taxpayers.

House Bill 80, which sought to make significant changes to provisions related to the taxation of motor vehicles, had a rocky start. Being introduced on January 16, 2013, the bill passed out of the House Ways and Means Committee on February 6, was recommitted to the committee on February 8, and then passed out of committee a second time on February 12- all without a single fiscal note. On February 14, HB 80 passed on the House floor with only four dissenting votes, all while being touted as a revenue neutral bill.

On February 16, 2013, notice that a hearing would be held on Monday, February 18 at 2:00 p.m. was received. This notice, being late on a Saturday afternoon, was in violation of the spirit of Senate Rule 2-1.7 requiring 24 hours-notice prior to a scheduled meeting. Further, in the meeting of the Majority Caucus on February 14 the announcement was made that no committees would meet on February 18, allowing senators to schedule work in their districts.

At the time of this writing, the minutes of that lengthy February 18 meeting are unavailable. A Fiscal Note was provided that day which indicated that the fiscal impact of the bill would be a net increase in revenue to the state of $141 million over the years 2013-2017. Specifically, the changes to how Fair Market Value of vehicles would be calculated under HB 80's provisions would result in an additional $316 million in taxes collected, and changes to how rental cars and leased cars would be taxed would result in a reduction in revenue of $150 million. Changes in avoided fees for failure to transmit a title within 10 days would result in a revenue reduction of $25 million. No action was taken on HB 80 at the February 18 meeting.

On February 19, a second Senate Finance Committee meeting was held to debate the issues surrounding HB 80. There was much concern about passing the huge tax increase onto Georgia's automobile owners. No other committee meetings were held until February 27 at 8:00 a.m. The meeting notice stated an agenda of HB 80.

In the 8:00 a.m. meeting on February 27, instead of discussing HB 80, the discussion centered around a substitute to HB 266. HB 266 was intended to change Georgia's Code to reflect changes made by three federal tax bills dealing with the federal income tax code. The bill had passed the House on February 26 and had a Fiscal Note indicating an estimated tax cut of $79.2 million over tax years 2013-2017. The Senate Finance Committee substitute combined the measures contained in HB 80 and HB 266. While both bills contained changes to Title 48, the subject matter of the two bills was very different which brings into question its constitutionality (Article III, Section V, Paragraph III).

Throughout the Finance Committee debate, it was often pointed out that an extreme burden would be placed upon leasing companies beginning March 1, 2013 if the legislation did not pass and get signed into law before that date.

At approximately 9:15 a.m. the Finance Committee suspended. Session began at approximately 10:00 a.m. and immediately suspended to allow the Finance Committee to reconvene. A second substitute bill to HB 266 was introduced to the Committee by the staff of the Lt. Governor's office.

After a very rushed discussion, several amendments were offered. The Finance Committee approved some of the amendments while others failed. The Bill's sponsor pleaded for the compliance bill to be passed without the addition of the language from HB 80. The committee passed the substitute language to HB 266 without knowing the fiscal impact to either the state or the taxpayers of Georgia.

A commitment was made to the committee that the bill would not be voted on by the full Senate without a Fiscal Note.

While the substitute to HB 266 contains some probable tax cuts, the bill likely includes some huge tax increases to the common Georgia taxpayer who purchases an automobile under the new system. I voted against the bill in committee because of the haste in which the bill was prepared, the breach of the committee's fiduciary responsibility and the uncertainty of who would bear the tax burdens likely to be in the bill.

Respectfully submitted this 28th day of February, 2013,

/s/ Bill

SUBJECT: Fiscal Note
House Bill 266 Substitute
(LC 34 3746S)

Dear Chairman Channell:

The Georgia State University Fiscal Research Center provided the following narrative on the revenue impact of this bill:

Section 1 of this legislation amends the tax code of Georgia to incorporate the 2012 and early 2013 changes to the federal income tax code. During this time, three Federal tax bills with consequences to state revenues were signed into law. These bills include the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 (ATRA), the FAA Air Transportation Modernization and Safety Improvement Act, and the Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act.

Section 1 incorporates all of the federal tax changes of the above mentioned legislation that have been adopted in the past into the Georgia tax code with the following three exceptions which have never been adopted. First, ATRA increases the maximum allowable deduction for section 179 property to $500,000 and increases the phase-out threshold to $2,000,000. Second, ATRA also expands the definition of section 179 property to include qualified real property for tax years beginning in 2012 and 2013. Lastly, ATRA extends and modifies the placed-in-service dates for certain property associated with the bonus depreciation deduction. This legislation also extends the option to forego bonus depreciation deductions for credits and extends for 2013 the additional first year auto depreciation of $8,000.

By not conforming to the Section 179 provision included in ATRA, the maximum deduction for Georgia tax purposes for this deduction becomes $139,000 with a phase-out threshold of $560,000 for 2012 and $25,000 with a phase-out threshold of $200,000 in 2013. As an alternative, this legislation provides that the maximum deduction for purposes of Georgia taxable income is equal to $250,000 for 2012 and 2013 with a phase-out threshold of $800,000.

The revenue effect of adopting all federal provisions is shown in Table 1. In addition, the costs associated with each of the federal provisions not included in this legislation are shown, as is the estimate for the special Section 179 provision for 2013. The value of the exclusions are subtracted from the cost of adopting all provisions and the value of the special Section 179 provision is added to the total to determine the combined net effect of the provisions included in Section 1 of this legislation.

Revenue Effect of HB266 – Section 1*

	Fiscal Years/$ in Millions
	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	Total 2013-2017
Revenue Effect of adopting all federal provisions	-110.6	-351.8	21.7	112.1	69.6	-259.0
Less Exceptions –
Section 179 provision	-9.9	-34.5	1.3	10.3	7.3	-25.5
Section 179 qualified real property provision	-7.6	-26.6	1.0	7.9	5.6	-19.6
Bonus depreciation, etc. provision	-73.8	-252.5	21.8	89.3	63.5	-151.7

Revenue Effect of adopting all federal provisions less the exception provisions	-19.4	-38.2	-2.3	4.6	-6.7	-62.1
Revenue Effect of Special Georgia modification - Increase Section 179 max. deduction to $250,000 in 2012 and 2013	-6.6	-23.1	0.9	6.9	4.9	-17.1
Net Impact of Section 1 of HB 266 on State Revenues	-26.0	-61.3	-1.4	11.5	-1.8	-79.2

*Totals may not add due to rounding.

Section 2 of this legislation clarifies existing law regarding the R&D credit under O.C.C.A §48-7-40.12 and, thus, has no fiscal impact on state revenues. However, based on their different interpretation of the 2012 House Bill 868 amendments to such code section – which for the first time allowed all taxpayers earning the credit to take them against employee tax withholding – multiple taxpayers are seeking to offset employee withholding liabilities with credit carryforwards from tax years before 2012; DOR has indicated those claims total at least $100m. The proposed legislation is effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2012, and if enacted it will make clear that the tax treatment sought by these taxpayers and others who might be similarly situated is not permitted.

Section 3 clarifies the exemption from sales tax for agricultural inputs. This section clarifies that energy used for agricultural purposes does not include fuels subject to the prepaid state tax. In addition, this section provides that a dealer that performs both agricultural and manufacturing operations at the same location may avail itself of either the manufacturing related exemptions or the agricultural related exemptions established in 2012 House Bill 386 but not both in any calendar year. These provisions make clear the intent of 2012 House Bill 386. As such, these provisions are not expected to have any revenue impact relative to the expected revenue changes at the time of passage.

Section 4 alters the burden of proof on dealers in certain sales. Under current law, the burden of proving that a sale of tangible personal property is not a sale at retail shall be upon the person who makes the sale unless such person takes from the purchaser a certificate stating that the property is purchased for resale or is otherwise exempt. This section provides that the person must accept the certificate in good faith and then specifies conditions necessary to qualify as good faith. These conditions are designed to improve compliance with the specific exemptions allowed under Georgia law and provide a means for the Department of Revenue to audit dealers who accept such certificates. This provision would be expected to increase Georgia revenues by improving compliance and enhancing audit efficiency and effectiveness. It is not possible to quantify the amount of improvement that would be expected.

Sincerely,

/s/ Greg S. Griffin
State Auditor

If such local current collection amount is equal to or within 1 percent of the local target collection amount, then the state title ad valorem tax rate and the local title ad valorem tax rate for such tax year shall remain at the rate specified in this subparagraph for that year. If the local current collection amount is more than 1 percent greater than the local target collection amount, then the local title ad valorem tax rate for such tax year shall be reduced automatically by operation of this division by such percentage amount as may be necessary so that, if such rate had been in effect for the calendar year under review, the local current collection amount would have produced an amount equal to the local target collection amount, and the state title ad valorem tax rate for such tax year shall be increased by an equal amount to maintain the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate at the rate specified in division (ii) of this subparagraph. If the local current collection amount is more than 1 percent less than the local target collection amount, then the local title ad valorem tax rate for such tax year shall be increased automatically by operation of this division by such percentage amount as may be necessary so that, if such rate had been in effect for the calendar year under review, the local current collection amount would have produced an amount equal to the local target collection amount, and the state title ad valorem tax rate for such tax year shall be reduced by an equal amount to maintain the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate at the rate specified in division (ii) of this subparagraph. In the event of an adjustment of such ad valorem tax rates, by not later than January 31 of such tax year, the state revenue commissioner shall notify the tax commissioner of each county in this state of the adjusted rate amounts. amount and the state current collection amount for the preceding calendar year. If such state current collection amount is greater than, equal to, or within 1 percent of the state target collection amount after making the adjustment, if any, required in division (xiii) of this subparagraph, then the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate provided in division (ii) of this subparagraph shall remain at the rate specified in such division. If the state current collection amount is more than 1 percent less than the state target collection amount after making the adjustment, if any, required by division (xiii) of this subparagraph, then the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate provided in division (ii) of this subparagraph shall be increased automatically by operation of this division by such percentage amount as may be necessary so that, if such rate had been in effect for the calendar year under review, the state current collection amount would have produced an amount equal to the state target collection amount, and the state title ad valorem tax rate and the local title ad valorem tax rate for the tax year in which such increase in the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate shall become effective shall be adjusted from the rates specified in this subparagraph or division (xiii) of this subparagraph for such tax year such that the proceeds from such increase in the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate shall be allocated in full to the state. In the event of an adjustment of the combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate, by not later than August 31 of such tax year, the state revenue commissioner shall notify the tax commissioner of each county in this state of the adjusted combined state and local title ad valorem tax rate for the next calendar year. (C) The application for title and the state and local title ad valorem tax fees provided for in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall be paid to the tag agent in the county ~~in which the purchaser registers such motor vehicle~~ where the motor vehicle is to be registered and shall be paid at the time ~~the purchaser applies for a title and registers such motor vehicle~~ the application for a certificate of title is submitted or, in the case of an electronic title transaction, at the time when the electronic title transaction is finalized. In an electronic title transaction, the state and local title ad valorem tax fees shall be remitted electronically directly to the county tag agent. A dealer of new or used motor vehicles may accept such application for title and state and local title ad valorem tax fees on behalf of the

An additional penalty equal to 10 percent of the amount of such state and local title ad valorem tax fees shall be imposed if such payment is not transmitted within 60 days following the date of purchase. An additional ~~5 percent~~ penalty equal to 15 percent of the amount of such state and local title ad valorem tax fees shall be imposed if such payment is not transmitted within 90 days following the date of purchase, and an additional penalty equal to 20 percent of the amount of such state and local title ad valorem tax fees shall be imposed if such payment is not transmitted within 120 days following the date of purchase. An additional penalty equal to 25 percent of the amount of such state and local title ad valorem tax fees shall be imposed for each subsequent ~~month~~ 30 day period in which the payment is not transmitted.

(F) A dealer of new or used motor vehicles that accepts an application for title and state and local title ad valorem tax fees from a purchaser of a new or used motor vehicle and converts such fees to his or her own use shall be guilty of theft by conversion and, upon conviction, shall be punished as provided in Code Section 16-8-12.

(2) A person or entity acquiring a salvage title pursuant to subsection (b) of Code Section 40-3-36 shall not be subject to the fee specified in paragraph (1) of this subsection but shall be subject to a state title ad valorem tax fee in an amount equal to 1 percent of the fair market value of the motor vehicle. Such state title ad valorem tax fee shall be an alternative ad valorem tax as authorized by Article VII, Section I, Paragraph III(b)(3) of the Georgia Constitution.

in each such governing authority and school district during the same calendar month of 2012. This reduction shall be calculated by subtracting the amount of ad valorem tax on motor vehicles collected under Chapter 5 of ~~Title 48~~ this title in each such taxing jurisdiction from the amount of ad valorem tax on motor vehicles collected under Chapter 5 of ~~Title 48~~ this title in that taxing jurisdiction in the same calendar month of 2012. In the event that the local title ad valorem tax fee proceeds are insufficient to fully offset such reduction in ad valorem taxes on motor vehicles, the tag agent shall allocate a proportionate amount of the proceeds to each governing authority and to the board of education of each such school district, and any remaining shortfall shall be paid from the following month's local title ad valorem tax fee proceeds. In the event that a shortfall remains, the tag agent shall continue to first allocate local title ad valorem tax fee proceeds to offset such shortfalls until the shortfall has been fully repaid; and

(B) Of the proceeds remaining following the allocation and distribution under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the tag agent shall allocate and distribute to the county governing authority and to municipal governing authorities, the board of education of the county school district, and the board of education of any independent school district located in such county the remaining amount of those proceeds in the manner provided in this subparagraph. Such proceeds shall be deposited in the general fund of such governing authority or board of education and shall not be subject to any use or expenditure requirements provided for under any of the following described local sales and use taxes but shall be authorized to be expended in the same manner as authorized for the ad valorem tax revenues on motor vehicles under Chapter 5 of ~~Title 48~~ this title which would otherwise have been collected for such governing authority or board of education. Of such remaining proceeds:

(i) An amount equal to one-third of such proceeds shall be distributed to the board of education of the county school district and the board of education of each independent school district located in such county in the same manner as required for any local sales and use tax for educational purposes levied pursuant to Part 2 of Article 3 of Chapter 8 of ~~Title 48~~ this title currently in effect. If such tax is not currently in effect, such proceeds shall be distributed to such board or boards of education in the same manner as if such tax were in effect;

(ii)(I) Except as otherwise provided in this division, an amount equal to one-third of such proceeds shall be distributed to the governing authority of the county and the governing authority of each qualified municipality located in such county in the same manner as specified under the distribution certificate for the joint county and municipal sales and use tax under Article 2 of Chapter 8 of ~~Title 48~~ this title currently in effect.

(II) If such tax were never in effect, such proceeds shall be distributed to the governing authority of the county and the governing authority of each qualified municipality located in such county on a pro rata basis according to the ratio of the population that each such municipality bears to the population of the entire county.

(III) If such tax is currently in effect as well as a local option sales and use tax for educational purposes levied pursuant to a local constitutional amendment, an amount equal to one-third of such proceeds shall be distributed in the same manner as required under subdivision (I) of this division and an amount equal to one-third of such proceeds shall be distributed to the board of education of the county school district.

(IV) If such tax is not currently in effect and a local option sales and use tax for educational purposes levied pursuant to a local constitutional amendment is currently in effect, such proceeds shall be distributed to the board of education of the county school district and the board of education of any independent school district in the same manner as required under that local constitutional amendment.

(V) If such tax is not currently in effect and a homestead option sales and use tax under Article 2A of Chapter 8 of ~~Title 48~~ this title is in effect, such proceeds shall be distributed to the governing authority of the county, each qualified municipality, and each existing municipality in the same proportion as otherwise required under Code Section 48-8-104; and

(iii)(I) An amount equal to one-third of such proceeds shall be distributed to the governing authority of the county and the governing authority of each qualified municipality located in such county in the same manner as specified under an intergovernmental agreement or as otherwise required under the county special purpose local option sales and use tax under Part 1 of Article 3 of Chapter 8 of ~~Title 48~~ this title currently in effect; provided, however, that this subdivision shall not apply if subdivision (III) of division (ii) of this subparagraph is applicable.

(II) If such tax were in effect but expired and is not currently in effect, such proceeds shall be distributed to the governing authority of the county and the governing authority of each qualified municipality located in such county in the same manner as if such tax were still in effect according to the intergovernmental agreement or as otherwise required under the county special purpose local sales and use tax under Part 1 of Article 3 of Chapter 8 of ~~Title 48~~ this title for the 12 month period commencing at the expiration of such tax. If such tax is not renewed prior to the expiration of such 12 month period, such amount shall be distributed in accordance with subdivision (I) of division (ii) of this subparagraph; provided, however, that if a tax under Article 2 of Chapter 8 of ~~Title 48~~ this title is not in effect, such amount shall be distributed in accordance with subdivision (II) of division (ii) of this subparagraph.

(III) If such tax is not currently in effect in a county in which a tax is levied for purposes of a metropolitan area system of public transportation, as authorized by the amendment to the Constitution set out at Ga. L. 1964, p. 1008; the continuation of such amendment under Article XI, Section I, Paragraph IV(d) of the Constitution; and the laws enacted pursuant to such constitutional amendment, such proceeds shall be distributed to the governing body of the authority created by local Act to operate such metropolitan area system of public transportation.

SUBJECT: Fiscal Note
House Bill 266 Substitute
(LC 28 6655S)

Dear Lieutenant Governor Cagle and Chairman Hill:

The Georgia State University Fiscal Research Center provided the following narrative on the revenue impact of this bill:

Section 1 of this legislation amends the tax code of Georgia to incorporate the 2012 and early 2013 changes to the federal income tax code. During this time, three Federal tax bills with consequences to state revenues were signed into law. These bills include the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 (ATRA), the FAA Air Transportation Modernization and Safety Improvement Act, and the Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act.

Section 1 incorporates all of the federal tax changes of the above mentioned legislation that have been adopted in the past into the Georgia tax code with the following three exceptions which have never been adopted. First, ATRA increases the maximum allowable deduction for section 179 property to $500,000 and increases the phase-out threshold to $2,000,000. Second, ATRA also expands the definition of section 179 property to include qualified real property for tax years beginning in 2012 and 2013. Lastly, ATRA extends and modifies the placed-in-service dates for certain property associated with the bonus depreciation deduction. This legislation also extends the option to forego bonus depreciation deductions for credits and extends for 2013 the additional first year auto depreciation of $8,000.

By not conforming to the Section 179 provision included in ATRA, the maximum deduction for Georgia tax purposes for this deduction becomes $139,000 with a phase-out threshold of $560,000 for 2012 and $25,000 with a phase-out threshold of $200,000 in 2013. As an alternative, this legislation provides that the maximum deduction for purposes of Georgia taxable income is equal to $250,000 for 2012 and 2013 with a phase-out threshold of $800,000.

The revenue effect of adopting all federal provisions is shown in Table 1. In addition, the costs associated with each of the federal provisions not included in this legislation are shown, as is the estimate for the special Section 179 provision for 2013. The value of the exclusions are subtracted from the cost of adopting all provisions and the value of the special Section 179 provision is added to the total to determine the combined net effect of the provisions included in Section 1 of this legislation.

Section 2 of this legislation modifies the existing title fee legislation contained in 2012 House Bill 386 (HB 386) in several ways. First, the legislation provides that in the case of new vehicles, the title fee will be levied on the greater of retail selling price, including charges for labor, freight, delivery and similar charges, and dealer add-ons and markups, and excluding any rebate, reduction in value for the trade-in value of another motor vehicle, any extended warranty or maintenance agreement, finance, insurance, and interest charges for deferred payments billed separately, and any cash discounts provided by the selling dealer and taken at the time of sale or the average of the current fair market value and the current wholesale value as determined by the Georgia Department of Revenue (GDOR). The law, as currently written, levies the title fee on the book value of the motor vehicle as determined by GDOR. No change would be made to the application of the title fee in the case of used vehicles. This provision would increase title fee revenue compared to existing law. The revenue estimates assume an effective date of March 1, 2013. At this time, the date of enactment is uncertain. FY2013 estimates could be subject to change if the date of enactment is after March 1, 2013.

Based on invoice information provided by automobile dealers, the invoice value was about $3,800 higher per vehicle than the book value. Because vehicle sales can vary so much between transactions and to provide a range of estimates, three scenarios have been assumed for this difference between the book value used under current law and the invoice value that would be used under the proposed law. The less conservative scenario uses a value of $3,800 per new transaction. The moderate scenario uses a value of $3,000 per new transaction and the more conservative scenario assumes a value of $2,500 per new transaction. In this fiscal note, only the estimates for the conservative scenario are presented.

It is unclear when the Department of Revenue will be able to modify its information systems to directly implement this provision. In the interim, it will be necessary to manually override the book value in processing title fee transactions. The estimate for this provision does not account for any potential non-compliance due to difficulties in performing such overrides.

A second modification alters the title fee rate on qualified rental cars. Current law specifies a 1.5% title fee rate with revenues split equally between state and local governments. This bill would change that combined state and local rate to 1.25% and maintain the equal revenue sharing between state and local governments. This provision will result in a revenue loss to the state.

Third, this bill eliminates the use tax on leased vehicles; this applies only to vehicles leased on or after the date of enactment. This provision would reduce state revenues.

Fourth, this bill modifies the treatment of vehicles purchased in buy here-pay here transactions. Under HB 386, the title fee levied on vehicles purchased through this type of transaction was the same rate as the standard title fee, i.e., 6.5% in CY2013, 6.75% in CY2014, and 7% in other years. This legislation allows for a reduced title fee on these transactions. The rate would be 4.5% for vehicles purchased in CY2013, 4.75% for CY2014, and 5% in other years. As this legislation is currently written, the Department would have no method of identifying which transactions would be eligible for the lower rate. Therefore, the revenue estimate for this provision now assumes that all dealer purchased used vehicles could be subject to the lower title fee rate. Previous fiscal notes addressing this provision were based on the assumption that the lower rate would be applied only to actual BHPH deals. This provision would be effective for transactions occurring on or after July 1, 2013.

Lastly, the bill changes the timing for counties to remit payments to the Department of Revenue. Current law specifies that the county has 30 days after the end of the month to remit; this bill reduces this time to 20 days. This provision has no revenue impact.

Five administrative / timing adjustments are included in the revenue calculations to reflect potential changes to revenue impacts compared to the original fiscal note for HB 386. First, the fiscal note assumed that title fees paid in June would be recognized for revenue purposes in the current fiscal year. This meant that four months of title fee revenue would be received in FY 2013. Since local tax commissioners are not obligated to remit the funds to the state until July, it is possible that these revenues would not be recognized until the following fiscal year. This would reduce the expected title fee revenue in FY 2013 by one month of title fee revenue or $59 million. Second is the potential for one additional month of sales tax revenue. The original estimate for the title fee legislation (i.e., HB 386) did not account for the one month delay in remitting the sales tax to state government and consequently overstated the revenue loss associated with eliminating the sales tax. Because of the delay in remitting taxes to the state, the state will continue to receive one month of sales tax revenue after the implementation of the title fee legislation. This sales tax revenue will correspond to February vehicle sales. This is estimated at $43 million and partially offsets the loss from the one month of title fee revenue. The third adjustment relates to the sales tax remitted by dealers involved in ongoing buy here/pay here deals (BHPH). Under the current motor vehicle tax system, the total sales tax is not paid at the time of purchase in the case of BHPH deals. Instead, the purchaser makes monthly payments to the dealer and the dealer remits a portion of this payment to the state as sales tax. In the original sales tax estimate associated with HB 386, it was assumed that all dealer sales tax remittances relating to vehicle purchases would be eliminated after February 28, 2013. This assumption overstates the sales tax loss associated with HB 386 by $7 million in FY2013, $11 million in FY2014, and $4 million in FY2015. This is because the monthly sales tax associated with BHPH vehicles purchased prior to February 28, 2013 would continue to be remitted to the state. These remittances are expected to continue until the terms of the BHPH deals are complete, which is assumed to occur during FY2015. The fourth timing adjustment concerns the adjustment for the delay in implementing the title fee legislation. To produce the final revenue estimates for the title fee legislation in HB 386, the original FY2013 revenue estimates of the change associated with the sales tax, property tax, and title fee were used assuming an effective date of January 1, 2013, and each revenue stream was reduced by 25 percent. But since the original estimate from HB 386 was for only the last 6 months of FY2013, a 25 percent reduction of revenue accounts only for about a one and one-half month delay and not the full 2 month delay. Thus, the estimated revenue from title fees are too high as is the estimated revenue loss from sales tax. The $8 million revenue loss
