The President spoke briefly to the Senate:

Good morning!

Welcome back to the Senate chamber for the 2014 legislative session. I know we are going to do great things together. As we begin the difficult work that lies ahead all of us should take a moment to remember why we are here. Each of us was elected to represent people from across the state. To carry their hopes and dreams to Atlanta and work collaboratively and cooperatively to make our state even stronger, her future a little brighter.

This Senate is a special place. It is rightfully known as the General Assembly's deliberative body, the upper chamber. We follow in the footsteps of many great Georgians and work to uphold their legacy of wise statesmanship with what we begin here today. And so I hope you'll indulge me for just a moment as I share a few thoughts with you.

We are in uncharted territory this session. All of us, myself included, will face the voters earlier than ever. And inevitably the temptation will arise to score a couple of cheap political points. To posture down here in hopes of appealing to voters back home. I hope we can rise above that and remain true to our calling- not to be the best politicians we can be but to be the best legislators we can be. Together, let's do what is right and not what is easy. Let's worry about getting the job done this session and not worry about what we can do to be back here next session.

We face great challenges as a state, but also tremendous opportunities – opportunities to foster private sector job growth, opportunities to strengthen education, opportunities to protect the most vulnerable children in state care, and opportunities to encourage the potential in every Georgian. It will take some hard work and difficult decisions, but together we can ensure that Georgia's brightest days are always yet to come.

Thank you

The President announced the next order of business was the election of the Secretary of the Senate.

Senator Shafer of the 48th nominated the Honorable David A. Cook as Secretary of the Senate. Senator Henson of the 41st seconded the nomination.

Senator Hill of the 4th asked unanimous consent that the nominations be closed and that the Assistant Secretary be instructed to cast the vote of the entire body for Honorable David A. Cook.

The consent was granted, and the Honorable David A. Cook was declared duly elected Secretary of the Senate.

The President administered the following oath of office to David A. Cook, Secretary of the Senate:

"I do hereby solemnly swear or affirm that I will discharge my duties faithfully and to the best of my skill and knowledge. So help me God."

Secretary of the Senate, David A. Cook, addressed the Senate briefly.

Dear Lieutenant Governor Cagle and Senator Shafer:

I have vetoed Senate Bill 11 which passed the General Assembly during the 2013 Regular Session.

Article III, Section V, Paragraph XIII of the Georgia Constitution requires that I transmit this bill to you together with the reason for such veto. This bill and corresponding reason for the veto is attached.

I have also included a signing statement for Senate Resolution 293.

Sincerely,

Veto Number 1

HB 635 House Bill 635 changes the term of office and membership of the Dodge County-Eastman Development Authority by terminating the two members appointed by the Heart of Georgia Regional Airport Authority and allowing the Dodge County Board of Commissioners to appoint one member and the bill sponsor to appoint one member. Having reviewed the legislation and considered its necessity, I VETO HB 635.

Veto Number 2

HB 636 House Bill 636 abolishes the Heart of Georgia Regional Airport Authority and transfers the Authority's powers, duties, assets, liabilities and debts to the Dodge County-Eastman Development Authority. Having reviewed the legislation and considered its necessity, I VETO HB 636.

Veto Number 3

HB 193 House Bill 193 attempts to bring back input exemptions that had previously been sunset. The 2010 Special Council on Tax Reform and Fairness for Georgians recommended "that all non-government and non-business input exemptions sunset so that the Legislature may determine if economic or non-economic justifications exist for renewing these exemptions." In following their recommendation, I will request the Governor's Competitiveness Initiative taskforce to review this bill and provide an opinion on whether economic or non-economic justifications exist for the exemptions to be renewed during the next legislative session. Accordingly, I VETO HB 193.

Veto Number 4

HB 240 House Bill 240 attempts to address concerns voiced by speech language pathologists that clinical fellows are not reimbursed by Georgia Medicaid. However, Georgia Medicaid only enrolls fully licensed providers for reimbursement. On close review, this legislation would expand the number of eligible providers that could bill for Medicaid reimbursement and open the door for additional providers, who are not yet fully licensed, to pursue similar legislation. The Georgia Medicaid budget has been under tremendous financial pressure and any additional expenses will increase the financial burden. In addition, the legislation would require Georgia Medicaid to reimburse Clinical Fellows at 100% of the Speech Language Pathologist rate which would create an inequity among other fully licensed provider types who are reimbursed at less than 100%. I am vetoing this legislation because I believe HB 240 creates an inequitable system of reimbursement among provider groups. I also find that this legislation would open the door for similarly situated non-licensed providers to seek Medicaid reimbursement. Accordingly, I VETO HB 240.

Veto Number 5

SB 11 Senate Bill 11 would re-establish the Georgia Geospatial Advisory Council and give that council various powers and duties to evaluate and develop data on the geospatial capabilities and needs of the State. Despite any underlying merits of the bill, this legislation would create a new state entity and add additional duties to various state agency officials without funding in the 2014 budget. Having grave concerns with adding a new council and duties for state agency officials without funding, I VETO SB 11.

Signing Statement 1

HB 276 I sign House Bill 276 because of the merits of Sections 1 and 2 which pertain to the extension of the Georgia Hazardous Waste Trust Fund. However, I have significant concerns with the remaining language in the bill which attempts to dedicate fees and surcharges of this fund for a specific purpose. Despite the merits of such a concept, Article 3, Section 9, Paragraph 6 of the Constitution of Georgia specifically limits any attempt to dedicate revenues in a general bill unless specifically permitted by the Constitution of Georgia. Without such specific permission in our Constitution, I would deem this language in House Bill 276 as being non-binding on any subsequent General Assembly as it goes about its yearly duty to appropriate funds.

Signing Statement 2

SR 293 I sign Senate Resolution 293 but I have reservations renaming Friendship Road east of I-985.

SECTION 9.

Said title is further amended by revising subsection (c) of Code Section 21-5-34, relating to disclosure reports, as follows:

"(c) Candidates or campaign committees which accept contributions, make expenditures designed to bring about the nomination or election of a candidate, or have filed a declaration of intention to accept campaign contributions pursuant to subsection (g) of Code Section 21-5-30 shall file campaign contribution disclosure reports in compliance with the following schedule:

(3) If the candidate is a candidate in a special primary or special primary runoff, 15 days prior to the special primary and six days prior to the special primary runoff; and

Any facsimile filing shall also have an identical electronic filing within five business days following the transmission of such facsimile filing. Each report required in the election year shall contain cumulative totals of all contributions which have been received and all expenditures which have been made in support of the campaign in question and which are required, or previously have been required, to be reported."

The President announced that without objection, the motion prevailed at 10:47 a.m.

The hour for convening the Joint Session of the Senate and House having arrived, the President, accompanied by the Secretary and Senators, proceeded to the Hall of the House of Representatives, and the Joint Session, called for the purpose of hearing a message by His Excellency, Governor Nathan Deal, was called to order by the Speaker of the House. HR 1041 authorizing the Joint Session of the Senate and House was read by the Clerk of the House.

His Excellency, Governor Nathan Deal, addressed the Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives as follows:

Lt. Governor Cagle, Speaker Ralston, President Pro Tem Shafer, Speaker Pro Tem Jones, members of the General Assembly, constitutional officers, members of the consular corps, members of the judiciary, my fellow Georgians:

In January 2011 when I addressed this body in my first State of the State address, this Capitol building and much of our state was engulfed in the worst snow and ice storm in several decades. In hindsight it was analogous to the deep freeze that had descended on the economies of the United States and Georgia, which is sometimes referred to as the Great Recession. While the economic calamity did not manifest itself overnight, as did our winter freeze, nonetheless it caught our nation as unprepared as any icy city without snow plows.

Although the sunny January days in Georgia melted the effects of our surprise storm within a week, no such relief was forthcoming for the economy. Businesses closed, buildings became vacant, and the newspapers that served as the legal organs of their counties were filled with foreclosure notices as families lost their homes. Congress applied historical amounts of financial salt and sand, known as the stimulus, on the ice laden roads of commerce, but traffic still could not move. State governments, like that in Georgia, that could not print money nor operate on unbalanced budgets, were required to reduce spending and consume their cash reserves. Even while parts of our budget were frozen or shrinking, other parts were not shrinking at all; these were the entitlements and enrollment-based programs. In Fiscal Years 2008 and 2009 Georgia dipped into its Rainy Day Fund for $1.4B. Some states that were unwilling to face the realities of the moment even raised taxes on their citizens, but not Georgia!

I will not recount further the disastrous effects of the Great Recession on our citizens, some of which have left permanent scars. Instead, I want to tell you how the parts of our state government, working together like buddies in a war zone foxhole, have not only survived, but have reformed our operations in order to better serve our citizens. So now, let me proudly say as is normally stated on the opening lines of a State of the State address: “The State of our State is Excellent and it is a Great Day in Georgia.”

But this day did not arrive without a lot of hard work and sacrifice. So, to the members of the General Assembly, to the teachers and administrators, to the state employees, to the business owners large and small, and to the workers and families of Georgia, I say thank you!

My approach as governor has been to do in the hard times, what is almost impossible for government to do in the good times; that is, make state government programs leaner and more efficient and concentrate scarce resources on those areas that will produce the best and most long lasting results. To that end, we have eliminated certain programs and consolidated others in order to achieve greater efficiency in the use of taxpayer dollars. While fighting to hold the line on k-12 education, we have reduced the number of state employees by 12,750 from 5 years ago, which is a drop of 16.5 percent.

My basic focus has been on creating private-sector jobs for Georgians. With your help and the involvement of our business community, we have done some great things. We have implemented real tax reform, such as eliminating sales tax on energy for manufacturing; we have essentially removed the marriage tax penalty on working Georgia couples; and we have abolished the annual birthday tax on vehicles. And each of these are part of a mosaic that led Site Selection Magazine to declare Georgia to be the number one state in the nation in which to do business.

According to Tax Foundation, Georgia has the lowest tax burden on its citizens of any state in the nation. I don't know about you but I see that as a good thing, and I will fight to keep it that way!

Now I realize that there are some who frown on our low tax policies. I feel certain that in this election year some will propose that we change our policies—and they may even have protestors to back them up. Their solutions may sound appealing on the surface, but will ultimately require us to raise taxes on all Georgians. We must resist those temptations. Just as individuals cannot borrow their way out of debt, governments cannot tax their way out of a recession. There is no such thing as free money, particularly when it comes from Washington and has costly strings attached. Washington wants to mandate to Georgia how we spend our dollars. Let me tell you, in Georgia, we know a lot more about how to balance a budget than Washington does. And don't be deceived by the argument that “it's our money—the Federal Government is just giving some of it back.” Yes, it is our money, but if the Federal Government doesn't need it for federal purposes, they should stop taking it in the first place!

As an example, the Affordable Care Act is anything but affordable and is costing our state $327M this year. You should be aware that, even without expanding, currently Medicaid and PeachCare cost every Georgian through federal and state taxes nearly $1,000 each year. Expansion would add 620,000 people to our taxpayer funded health plan, costing us even more. Now, the executive branch in Washington is trying to do what the courts deemed unconstitutional for Congress to do, but we will not allow ourselves to be coerced into expansion. Be assured, I am prepared to fight any intrusion into our rights as a state.

My focus on job creation is paying off. According to the federal department of labor, in the three years since I became governor, there have been approximately 217,000 new jobs added in our state, and major job announcements are almost a weekly occurrence. As a result, our state unemployment rate is the lowest it's been in 5 years!

There are many ingredients in the recipe for job growth. I have already mentioned the importance of favorable tax policies. In addition it requires adequate infrastructure so that people, as well as raw materials and finished products, can move freely within our state. This general assembly has already made changes to funding formulas so that interstate projects and freight corridors will be prioritized. In the budget I am submitting to you, I have included $35M for the deepening of the Port of Savannah. If approved, we will have $266M, which will represent Georgia's share of this important project. I intend for us to start dredging the project this year! This was first authorized by Congress in 1999. Approximately 50 percent of the cost of this project will be devoted to environmental mitigation. In addition, the project has been approved by four separate federal agencies. We have studied and planned long enough. It's time to start moving dirt!

Another important element of job growth is the availability of a trained and reliable workforce. We are fortunate that our workforce is ranked number one by CNBC, that our technical college system and its quick start program are regarded as the best in the country and that our colleges and universities, both public and private, provide excellent graduates. Even so, we have applied the same scrutiny to these institutions that hard times dictate. We have asked them to examine themselves through the prism of the work readiness of their graduates.

This has resulted in priority being given to those areas of study where job placement is high. Last year we identified three areas of study in our technical colleges where jobs already existed. Those were commercial driving, practical nursing and early childhood education. For students who pursued those areas, we have paid 100 percent of their tuition through the HOPE Grant. This year I am asking you to expand that to an additional 4 areas of training—welding, health care technology, diesel mechanics and information technology.

In order to fill the needs of a growing economy, we need more of our citizens to acquire education and skills beyond high school. To encourage this, I am asking you to create a new Zell Miller HOPE Grant for students in our technical college system. This grant will cover 100 percent of tuition for those who maintain a 3.5 grade point average.

In addition, my budget will include $10M for a 1 percent interest loan program devoted solely to students attending our technical colleges. This will allow students who have a financial need to cover the funding gap in tuition, books and fees. I am also recommending that the Hope Scholarship and the HOPE Grant be awarded at 103 percent of the amount last year.

In accordance with our trend of putting our education where our economy is, I am happy to announce the creation of the Governor's High Demand Career Initiative. We will bring together the heads of Economic Development, the University System of Georgia, our technical colleges and schools, along with key leaders in some of our important private-sector industries. This initiative will allow us to hear directly from the employers of our state about what they expect their future needs will be, and it will give our institutions of education the chance to get ahead of the curve in preparing tomorrow's workforce.

While these are important changes to our post high school education programs, it is equally important that our pre-k through high school programs continue to improve the quality of our students. We must work to avoid the necessity of costly remediation. If we hope for the greatest results, we must get it right the first time! This means making sure they're reading on grade level by the end of third grade and then following through as they continue their education journey.

Let me take this opportunity to thank my wife, the First Lady, who visited every school district in the state to read to Georgia's children in order to emphasize the importance of their learning to read.

Because of the progress we have made and Georgia's existing 20-year investment in what is now recognized as one of the best Pre-K programs in the country, we have been awarded an Early Learning Challenge Grant of over $50M. This money will be used to accelerate the reforms that we implemented last year.

In the Great Recession, state revenues dropped 19 percent [FY 2007 to FY 2010], meaning I came into my term during hard times when much of the savings of low-hanging fruit had already been plucked.

Since spending on Education has always been the largest part of our state budget, representing over half of all spending, it was to be expected that it would be reduced during these hard times. However, during my administration, funding for education has increased by over $930M. That does not include capital spending for education, which represents 76% of our entire state bond package. $239M of this year's capital investments went to the Department of Education for use on K-12 programs. Since FY 2012, nearly 50 cents of every dollar of new revenues has been dedicated to education. In the budget I am sending you for FY 2015 almost 82 percent of new revenue receipts are dedicated to education, with 68 percent of those new revenues going to k-12 alone.

Total state funding for K-12 education has increased each year I have been governor. Funding for Quality Basic Education, the outdated formula that allocates revenue to the local school districts, has increased roughly 13 percent since FY 2011.

My amended 2014 budget will also call for bringing current the Forestland Protection Act Grants to help those local governments and school systems whose ad valorem tax digests are negatively impacted by this law. The total 2014 amount is almost $40M, of which $22.6M will go to school districts and the remaining amount to municipal and county governments.

As these numbers indicate, we will spend almost $8 billion in next year's budget on k-12 education. My proposal represents the largest single year increase in k-12 funding in 7 years. That's an addition of $547M, an increase of over half a billion dollars in one year for our local school systems! It will enable us, in partnership with local school districts to restore instructional days, eliminate teacher furloughs and increase teacher salaries. These funds will provide our local school systems with the resources and flexibility to address the most critical needs of their students and teachers.

As we search for more effective ways to deliver quality education to our students, I have included $44.8M in the budgets to better connect every classroom in Georgia, including those in rural areas, to the internet and digital resources students need to thrive. This is part of the recommendations of the Digital Learning Task Force. It is also compatible with the Innovation in Teaching competition I initiated last year, whereby Georgia Public Broadcasting is videotaping some of the best teachers in our state and making them available to other schools. It is my goal that every child in any classroom in our state will have access to the best instruction possible, and this can be done by expanding the availability of our on-line learning.

Over the past two years, we have found ways to reduce the need to build new prison beds, whereby we will save taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars and keep Georgians safer—in 2012 with our Criminal Justice Reform and again in 2013 with our Juvenile Justice Reform, both of which passed unanimously in this General Assembly!

These reforms gave us a blueprint on how to use rehabilitation to reduce recidivism. Already we have seen relief for taxpayer dollars by dropping jail backlogs by nearly 90% of what they were when I came into office.

The novelist Victor Hugo said that if you open a school door, you close a prison. Perhaps this is true considering 7 out of every 10 Department of Corrections inmates do not even hold a high school diploma or GED. That means we have 38,000 Georgians who walked out of our school doors and into our prisons. That must stop. This is why improving our high school graduation rate is so important. High school dropouts with no marketable skills become the feedstock for our prisons.

While individuals are in our system, we must do a better job of raising their education and skills to an adequate level so that when they are released they will be better prepared to meet our workforce needs, rather than reenter the revolving door of the past.

This year, we intend to roll out our third leg of our criminal justice reforms, the one that will sustain our previous efforts. If an offender has been equipped to enter the workforce upon release, that person will stand a greater chance of avoiding relapse. If our reentry and reform efforts reduce our recidivism rate by 25 percent, we would see around 1,400 fewer crimes each year, with at least 1,100 fewer victims! This is a goal we should be able to achieve or exceed.

These Criminal Justice reforms will allow non-violent offenders to break their addictions, reclaim their lives and keep taxpayers from spending $18,000 per inmate for each year they are in prison. These reforms will also increase the safety of our society.

Over the past three years, at my direction and in accordance with the legislation subsequently passed by the General Assembly, we have reviewed 40 percent of all budgetary programs through a Zero-Based Budgeting analysis. As a result, we have consolidated programs and agencies where duplication existed and eliminated others. My budget this year will continue this pattern.

When I took office, we had a depleted emergency fund. Now, with your help, we have grown our Rainy Day Fund by 518 percent.

When I took office, Georgia had a AAA bond rating from all three major agencies. With your help, we are one of only ten states that still maintain that advantage, a rating that even the federal government doesn't have.

When I took office, we still had revenue numbers that made across-the-board budget cuts a necessity. Now, with your help, we have grown our year-over-year revenues for each quarter that I have been governor without raising taxes!

While it is appropriate to celebrate these accomplishments, their true significance is that they are part of the plan to create more jobs for our citizens. It is my firm belief that if people have good jobs they can provide for themselves and their families and will have less need to ask government to do things for them. Achieving that goal has been my primary focus.

Well today, more Georgians have jobs than at any other time since October 2008. We are getting people in our state back to work at a faster rate than the national average. For those 217,000 or so Georgians who now have jobs, they know what the sting of the frozen economy feels like. They lived through it. But for them, the freeze has ended.

This is what we've done in three years ... imagine what we will do in the next five.

And since Georgia has now been recognized as the No. 1 state in the nation in which to do business, we can rightfully expect many more jobs to come our way.

Yes, we began this journey three years ago in the midst of an ice storm and a recession. With your help on a bi-partisan basis, we have turned what might have otherwise been a long cold "Winter of Despair" into a time of preparation. And now our efforts are being rewarded. The early rays of recovery are cresting the skyline. I believe the warm sunshine of prosperity is once again shining on Georgia. May God continue to bless us all!

Senator Shafer of the 48th moved that the Joint Session be hereby dissolved.

The motion prevailed, and the Speaker of the House announced the Joint Session dissolved.

Pursuant to the provisions of a previously adopted motion, the Senate stood adjourned until 10:00 a.m. Thursday, January 16, 2014.

- (4) No processes exist in this state for the confidential identification, investigation, or dissemination of findings regarding maternal deaths;
- (5) The federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has determined that maternal deaths should be investigated through state based maternal mortality reviews in order to institute the systemic changes needed to decrease maternal mortality; and
- (6) There is a need to establish a program to review maternal deaths and to develop strategies for the prevention of maternal deaths in Georgia.

(b) The Department of Public Health shall establish a Maternal Mortality Review Committee to review maternal deaths and to develop strategies for the prevention of maternal deaths. The committee shall be multidisciplinary and composed of members as deemed appropriate by the department. The department may contract with an external organization to assist in collecting, analyzing, and disseminating maternal mortality information, organizing and convening meetings of the committee, and other tasks as may be incident to these activities, including providing the necessary data, information, and resources to ensure successful completion of the ongoing review required by this Code section.

(c) The committee shall:

(2) A health care provider, health care facility, or pharmacy providing access to medical records pursuant to this Code section shall not be held liable for civil damages or be subject to any criminal or disciplinary action for good faith efforts in providing such records.

(e)(1) Information, records, reports, statements, notes, memoranda, or other data collected pursuant to this Code section shall not be admissible as evidence in any action of any kind in any court or before any other tribunal, board, agency, or person. Such information, records, reports, statements, notes, memoranda, or other data shall not be exhibited nor their contents disclosed in any way, in whole or in part, by any officer or representative of the department or any other person, except as may be necessary for the purpose of furthering the review of the committee of the case to which they relate. No person participating in such review shall disclose, in any manner, the information so obtained except in strict conformity with such review project.

(f)(1) All proceedings and activities of the committee under this Code section, opinions of members of such committee formed as a result of such proceedings and activities, and records obtained, created, or maintained pursuant to this Code section, including records of interviews, written reports, and statements procured by the department or any other person, agency, or organization acting jointly or under contract with the department in connection with the requirements of this Code section, shall be confidential and shall not be subject to Chapter 14 of Title 50, relating to open meetings, or Article 4 of Chapter 18 of Title 50, relating to open records, or subject to subpoena, discovery, or introduction into evidence in any civil or criminal proceeding; provided, however, that nothing in this Code section shall be construed to limit or restrict the right to discover or use in any civil or criminal proceeding anything that is available from another source and entirely independent of the committee's proceedings.

(2) Members of the committee shall not be questioned in any civil or criminal proceeding regarding the information presented in or opinions formed as a result of a meeting or communication of the committee; provided, however, that nothing in this Code section shall be construed to prevent a member of the committee from testifying to information obtained independently of the committee or which is public information.

(g) Reports of aggregated nonindividually identifiable data shall be compiled on a routine basis for distribution in an effort to further study the causes and problems associated with maternal deaths. Senator Chance of the 16th moved that upon the dissolution of the Joint Session the Senate stand adjourned until 10:00 a.m. Thursday, February 6, 2014.

The hour for convening the Joint Session of the Senate and House having arrived, the President, accompanied by the Secretary and Senators, proceeded to the Hall of the House of Representatives, and the Joint Session, called for the purpose of hearing a message by Honorable Hugh P. Thompson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, was called to order by the Speaker of the House. HR 1042 authorizing the Joint Session of the Senate and House was read by the Clerk of the House.

Honorable Hugh P. Thompson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, addressed the Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives as follows:

Lt. Governor Cagle, Speaker Ralston, President Pro Tem Shafer, Speaker Pro Tem Jones, members of the General Assembly, my fellow judges, ladies and gentlemen:

Thank you for inviting me to come before you to deliver the State of the Judiciary address and report to you our accomplishments and the challenges that still lie ahead. All of us in the judicial branch are grateful for this annual tradition that reflects your interest in – and your support of – our state’s judges and all those whose lives are devoted daily to upholding the rule of law. Although the executive branch, the legislative branch, and the judicial branch are three separate branches of government, we are united as one in our service to the people of this great state.

I am honored today to bring you greetings from this state’s judges, many of whom are here. They include my friends and colleagues on the Supreme Court: Presiding Justice Harris Hines and Justices Robert Benham, Carol Hunstein, Harold Melton, David Nahmias and Keith Blackwell. Also here are Chief Judge Herbert Phipps and the judges of the Court of Appeals, and judges from all over the state representing all classes of courts. As your Chief Justice, I am privileged to represent you. Would all judges please stand and be recognized.

I also want to recognize someone else who is very important to me: my bride of more than 46 years, my wife, Jane.

Most of us grew up saying the Pledge of Allegiance at school, in which we promised “liberty and justice for all.” I don’t believe we ever meant, “liberty and justice only for those who can afford it.”

Equal justice for all is the promise embodied in our Constitution as envisioned by our forefathers. Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell called equal justice, “perhaps the most inspiring ideal of our society... [I]t is fundamental that justice should be the same, in substance and availability, without regard to economic status.”

As Georgia continues to grow in population and diversity, access to justice is a challenge requiring the commitment and hard work of us all.

Georgia’s judicial system is sound, and it is strong – for those who can afford a lawyer. But to safeguard its future, we must guarantee access to justice for all people, as our laws were not made for just a few. Too many Georgians cannot afford legal representation, and too many go without civil legal services.

Today, nearly 2 million Georgians – or about 19 percent of our population – live below the poverty line. Their legal needs involve fundamental rights, such as safety for the woman who needs a protective order to shield her children and herself from an abusive husband; or guardianship for the young children of a single dad who’s dying of cancer; or education and disability benefits promised to the wounded warrior returning from war in Afghanistan. The elderly have many legal needs involving their safety, their health care, and their recourse when they are defrauded of everything they own.

I am very proud of the Atlanta Volunteer Lawyers Foundation, the State Bar of Georgia, and the many attorneys in our state who offer their services pro bono, or at no cost. But these voluntary efforts do not fill the gap. According to the Supreme Court’s Committee on Civil Justice in 2008, only 9 percent of low-income Georgians with a legal need were able to get help from a lawyer. Many did not know where to go for help or that legal assistance was even a possibility for their housing, health or employment problems.

In Georgia, two non-profit law firms, the Georgia Legal Services Program and the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, provide the most comprehensive civil legal services to poor people. Some of their funding comes from interest on lawyers’ trust accounts (often referred to as IOLTA), which they receive in grants from the Georgia Bar Foundation. But since the beginning of the recession in 2007, those interest revenues have declined by more than 90 percent.

Today, there are potentially 13,000 clients for every lawyer employed by these legal aid organizations. As a result, these lawyers must of necessity turn away many desperate people.

The lack of legal services is amplified in rural areas. According to a study by the University of Georgia, nearly 40 percent of the South’s persistently poor counties are right here in Georgia. Seventy percent of our state’s lawyers work in the five-county Metropolitan Atlanta area. Sixty-two counties have 10 or fewer lawyers. And six of Georgia’s counties have no lawyers at all.

In South Dakota, where 65 percent of attorneys practice in five cities, the Chief Justice of their Supreme Court warned that the large populated areas in his state were becoming what he called “islands of justice in a rural sea of justice denied.” Now I submit to you that Georgia’s lack of legal services in rural areas is every bit as severe as South Dakota’s, if not more so. We must take steps to correct the imbalance.

As a result of the lack of adequate legal services, our courts are seeing a growth in the number of people representing themselves. Judges worry not only about clogged dockets as a result of these pro se litigants, but more importantly, about unfair trials and unjust results. Our legal system is an adversarial system of justice. The reality is that poor people who represent themselves often lose.

The current President of the American Bar Association puts it this way: “Americans without lawyers often go without justice.”

Chief Judge Adele Grubbs of the Cobb County Superior Court recently told me that the greatest challenge her court faces is the dramatic increase in pro se litigants in the domestic relations field. This includes divorce, child custody, and petitions for temporary protective orders.

Chief Judge Michael Karpf of Chatham County Superior Court wrote me a letter saying that the complexity of divorce cases involving children means that pro se litigants are being cut off from justice. With the advent of Georgia’s new child support requirements and the need for a parenting plan, many low income parties are finding it difficult to comply.

Our judges take an oath guaranteeing a fair trial to all parties, but as State Court Judge Jason Thompson of Fayette County said, the process is very time consuming when a jury trial involves pro se litigants. Where one party has a lawyer and the other side does not, judges find it difficult to believe that justice has in fact been done.

And yet the resiliency, the creativity and the commitment of our judges never cease to amaze me. A few years ago, Chief Magistrate Judge Patricia Barron of Athens-Clarke County created with the University of Georgia School of Law a program that pairs law students with pro se litigants to help mediate disputes in which people have been evicted from their homes or sued for other debts. These mediations have saved courts time and money.

The Gwinnett County Probate Court recently launched a Pro Bono Clinic that brings in local attorneys for four hours once a month to meet with pro se parties regarding their legal concerns. Probate Judge Christopher Ballar calls the program a “resounding success.” A number of court systems, including DeKalb County’s, have developed self-help centers providing legal forms for such actions as divorce complaints, petitions for temporary protective orders, and modification of child support.

I applaud all these achievements, but we need to do better than depend upon piecemeal efforts to plug the dam from a flood of pro se litigants. “Equality before the law in a true democracy is a matter of right,” said the late United States Supreme Court Justice Wiley Rutledge. “It cannot be a matter of charity or of favor or of grace or of discretion.”

In addition to poor people, those who do not speak English are entitled to justice as well. Georgia’s population now makes us the eighth largest state in the country. We are growing rapidly, and just as our medical profession is gearing up for our future growth by ensuring we have enough doctors and hospitals; and just as our state government is looking ahead to ensure we have enough water, schools, modes of transportation and trained workers; likewise, the judicial branch must prepare for the future.

We in the courts are as happy and as proud as you and the Governor are that Georgia was just named the Number 1 state in the country for doing business. We want to keep it that way. One way to do that is to ensure that businesses have speedy access to the courts for resolving their disputes.

Toward that end, my colleagues, Justices Robert Benham and David Nahmias, are working in the Atlanta area with judges, including Mel Westmoreland, and with attorneys such as Bill Barwick, to enhance a business court that handles complex business litigation.

We are home to an international airport – the largest in the world – and we will continue to attract individuals and businesses from many different countries. To prepare for the future, Georgia’s courts need an army of trained, certified interpreters.

Nationally, almost 21 percent of our population speaks a language at home other than English. In Georgia, the Administrative Office of the Courts estimates that more than a half million people do not speak English or they speak only limited English.

Providing interpreters is an ongoing challenge in courts across the state. The Lawrenceville Municipal Court schedules a Spanish interpreter eight court sessions a month, but they have found they also need Korean, Bosnian and Russian interpreters. In the last month, DeKalb County State Court Judge Dax Lopez has taken criminal pleas with the use of Thai, Korean and Burmese interpreters. Judge Lopez and other judges have found that even identifying the language a defendant is speaking can be a challenge.

Currently, Georgia has only 149 licensed court interpreters, and they speak only 12 languages. That is not enough. Under the able leadership of my colleague, Justice Harold Melton, the Georgia Supreme Court’s Commission on Interpreters has increased the number of certified interpreters, and the variety of languages they speak. But interpreters must do more than simply speak the language. They must also understand legal terminology and their obligation to protect the confidentiality of their clients. As Justice

Keith Blackwell, our newest justice, takes over the role of working with the Commission, we are hopeful that in the near future, the Commission will roll out continuing education requirements to ensure that Georgia has certified interpreters who remain the very best they can be.

Access to justice also means giving those who break the law the sentence they deserve. It means not automatically sending some people to prison when their true crime is being addicted to drugs, or failing to take medication for their schizophrenia, or not paying child support because they've lost their job.

Those of you who have been in the legislature for the last three years have built a legacy in criminal justice reform. With the extraordinary leadership of Governor Deal, Lt. Governor Cagle, Speaker Ralston, and many others, you have made this state a model for the rest of the country. The Council on Criminal Justice Reform has been ably led by Court of Appeals Judge Michael Boggs and former Executive Council for the Governor, Thomas Worthy. I particularly want to acknowledge my friend and colleague, Justice Carol Hunstein, and also Representative Wendell Willard, who nearly four years ago traveled to Alabama to see how this could be done in Georgia.

The stars were truly aligned in bringing together the leaders of all three branches of government to bring this reform to fruition. It is still in its early stages, and we will need to be sure we have the proper standards and gauges for measuring its effectiveness. But we already know we are headed in the right direction.

One of the crowning achievements is the specialty courts – what some call “accountability courts.” Governor Deal, and you in the General Assembly, issued a challenge to the trial courts to increase and enhance the work of accountability courts.

Our judges have taken up that challenge. They have stepped forward eagerly and embraced the opportunity to create and then preside in drug courts, mental health courts, veterans' courts, family dependency treatment courts, juvenile drug courts and DUI courts. All over this state, judges have met and exceeded the challenge, putting people on a path to good citizenship, good lives, and safer communities for every one of us and for generations to come.

Here's how Superior Court Judge Samuel Ozburn of the Alcovy Judicial Circuit put it to me: “We are seeing lives marked by incarceration and disappointment transformed into lives with promise, hope and stability.” In Judge Ozburn's circuit alone, four specialty courts have been created in the last year.

In Rockdale County, State Court Judge Nancy Bills is creating a Domestic Violence court, using the accountability court model. Georgia has the 10th highest domestic violence rate in the country. And these courts can help save women's lives. I am so proud of Judge Bills.

Cobb County soon will have its first Veterans Court, led by Superior Court Judge Reuben Green, himself a U.S. Marine. A Veterans Court also opened for business last month in the Macon Judicial Circuit. The Douglas County State Court has just started a DUI Court that already has 45 participants, including a woman addicted to prescription pain medication, whose husband thanked the program for, “giving me my wife back.”

The juvenile court in Douglas County has two Family Drug Treatment Courts that have a special focus on the children of addicted parents. Judge Peggy Walker, who will be sworn in this year as President of the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges, says she considers their greatest accomplishment the birth of six drug-free babies born to parents who participated in their program.

Thanks to the Governor’s support and your appropriation of more than $11 million – by spring, we will have 102 accountability courts with more to be unveiled. Thanks to Superior Court Judges Jack Partain and Jeff Bagley, who chair the Accountability Court Funding Committee, more than $9 million of that money has already been granted to local programs.

Upon graduation from these courts, 85 percent of the participants are employed. Three years after graduation, 93 percent of all accountability court participants remain free of criminal charges. The undeniable truth is: These courts work. They keep our communities safer. They save lives. And they save the state money. At any given time, there are about 1100 people participating in accountability courts who would otherwise be in the state prison system. These specialty courts save Georgia more than $20 million a year in state prison costs.

As your Chief Justice, I personally thank you for your support of these courts and your partnership with us in helping to fulfill our Constitutional mandates.

We at the Supreme Court of Georgia have also benefited from your support, most recently with the addition of a death penalty law clerk. And I am happy to report that we finally have a full-time employee to answer the phones and greet people in our main office. Our staff is small, and it remains smaller than it was a decade ago. I doubt there are many others in state government who could say that. When you told us to get lean, we got “real lean,” as my colleague, Presiding Justice Harris Hines, recently said. Perhaps we have punished ourselves. We continue to play catch-up, and this year we are asking for two more staff attorneys to help us deal with cases that are far more complex than when I first came to the court.

And yet, I am very proud of the work we have been able to accomplish. In 2013, we issued 429 written opinions. That’s 61 per justice. A few years ago, you may recall that a national study ranked the Georgia Supreme Court as the most productive high court in the nation, and that was based on 58 opinions per justice. I am also proud of our Court of Appeals and confident that it is also among the most productive intermediate appellate courts in the nation.

Our opinions resolve disputes among people, and inform the parties and the public about our reasoning. That's important, because as the state's highest court, it is our job to bring predictability, uniformity and consistency to the law, so that people and businesses know the rules they must live by.

We are an open court, and we are among the first in the country to offer live streaming of all our oral arguments. Whether you are here at the Capitol or traveling in Timbuktu, as long as you have Internet, you can watch our court in session.

One reason our court is so productive is we have become far more efficient through the electronic filing of cases. Just a few years ago, our court operated much as it did in the early 1900s. But the era of big paper is coming to an end, saving everyone involved both time and money. Soon we will have no more box loads of paper records. Last year, you gave both appellate courts funding to make it possible for trial courts to transmit the entire court record to us electronically. We have nearly completed that project, and we are close to going live. This will greatly speed up the appeal process.

The next step for the entire judicial system will be to design and build a statewide e-filing system. The Judicial Council is currently requesting funding to achieve that final piece.

Again, I thank all our judges for their patience and commitment toward bringing our judicial system into the modern electronic era.

I hope you in the legislature know your local judges and the fine work they are doing. If you do not, I urge you to reach out to them because the courts, more than most institutions, have an immediate, direct and personal impact on your constituents.

As Chatham County Superior Court Judge Louisa Abbot said, nobody becomes a judge for the money. I must note, however, that other than a few cost-of-living adjustments, Georgia's judges have not received a state pay raise for 15 years. Let me say that again: For 15 years, we judges have not received a state pay raise. While we acknowledge that nothing will be done to change that fact this year, please understand that we need to work together on this going forward.

I began today by asking our judges to stand. I end by acknowledging one judge in particular.

In an historic event two weeks ago, Fulton County Superior Court Judge Ural Glanville presented to our court – and to the Court of Appeals – an American flag that recently flew in our honor in the combat zone of Afghanistan.

I suspect that most of you do not realize that in addition to Judge Glanville's regular job in Fulton County, where he has served as a judge for nearly 18 years, he is also one of this nation's heroes.

Brigadier General Ural D. Glanville has served for 30 years in the United States Armed Forces, both in active and reserve service. Today he is Chief Judge, IMA, of the U.S. Army Court of Criminal Appeals. During his three decades in the military, he has received many awards, including the Bronze Star and the Legion of Merit.

In September 2012, he was promoted to Brigadier General in the Army Reserve while serving a one-year tour of duty in the combat zone in Kabul, Afghanistan. While in Kabul, he was a U.S. Commander and a NATO Commander, and he got to know many Afghan judges, whom he served as an advisor. Those judges, he said, were very conscientious people, but along with prosecutors and defense attorneys, they did their jobs at their peril. Daily they were targets for the enemy. Judge Glanville got to thinking that those of us who take an oath value how important our job is to the citizens we serve. And that made Judge Glanville think of our courts and our country's system of justice. He thought about how our rule of law dictates our governance and makes us a free society. And he wanted to express his appreciation for his brothers and sisters in the law. So at his base in Afghanistan, he had an American flag flown in honor of the Supreme Court of Georgia and one flown for the Court of Appeals. I believe that 100 years from now, these flags will still be cherished by our courts.

Judge Glanville is just one of some 1400 judges in our state. But he represents the high caliber of people serving in our judicial system.

At this time, I ask you to join with me in thanking Judge Glanville, who represents all the great judges of Georgia, for his service to our courts and to our country. Ladies and Gentlemen, I present to you Judge Glanville.

Thank you, Judge Glanville. Thank you, all of our judges. And thank you to the members of the General Assembly for your support of the judiciary and for having me here today to deliver this address.

The appropriations in this Act consist of the amount stated in the right-most column, for each line at the lowest level of detail for the fund source categories, "Total State Funds" and "Total Federal Funds," under a caption beginning with a program or special project number that has a 100 or a higher number after the decimal and a program or special project name. In each case, such appropriation is associated with the immediately preceding program or special project name, number, and statement of program or special project purpose. The program or special project purpose is stated immediately below the program or special project name. For authorizations for general obligation debt in Section 50, the indented, bold-faced paragraphs following each Bond number are the lowest level of detail and constitute appropriations in accordance with Article VII, Section IV, Paragraph III(a)(1) of the Georgia Constitution. The caption above the Bond number, the light-faced text immediately following the Bond number before the bold-faced text, and the light-faced after the bold-faced text are information only.

Similarly, text in a group of lines that has a number less than 100 after the decimal (01 through 99) is not part of a statement of purpose but constitutes information as to how the appropriation was derived. Amounts in the columns other than the right-most column are for informational purposes only. The summary and lowest level of detail for the fund source categories "Total Agency Funds" and "Total Intra-State Governmental Transfers," are for informational purposes only. The blocks of text and numerals immediately following the section header and beginning with the phrases, "Section Total - Continuation" and "Section Totals - Final" are for informational purposes only. Sections 51, 52, and 53 contain, constitute, or amend appropriations.

Section 55: Flex

In the preceding sentence, "Federal Funds" means any federal funding source, whether specifically identified or not specifically identified; "Other Funds" means all other fund sources except State Funds or Federal Funds, including without limitation Intra-State Government Transfers. This paragraph shall not permit an agency to include within its flex the appropriations for an agency attached to it for administrative purposes.

For purposes of the appropriations for the "Medicaid: Low-Income Medicaid," "Medicaid: Aged, Blind, and Disabled," and "PeachCare" programs of the Department of Community Health, the appropriation of a particular State fund source for each program shall be the amount stated, and each such program shall also be authorized up to an additional amount of 10 percent (10%) of the amount stated. However, if the additional authority is used, the appropriation of the same State fund source for the other programs to that agency shall be reduced in the same amount, such that the stated total in program appropriations from that State fund source for the three programs shall not be exceeded. However, the additional amount shall be from a State fund source which is lawfully available for the program to which it is added."

~~(15)~~(17) Each community service board may borrow money for any business purpose and may incur debt, liabilities, and obligations for any business purpose. A debt, liability, or obligation incurred by a community service board shall not be considered a debt, liability, or obligation of the state or any county or any municipality or any political subdivision of the state. Interest paid upon such borrowings shall be exempt from taxation by the state or its political subdivisions. A state contract with a community service board shall not be used or accepted as security or collateral for a debt, liability, or obligation of a community service board without the prior written approval of the commissioner;

~~(16)~~(18) Each community service board, to the extent authorized by law and the contract for the funds involved, may carry forward without lapse fund balances and establish operating, capital, and debt reserve accounts from revenues and grants derived from state, county, and all other sources; and

~~(17)~~(19) Each community service board may operate, establish, or operate and establish facilities deemed by the community service board as necessary and convenient for the administration, operation, or provision of disability services or of health services by the community service board and may construct, reconstruct, improve, alter, repair, and equip such facilities to the extent authorized by state and federal law.

(c) Nothing shall prohibit a community service board from contracting with any county governing authority, private or other public provider, or hospital for the provision of disability services or of health services.

(d) Each community service board exists for nonprofit and public purposes, and it is found and declared that the carrying out of the purposes of each community service board is exclusively for public benefit and its property is public property. Thus, no community service board shall be required to pay any state or local ad valorem, sales, use, or income taxes.

(e) A community service board shall not have the power to tax, the power to issue general obligation bonds or revenue bonds or revenue certificates, or the power to financially obligate the state or any county or any municipal corporation.

(f) A community service board shall not operate any facility for profit. A community service board may fix fees, rents, rates, and charges that are reasonably expected to produce revenues, which, together with all other funds of the community service board, will be sufficient to administer, operate, and provide the following:

- (1) Disability services or health services;

- (h) Each county and municipal corporation of this state is authorized to convey or lease property of such county or municipal corporation to a community service board for its public purposes. Any property conveyed or leased to a community services board by a county or municipal corporation shall be operated by such community service board in accordance with this chapter and the terms of the community service board's agreements with the county or municipal corporation providing such conveyance or lease.
- (i) Each community service board and any entity created or formed by such community service board pursuant to subsection (j) of this Code section shall keep books of account reflecting all funds received, expended, and administered by the community service board which shall be independently audited annually in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The community service board and an entity created or formed by such community service board, if any, pursuant to subsection (j) of this Code section shall assure the inclusion in its annual audit any information or procedures required by the department. The community service board and an entity created or formed by such community service board, if any, pursuant to subsection (j) of this Code section shall rotate audit firms at least once every five years. Copies of the annual audit and all findings shall be submitted to the department and the governing board of the community service board, or in the case of an entity created or formed by the community service board, if any, to the governing board of the community service board, the governing board of such entity, and the department within 60 days of completion of the audit.
- (j) Subject to the approval of the commissioner and the governing board of the community service board, A community service board may create, form, or become a member of a nonprofit corporation, limited liability company, or other nonprofit entity, the voting membership of which shall be limited to community service boards, governmental entities, nonprofit corporations, or a combination thereof, if such entity is created for purposes that are within the powers of the community service board, for the cooperative functioning of its members, or a combination thereof; provided, however, that no funds provided pursuant to a contract between the department and the community service board may be used in the formation or operation of the nonprofit corporation, limited liability company, or other nonprofit entity. No community service board, whether or not it exercises the power authorized by this subsection, shall be relieved of compliance with Chapter 14 of Title 50, relating to open and public meetings, and Article 4 of Chapter 18 of Title 50, relating to inspection of public records, unless otherwise provided by law. The provisions of this subsection relating to the approval of the commissioner to the contrary notwithstanding, nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a community service board from creating, forming, or becoming a member of a national, regional, or state trade association or business league as defined for tax exempt purposes by the United States Internal Revenue Service for the benefit of member community service boards and similar organizations.

(k) No community service board shall employ or retain in employment, either directly or indirectly through contract, any person who is receiving a retirement benefit from the Employees' Retirement System of Georgia except in accordance with the provisions of subsection (c) of Code Section 47-2-110; provided, however, that any such person who is employed as of July 1, 2004, may continue to be employed.

(l) A community service board may join or form and operate, either directly or indirectly, one or more networks of community service boards, disability or health service professionals, and other providers of disability services or health services to arrange for the provision of disability services or health services through such networks; to contract either directly or through such networks with the Department of Community Health to provide services to Medicaid beneficiaries; to provide disability services or health services in an efficient and cost-effective manner on a prepaid, capitation, or other reimbursement basis; and to undertake other disability or health services related managed care activities. For purposes of this subsection only and notwithstanding Code Section 33-3-3 or any other provision of law, a community service board shall be permitted to and shall comply with the requirements of Chapter 20A of Title 33 to the extent that such requirements apply to the activities undertaken by the community service board or by a community service board under this subsection or subsection (j) of this Code section. No community service board, whether or not it exercises the powers authorized by this subsection, shall be relieved of compliance with Article 4 of Chapter 18 of Title 50, relating to inspection of public records, unless otherwise provided by law. Any licensed health care provider shall be eligible to apply to become a participating provider under such a plan or network that provides coverage for health care, disability services, or health services which are within the lawful scope of the provider's license, but nothing in this Code section shall be construed to require any such plan or network to provide coverage for any specific health care, disability service, or health service."

SECTION 6.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Chapter 2 of Title 49 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the Department of Human Services, is amended by adding a new article to read as follows:

"ARTICLE 3

49-2-30.

(a) As used in this article, the term:

(1) 'Applicant' means a faith based or community based organization that seeks to provide child welfare services under this article.

(2) 'Child welfare services' means adoption, family preservation, independent living, emergency shelter, residential group care, foster care, therapeutic foster care, intensive residential treatment, foster care supervision, case management, post-placement supervision, permanent foster care, and family reunification.

(3) 'Division' means the Division of Family and Children Services.

(4) 'Lead agency' means a faith based or community based agency selected under this article to manage and provide child welfare services.

(b) The division shall submit a plan to the Governor and General Assembly to competitively bid the provision of child welfare services through fixed price contracts with a limited number of lead agencies. Each lead agency shall represent a community equal to one or more service regions of the division. The plan shall be developed with local community participation, including, but not limited to, input from community based providers, foster parents, members of the faith community, adults who were provided care in Georgia's foster care system, and child advocacy organizations that are currently under contract with the division to furnish foster care and adoption services.

(c) The plan shall be submitted by January 1, 2015, and shall be phased in over a two-year period beginning July 1, 2015.

(d) No later than April 1, 2014, the division shall seek approval of a child welfare demonstration project through the federal Administration for Children and Families to implement and receive fixed funding to accomplish the purposes of this article.

49-2-31.

(a) To qualify to seek a contract under this article, an applicant shall have:

(1) The ability to manage and directly provide, and contract for through a local network of providers, all necessary child welfare services. The lead agency shall directly provide no more than 35 percent of all child welfare services provided in the region;

(2) The ability to ensure continuity of care from entry to exit for all children referred from the protective investigation and court systems;

(3) The capability and willingness to accept and demonstrate accountability for meeting the outcomes and performance standards related to child welfare services established by the General Assembly;

(4) The capability and willingness to serve all children referred from the protective investigation and court systems;

(5) The willingness to ensure that each individual who provides child welfare services completes the training required by the division;

(6) The ability to assist the division in maintaining the state's eligibility to receive all federal child welfare funds currently being used by the division; and

(7) The ability to ensure, directly or through contracts and collaboration with appropriate entities, that children served by the lead agency receive all services necessary to the child's health, well-being, and safety.

(b) Such contract shall be for five years, after which the division shall competitively rebid the contract. The division may extend the contract for an additional three-year period.

49-2-32.

(a) The contract between the division and lead agencies shall require the following:

(1) Recording of lead agency activities in client case records for all cases;

(2) Use of procedures by the parties to resolve differences in interpreting the contract or to resolve disputes as to the adequacy of the parties' compliance with their respective obligations under the contract;

(3) Payment by the division to the lead agency of a reasonable monthly administrative rate to operate the lead agency and a case rate per child calculated as the monthly average number of children served in the prior fiscal year divided by the total appropriated funds allocated for child welfare services during the same fiscal year. The case rate shall be paid in equal monthly payments over a period of time no greater than six months, starting the month the lead agency takes the child into care. Children who return to the lead agency for foster care within 12 months of achieving permanency, either through reunification, permanent guardianship, or adoption, shall be served by the lead agency but shall not be eligible for the rate per child per month reimbursement. The method of payment in the contract shall provide for a two-month advance payment of the monthly administrative rate at the beginning of each fiscal year and equal monthly payments thereafter;

(4) Adherence to nationally recognized child welfare performance outcome measures;

(5) Inclusion of a case transfer process to determine the date that the lead agency will initiate services for a child and family. At the point of case transfer, the division shall provide a complete summary of its involvement with the child to include the reasons for referral to the lead agency; and

(6) Authorization for the lead agency or a lead agency subcontractor with case management responsibilities to act as the child's guardian for the purposes of enrolling in school and seeking emergency medical treatment for a child who has been sheltered or found to be dependent; provided, however, that if the child's parent's rights have been terminated, such lead agency or lead agency subcontractor shall act as the guardian of the child in all circumstances.

(b) In contracting for the delivery of child welfare services, the division shall retain responsibility for the quality of contracted services and programs and shall ensure that services are delivered in accordance with applicable federal and state statutes and regulations. The department shall provide for uniform lead agency contracts and may encourage lead agencies to use uniform subcontracts.

(c) The division shall adopt written policies and procedures for monitoring the contract for delivery of services by lead agencies. Such policies and procedures shall address, at a minimum, the following:

(1) Evaluation of fiscal accountability and program operations, including lead agency achievement of performance standards, lead agency monitoring of subcontractors, and timely follow-up of corrective actions for significant monitoring findings related to lead agencies and subcontractors;

(2) Reduction of the duplication of the division's program monitoring activities both internally and with other agencies, to the extent possible; and

(3) Communication of the written findings, conclusions, and recommendations from monitoring the contract for services of lead community based providers to the director of the lead agency, as expeditiously as possible.

(d) Persons employed by the division in the provision of child welfare services whose positions are being privatized under this article shall be given hiring preference by the lead agency if the employee meets the lead agency's qualifications.

(a) The division shall not transfer services to a lead agency until the division, in consultation with the local community, has determined and certified in writing to the Governor and General Assembly that the lead agency is prepared to deliver and be accountable for such services. In making such determination, the division shall conduct a readiness assessment of the region and lead agency. The assessment shall evaluate the operational readiness of the region and lead agency based on:

(1) A set of uniform criteria developed in consultation with currently operating faith based and community based organizations and reflecting national accreditation standards, which evaluate programmatic, financial, technical assistance, training, and organizational competencies; and

(2) Criteria reflective of the priorities of the local community.

(b) A joint team of region and lead agency staff with direct experience with the start up and operation of a community based service program and representatives from the appropriate local community shall conduct the readiness assessment.

(c) Upon completion of a readiness assessment, the assessment team shall conduct an exit conference with the region and lead agency staff responsible for the transition.

(d) Within 30 days following the exit conference with staff of each region and lead agency, the division shall certify in writing to the Governor and General Assembly that both the region and lead agency are prepared to begin the transition of service provision based on the results of the readiness assessment and exit conference. The document of certification shall include specific evidence of readiness on each element of the readiness instrument utilized by the assessment team as well as a description of each element of readiness needing improvement and strategies being implemented to address each such element.

(e) The Department of Audits and Accounts, in consultation with experts, shall review and assess the division's process for determining region and lead agency readiness. The review shall, at a minimum, address the appropriateness of the readiness criteria and instruments applied, the appropriateness of the qualifications of participants on each assessment team, the degree to which the division accurately determined each region and lead agency's compliance with the readiness criteria, the quality of the technical assistance provided by the division to a lead agency in correcting any weaknesses identified in the readiness assessment, and the degree to which each lead agency overcame any identified weaknesses.

(f) Reports of such reviews shall be submitted to the General Assembly on January 1 and July 1 of each year until full transition to community based care has been accomplished state wide, beginning on January 1, 2016. The perspectives of all participants in the review process shall be included in each report. Within the review, the Department of Audits and Accounts shall allow each lead agency to submit for inclusion responses to findings.

(g) In communities where economic or demographic constraints make it impossible or not feasible to competitively contract with a lead agency, the department shall develop an alternative plan in collaboration with the local community alliance, which may include establishing innovative geographical configurations or consortia of agencies. The plan must detail how the community will continue to implement community-based care through competitively procuring either the specific components of foster care and related services or comprehensive services for defined eligible populations of children and families from qualified licensed agencies as part of its efforts to develop the local capacity for a community-based system of coordinated care. The plan must ensure local control over the management and administration of the service provision in accordance with the intent of this subsection and may include recognized best business practices, including some form of public or private partnerships.

(a) The division, in consultation with the lead agencies, shall establish a quality assurance program for competitively bid services. The quality assurance program shall be based on nationally recognized standards.

(b) The division shall report to the public on a monthly basis each lead agency's performance on federal outcome measures and outcome measures established by the General Assembly. In addition, the report shall include data on the number of families served by the lead agencies in prevention programs, education outcomes of students in foster care, and key health measures for children in foster care. The report shall be made available, at a minimum, in a conspicuous location on the division's website.

(c) The division shall, to the extent possible, use independent financial audits provided by the lead agency to eliminate or reduce the ongoing contract and administrative reviews conducted by the division. If the division determines that such independent financial audits are inadequate, other audits may be conducted as necessary by the division. Nothing in this article shall abrogate the requirements of Chapter 20 of Title 50.

(d) The division may competitively bid programmatic, administrative, or fiscal oversight of lead agencies. The division shall accept the findings of existing evaluations, reports, and assessments provided by accrediting entities in lieu of requiring a state assessment if such assessments did not find any significant issues.

(e) The division shall submit an annual report regarding quality performance, outcome measure attainment, and cost efficiency to the Governor and General Assembly no later than January 31 of each year for each lead agency in operation during the preceding fiscal year. The division shall allow lead agencies to submit comments for inclusion into such report regarding the findings and recommendations contained in the report.

(f) Lead agencies shall be permitted to submit all programmatic, administrative, and fiscal materials in digital format.

49-2-35.

This article shall become effective only if the Administration for Children and Families of the United States Department of Health and Human Services approves a federal title IV-E waiver demonstration project and the resulting fixed funding is received for the purposes of this article. If such approval and funding is received, then this article shall become effective on the date on which such approval and funding becomes effective."

SECTION 2.

This Act shall become effective upon its approval by the Governor or upon its becoming law without such approval.

SECTION 3.

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

Minority Report
February 10, 2014

The undersigned members of the Health and Human Services offer the following report to express our disagreement with the committee report on Senate Bill 350.

Senate Bill 350 Fails to Address the Causes of Recent Child Deaths

- The recent deaths of Eric Forbes and Emani Moss were due to failures within the Child Protective Services branch of the Division of Family and Child Services.
- However, SB 350 only makes changes to the foster care branch, which was not involved in the recent tragedies.
- Nothing in SB 350 addresses the underlying problems related to CPS' ability to manage its caseload.

Senate Bill 350 Will Cost the State More Money

- Nothing in Senate Bill 350 will save the state's foster care system money.
- In fact, a member of the committee supporting this legislation stated in the committee hearing that it would in fact cost the state more money.
- No additional funding has been requested to cover these new costs.

The Title IV-E Waiver Deadline is Misleading

- One of the primary factors in determining whether HHS will issue a Title IV-E waiver is the amount of state funding going into child welfare.

- Georgia has applied for Title IV-E waivers in the past and been denied for providing insufficient funding and, even with a small increase in FY 2015 funding, still does not provide sufficient funding to receive a waiver.
- Proponents of this legislation argue that HHS requires states to pass legislation to be eligible for a Title IV-E waiver, but that is not the case.
- Only three states that have received waivers did so along with passing legislation. Of those three states, Oregon is not using a fully privatized model, and Nebraska's privatized model failed and it had to abandon full privatization.
- The Title IV-E waiver would NOT bring in any more federal funding.

The Proposed Model is Not an Improvement

- Florida, the state on which this model is based, has a foster care system that is inferior to Georgia's in most ways.
- Georgia has a lower rate of recurrence of maltreatment, a shorter median length of stay in care, and fewer reentries within 12 months.
- Florida does have better adoption rates, but Georgia also exceeds the national average for successful adoptions
- While increasing the rate of successful adoption is always an important goal, upending the foster care system is not necessary to improve adoptions, nor is it guaranteed to increase successful adoptions.
- There are many factors unrelated to privatization that lead to Florida's success in promoting adoptions. One of the major factors is that Florida has a more efficient system for granting termination of parental rights petitions. Georgia's new juvenile code that went into effect this year contains provisions to speed up these petitions, which should improve the timeliness of adoptions.

Georgia Already Has an Effective Public-Private Model

- Georgia currently contracts with 164 child caring institutions and 64 child placing agencies.
- Georgia continues to involve the private industry. Starting in March, the state will contract with a single managed care organization to provide health care to 27,000 children in foster care, adoption assistance, and juvenile justice programs.
- Georgia engages in these partnerships in situations where a private entity can provide better service, lower costs, or both. Requiring privatization would eliminate this important cost-benefit analysis and expose the state to potentially inferior service and increased costs.

Privatization Is Not Inherently Better

- Only a few states have tried mandated privatization models, and the results do not indicate that a fully privatized model is better
- In fact, foster care instability has increased since Florida switch to a privatized model.
- Florida's higher rate of maltreatment recurrence also suggests that children are being exited from the system without adequate assurances of safety, which is a serious risk associated with a system that operates on fixed-price contracts.

- Nebraska tried a fully privatized model, and it proved unsuccessful. The state spent millions more on the privatized system and results were no better, often worse.
- SB 350 does not require contractors to carry liability insurance, so an injured parent or child may not be able to recover damages sufficient to cover medical bills or other injuries if a contractor doesn't carry enough liability insurance.

SUBJECT: State Auditor's Certification
Senate Bill 235 (LC 21 2160)

Dear Senator Albers:

This bill would amend provisions relating to the Georgia Firefighters' Pension Fund. Specifically, this bill would change the definition of 'firefighter' to allow certain persons who work at least 1,040 hours to become members of the Fund. To be eligible for membership, the person must be compensated for their position, hold a current firefighter's certification, and actually perform the function of preventing and suppressing fires. This bill would also change the definition of 'prior eligible service' to allow a member to obtain creditable service for any service rendered as a 'firefighter' between July 1, 2006 and June 30, 2014.

This is to certify that this bill is a fiscal retirement bill as defined in the Public Retirement Systems Standards Law.

Respectfully,

/s/ Greg S. Griffin
State Auditor

The Senate Retirement Committee offered the following substitute to SB 235:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Chapter 7 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the Georgia Firefighters' Pension Fund, so as to change the definition of the term "firefighter"; to provide for creditable service for certain prior service; to provide conditions for an effective date and automatic repeal; to repeal conflicting laws; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Chapter 7 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to the Georgia Firefighters' Pension Fund, is amended by revising Code Section 47-7-1, relating to definitions, as follows:

"47-7-1.

As used in this chapter, the term:

- (1) 'Board' means the Board of Trustees of the Georgia Firefighters' Pension Fund.
- (2) 'Fire department' means a full-time fire department or volunteer fire department or a combination full-time and volunteer fire department which satisfies the following criteria:
 - (A) The fire department is certified by the superintendent of the Georgia Firefighter Standards and Training Council as provided in Article 1 of Chapter 4 of Title 25; and
 - (B) The public fire suppression facilities of the fire department are ratable not less favorably than a class nine rating under standards set forth in the Fire Suppression Rating Schedule, Section I, Public Fire Suppression, Edition 6-80, Copyright 1980, published by the Insurance Services Office, a rating organization licensed by the Commissioner of Insurance, which schedule is maintained on file with the Commissioner of Insurance as required by general law and which has not been disapproved by the Commissioner, or less than a rating which the board by regulation determines is substantially equivalent under rating standards published by a rating organization licensed by the Commissioner of Insurance performing similar rating functions which standards are maintained on file with the Commissioner of Insurance and which have not been disapproved by the Commissioner.

The board may require annual certification by the chief of a fire department of the satisfaction of such requirements as a condition to the eligibility of firefighters and volunteer firefighters to become members of the fund to obtain creditable service with the fund.

- (3) 'Firefighter' means a person who is:
 - (A) A ~~full-time~~ permanent, compensated employee of a fire department who in the course of his or her employment by and within a department either is a candidate for or holds a current firefighter's certificate issued under Article 1 of Chapter 4 of Title 25 and has as incident to his or her position of employment the principal duty of, and actually performs the function of, preventing and suppressing fires and who works at least 1,040 hours per year; provided, however, that such term shall not include persons whose primary responsibility is the performance of emergency medical services; or

(B) Appointed and regularly enrolled as a volunteer with a volunteer fire department or combination full-time and volunteer fire department which satisfies the requirements specified in subparagraph (a)(1)(D) of Code Section 25-3-23 and who, as a volunteer firefighter, has and primarily performs the principal responsibility of preventing or suppressing fires.

~~(3.1) 'Full-time employment' means working at a permanent job position for at least 40 hours a week.~~

(4) 'Full-time fire department' means a full-time department, bureau, division, or other organizational unit, separately organized and administered as such, of this state or any municipality or other political subdivision thereof, which organizational unit:

(A) Has, as an organizational unit, the principal responsibility to prevent and suppress fires; and

(B) Is financed by public appropriation or subscription and is not privately owned.

A full-time fire department includes the fire chief or chief operating officer of the organizational unit and only those employees who are under the direction and supervision of the fire chief or chief operating officer.

(5) 'Fund' means the Georgia Firefighters' Pension Fund.

(5.1) 'Part-time employment' means working at a permanent job position for less than 40 hours a week but at least 1,040 hours a year.

(6) 'Volunteer fire department' means a volunteer fire department staffed by firefighters, volunteer firefighters, or a combination of firefighters and volunteer firefighters, separately organized and administered as such, of this state or any municipality or other political subdivision of this state or serving any fire district therein, which:

(B) Is financed by public appropriation or subscription and is not privately owned;

(C) Holds drills and meetings of not less than eight hours monthly; and

SECTION 2.

Said chapter is further amended by revising Code Section 47-7-87, relating to "prior eligible service" defined and requirements, as follows:

"47-7-87.

(a) As used in this Code section, the term 'prior eligible service' means service:

(1) ~~Rendered by a member of the fund~~ rendered between July 1, 2006, and June 30, 2014, as a firefighter or volunteer firefighter; in part-time employment

(2) ~~Rendered without interruption prior to the date such member became a member of the fund; and~~

(3) ~~For which the member would otherwise have been eligible for credit if such member had been a member of the fund at the time such service was rendered;~~

~~provided, however, that such term shall not include a period of more than five years of such service.~~

(b) ~~Any person who is a member of the fund on July 1, 2000, and who is at least 53 years old on that date~~ shall be entitled to credit for prior eligible service, provided that such person satisfies the following requirements:

(2) At the time of application for credit, the member or applicant for membership ~~pays either:~~

(B) Presents proof that such contributions were timely paid during such period.

(c) Nothing in this Code section shall alter the requirements for membership in the fund or the limitations on membership or benefits of membership which would otherwise apply absent the benefit of prior eligible service credits under this Code section."

SECTION 3.

This Act shall become effective on July 1, 2014, only if it is determined to have been concurrently funded as provided in Chapter 20 of Title 47 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, the "Public Retirement Systems Standards Law"; otherwise, this Act shall not become effective and shall be automatically repealed in its entirety on July 1, 2014, as required by subsection (a) of Code Section 47-20-50.

SECTION 4.

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Chapter 1 of Title 10 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to selling and other trade practices, so as to prohibit bad faith assertions of patent infringement; to provide for definitions; to provide for factors for determining whether a bad faith assertion of patent infringement has been made; to require the posting of a bond

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

Chapter 1 of Title 10 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to selling and other trade practices, is amended by adding a new article to read as follows:

"ARTICLE 27A

10-1-770.

As used in this article, the term:

- (1) 'Claims in the patent' means the extent of protection conferred by a patent.
- (2) 'Demand letter' means a letter, e-mail, or other written communication asserting or claiming that the target has engaged in patent infringement.
- (3) 'Target' means a person:
 - (A) Who has received a demand letter or against whom an assertion or allegation of patent infringement has been made;
 - (B) Who has been threatened with litigation or against whom a lawsuit has been filed alleging patent infringement; or
 - (C) Whose customers have received a demand letter asserting that use of such person's product, service, or technology infringes a patent.

10-1-771.

- (a) A person shall not make a bad faith assertion of patent infringement.
- (b) A court may consider the following factors as evidence that a person has made a bad faith assertion of patent infringement:
 - (1) The demand letter does not contain the following information:
 - (A) The patent number;
 - (B) The name and address of the patent owner or owners and assignee or assignees, if any; and
 - (C) Factual allegations concerning the specific areas in which the target's products, services, and technology infringe the patent or are covered by the claims in the patent;
 - (2) Prior to sending the demand letter, the person fails to conduct an analysis comparing the claims in the patent to the target's products, services, and technology, or such an analysis was done but does not identify specific areas in which the products, services, and technology are covered by the claims in the patent;
 - (3) The demand letter lacks the information described in paragraph (1) of this subsection, the target requests such information, and the author of the demand letter fails to provide such information within a reasonable period of time;

- (4) The demand letter demands payment of a license fee or response within an unreasonably short period of time;
 - (5) The person offers to license the patent for an amount that is not based on a reasonable estimate of the value of the patent;
 - (6) The claim or assertion of patent infringement is meritless, and the person knew, or should have known, that the claim or assertion is meritless;
 - (7) The claim or assertion of patent infringement is deceptive;
 - (8) The person or its subsidiaries or affiliates have previously filed or threatened to file one or more lawsuits based on the same or similar claim of patent infringement and:
 - (A) Those threats or lawsuits lacked the information described in paragraph (1) of this subsection; or
 - (B) The person attempted to enforce the claim of patent infringement in litigation, and a court found the claim to be meritless; or
 - (9) Any other factor the court finds relevant.
- (c) A court may consider the following factors as evidence that a person has not made a bad faith assertion of patent infringement:
- (1) The demand letter contains the information described in paragraph (1) of subsection (b) of this Code section;
 - (2) Where the demand letter lacks the information described in paragraph (1) of subsection (b) of this Code section and the target requests the information, the author of the demand letter provides the information within a reasonable period of time;
 - (3) The author of the demand letter engages in a good faith effort to establish that the target has infringed the patent and to negotiate an appropriate remedy;
 - (4) The author of the demand letter makes a substantial investment in the use of the patent or in the production or sale of a product or item covered by the patent;
 - (5) The author of the demand letter is:
 - (A) The inventor or joint inventor of the patent or, in the case of a patent filed by and awarded to an assignee of the original inventor or joint inventor, is the original assignee; or
 - (B) An institution of higher education or a technology transfer organization owned or affiliated with an institution of higher education;
 - (6) The author of the demand letter has:
 - (A) Demonstrated good faith business practices in previous efforts to enforce the patent, or a substantially similar patent; or
 - (B) Successfully enforced the patent, or a substantially similar patent, through litigation; or
 - (7) Any other factor the court finds relevant.

10-1-772.

If proceedings are initiated in a court of competent jurisdiction by the author of a demand letter or the author's agent, principal, client, or employee, a target may move that a bad faith assertion of patent infringement has been made in violation of this article and request that a protective order be issued as described in this Code section. Upon such motion and a finding by the court that a target has established a reasonable likelihood that an author of a demand letter has made a bad faith assertion of patent infringement, the court shall require the author of the demand letter to post a bond in an amount equal to a good faith estimate of the target's expenses of litigation, including an estimate of reasonable attorney's fees, conditioned upon payment of any amounts finally determined to be due to the target. A hearing shall be held if either party so requests. A bond ordered pursuant to this Code section shall not exceed $250,000.00. The court may waive the bond requirement if it finds the author of the demand letter has available assets equal to the amount of the proposed bond or for other good cause shown.

(a) A violation of this article shall constitute an unfair and deceptive act or practice in the conduct of consumer transactions under Part 2 of Article 15 of this chapter, the 'Fair Business Practices Act,' and the enforcement against any such violation shall be by public enforcement by the administrator and shall be enforceable through private action. (b) Whenever it may appear to the administrator that any person is using or has used any method, act, or practice declared by this article to be unlawful and that proceedings would be in the public interest, the administrator may bring action in a court of competent jurisdiction. Upon a showing by the administrator that a person has violated this article, the court may enter or grant any or all of the relief provided for in Code Section 10-1-397.

(c) Any person who suffers injury or damages as a result of a violation of this article may bring an action individually against the person or persons engaged in such violation under the rules of civil procedure to seek equitable injunctive relief and to recover his or her general and exemplary damages sustained as a consequence thereof in any court having jurisdiction over the defendant. Such relief may include:

- (1) Restitution to any person or persons adversely affected by a defendant's actions in violation of this article;
- (2) Punitive damages in an amount equal to $50,000.00 or three times the combined total of damages, costs, and fees, whichever is greater;
- (3) Expenses of litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees; and
- (4) Other relief as the court deems just and equitable.

(d) Except as otherwise provided, this article is cumulative with other laws and is not exclusive.

10-1-774.

A demand letter or civil action that includes a claim for relief arising under 35 U.S.C. Section 271(e)(2) or 42 U.S.C. Section 262 shall not be subject to the provisions of this article."

SECTION 2.

Title 50 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to state government, is amended by adding a new chapter to read as follows:

"CHAPTER 5C

50-5C-1.

(a) The General Assembly finds that:

(1) There is a public need for timely acquisition, design, construction, improvement, renovation, expansion, equipping, maintenance, operation, implementation, or installation of public infrastructure and government facilities within the state that serve a public need and purpose;

(2) Such public need may not be wholly satisfied by existing methods of procurement in which qualifying projects are acquired, designed, constructed, improved, renovated, expanded, equipped, maintained, operated, implemented, or installed;

(3) There are inadequate resources to develop public infrastructure and government facilities for the benefit of citizens of this state, and there is demonstrated evidence that public-private partnerships can meet these needs by leveraging and supplementing limited public funds available for public projects and providing other benefits to the public;

(4) Financial incentives exist under state and federal tax provisions that promote public entities to enter into partnerships with private entities to develop qualifying projects; and

(5) Authorizing private entities to develop or operate one or more qualifying projects may result in the availability of such projects to the public in a more timely or less costly fashion, thereby serving the public safety, benefit, and welfare.

(b) Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to delegate the power of eminent domain to any private entity with respect to any project commenced or proposed pursuant to this chapter. This chapter does not alter the eminent domain laws of this state or grant the power of eminent domain to any person who is not expressly granted that power under other state law.

(c) Nothing in this chapter shall apply to or affect the State Transportation Board, the Department of Transportation, or the State Road and Tollway Authority, or any project thereof.

50-5C-2.

(9) 'Public entity' means the State of Georgia or a board, commission, authority, or department thereof, including, without limitation, public higher education institutions as well as a local government or local authority.

(10) 'Qualifying project' means any project that meets a public purpose and public need and is identified as a qualifying project pursuant to Code Section 50-5C-3. Qualifying projects shall be located on real property owned or leased by a public entity or on other property owned or leased by a public entity and shall include, without limitation, any improvements necessary or desirable to any such property; or any airport project as defined in Code Section 6-4-3; or any port project as defined in Code Section 52-2-2; or operation of any existing public facility in a manner that results in reduced operating costs, including, but not limited to, energy conservation measures as defined in Code Section 50-37-2. This term shall not include and shall have no application to any project involving:

- (A) The generation of electric energy for sale pursuant to Chapter 3 of Title 46;

(11) 'Responsible public entity' means a public entity that has the power to develop the applicable qualifying project. For any qualifying project undertaken by member institutions of the University System of Georgia, the sole responsible public entity shall be the Board of Regents or its designees. For any qualifying project undertaken by a state agency, the sole responsible public entity shall be the Georgia State Financing and Investment Commission. For any qualifying project undertaken by a local government or local authority, the sole responsible public entity shall be the governing authority of the local government undertaking a qualifying project.

(12) 'Revenues' means all revenues, income, earnings, user fees, lease payments, or other service payments arising out of or in connection with supporting the development or operation of a qualifying project.

(13) 'User fees' mean the rates, fees, or other charges imposed by the responsible public entity or the private entity of a qualifying project for use of all or a portion of such qualifying project pursuant to the comprehensive agreement.

50-5C-3.

(b) A private entity may also request approval of a qualifying project by the responsible public entity, provided that the project has been previously identified in a published list of qualifying projects by the public entity. Any such request shall be accompanied by the following material and information:

(1) A project description, including the location of the qualifying project, the conceptual design of such facility or facilities, and a conceptual plan for the provision of services or technology infrastructure;

(2) A feasibility statement that includes:

(A) The method by which the private entity proposes to secure any necessary property interests required for the qualifying project;

(B) A list of all permits and approvals required for the qualifying project from local, state, or federal agencies; and

(C) A list of public utility facilities, if any, that will be crossed by the qualifying project and a statement of the plans of the private entity to accommodate such crossings;

(3) A schedule for the initiation and completion of the qualifying project to include the proposed major responsibilities and timeline for activities to be performed by both the public and private entity as well as a proposed schedule for obtaining the permits and approvals required in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of this subsection;

(4) A financial plan setting forth the private entity's general plans for financing the qualifying project, including the sources of the private entity's funds and identification of any dedicated revenue source or proposed debt or equity investment on the behalf of the private entity; a description of user fees, lease payments, and other service payments over the term of the interim or comprehensive agreement pursuant to Code Section 50-5C-9 or 50-5C-10 and the methodology and circumstances for changes to such user fees, lease payments, and other service payments over time;

(5) A business case statement that shall include a basic description of any indirect and direct benefits that the private entity can provide in delivering the qualified project, including relevant cost, quality, and time frame data;

(6) The names and addresses of the persons who may be contacted for further information concerning the request; and

(7) Such additional material and information as the responsible public entity may reasonably request.

(c) The responsible public entity and any affected local jurisdiction may charge a reasonable fee to cover the costs of processing, reviewing, and evaluating the request, including, without limitation, reasonable attorney's fees and fees for financial, technical, and other necessary advisors or consultants as prescribed by paragraph (7) of subsection (b) of Code Section 50-5C-3, subject to the following:

(1) The responsible public entity or any affected local jurisdiction may retain such fees regardless of whether it enters into an agreement for a qualifying project with any private entity; and

(2) The responsible public entity or any affected local jurisdiction may, at its sole discretion, require fees to be paid by the private entity directly to a consultant designated by the responsible public entity.

If a private entity requests a qualifying project for approval and the responsible public entity enters into an interim or comprehensive agreement pursuant to Code Section 50-5C-9 or 50-5C-10 with a competing private entity, the competing private entity shall be required to reimburse any fee charged pursuant to this Code section to the private entity that originally submitted the request.

(d) Any private entity submitting a proposal to a responsible public entity under subsection (b) of this Code section shall notify each affected local jurisdiction by furnishing a copy of its request or proposal to each affected local jurisdiction.

(e) Each affected local jurisdiction that is not a responsible public entity for the respective qualifying project may, within 60 days after receiving such notice, submit any comments it may have in writing on the proposed qualifying project to the responsible public entity and indicate whether the facility is compatible with local plans and budgets. Such comments shall be given consideration by the responsible public entity prior to entering an interim or comprehensive agreement with a private entity pursuant to Code Section 50-5C-9 or 50-5C-10. A qualifying project shall be consistent with zoning and land use regulations of the responsible public entity and each affected local jurisdiction.

(f) Subsection (b) of this Code section shall only apply to a local government or local authority if such local jurisdiction adopts a rule, regulation, or ordinance affirming its application.

50-5C-6.

(a) Any private entity seeking authorization under this chapter to develop a qualifying project may initiate the approval process by requesting approval pursuant to subsection (b) of Code Section 50-5C-5 or the responsible public entity may request proposals or invite bids pursuant to subsection (a) of Code Section 50-5C-5.

(b) Any facility, building, infrastructure, or improvement included in an invitation or request for approval under subsection (a) or (b) of Code Section 50-5C-5 as a part of a qualifying project shall be identified specifically or conceptually.

(c) Upon receipt by the responsible public entity of a proposal submitted by a private entity initiating the approval process pursuant to subsection (b) of Code Section 50-5C-5, the responsible public entity shall determine whether to consider such proposal.

50-5C-7.

(a) The responsible public entity may grant approval of the development of a qualifying project, if the responsible public entity determines that the requirements set forth in the applicable guidelines are satisfied.

(b) The approval of the responsible public entity shall be subject to the selected private entity's entering into an interim or comprehensive agreement pursuant to Code Section 50-5C-9 or 50-5C-10 with the responsible public entity.

(c) Nothing in this chapter or in an interim or comprehensive agreement entered into pursuant to this chapter shall be deemed to enlarge, diminish, or affect the authority, if any, otherwise possessed by the responsible public entity to take action that would impact the debt capacity of this state or any local government.

(d) The responsible public entity may reject any proposal initiated by a private entity pursuant to subsection (b) of Code Section 50-5C-5 at any time and shall not be required to provide a reason for its denial. If the responsible public entity determines not to approve a proposal submitted by the private entity pursuant to subsection (b) of Code Section 50-5C-5, it shall return the proposal together with all accompanying documentation to the private entity.

(e) If the responsible public entity chooses to approve a qualifying project submitted according to subsection (b) of Code Section 50-5C-5, the public entity shall make such project public according to guidelines consistent with Code Section 50-5C-3 and shall see competing proposals through the process set forth by the guidelines. Public notice requests shall be made at least 90 days prior to the date set for receipt of proposals by posting the legal notice on the Georgia Procurement Registry. All proposals then submitted for qualifying projects shall be evaluated according to Code Section 50-5C-8 prior to entering into a comprehensive or interim agreement with a private entity for the qualifying project.

(a) The provisions of Article 3 of Chapter 5 of this title shall not apply to this chapter. However, a responsible public entity may enter into a comprehensive or interim agreement only in accordance with guidelines adopted by it as follows:

(1) A responsible public entity, other than one that is a local government or local authority, may enter into the agreement in accordance with guidelines adopted by it that are consistent with procurement through competitive sealed bidding as defined in Code Section 50-5-67. A responsible public entity that is a local government or local authority may enter into a comprehensive agreement in accordance with guidelines adopted by it that are consistent with procurement through competitive sealed bidding as defined in Chapter 91 of Title 36; or

(2) A responsible public entity may enter into a comprehensive or interim agreement through a process of competitive negotiation. Such responsible public entity shall not be required to select the proposal with the lowest price offer, but may consider price as one factor in evaluating the proposals received. Other factors that may be considered include:

- (A) The proposed cost of the qualifying project;
 - (B) The general reputation, industry experience, and financial capacity of the private entity;
 - (C) The proposed design of the qualifying project;
 - (D) The eligibility of the facility for accelerated selection, review, and documentation timelines under the responsible public entity's guidelines;
 - (E) Local citizen and government comments;
 - (F) Benefits to the public;
 - (G) The private entity's compliance with a minority business enterprise participation plan;
 - (H) The private entity's plans to employ local contractors and residents; and
 - (I) Other criteria that the responsible public entity deems appropriate.
- (b) When the time for receiving proposals expires, the responsible public entity shall first rank the proposals in accordance with the factors set forth in the request for proposal or invitation for bids. After ranking the proposals, the responsible public entity shall begin negotiations with the first-ranked private entity. If the responsible public entity and the first-ranked private entity do not reach a comprehensive agreement or interim agreement, then the responsible public entity may conduct negotiations with the next-ranked private entity. This process shall continue until the responsible public entity either voluntarily abandons the process or executes a comprehensive agreement or interim agreement with a private entity.

50-5C-9.

After the selection of a private entity pursuant to the competitive process set forth in Code Section 50-5C-7, the responsible public entity may enter into an interim agreement with the selected private entity proposing the development or operation of the qualifying project. Such interim agreement may:

- (1) Permit the private entity to commence activities for which it may be compensated relating to the proposed qualifying project, including, but not limited to, project planning and development, design and engineering, environmental analysis and mitigation, survey, and ascertaining the availability of financing for the proposed facility or facilities;
- (2) Establish the process and timing of the negotiation of the comprehensive agreement; and
- (3) Contain any other provisions related to any aspect of the development or operation of a qualifying project that the parties may deem appropriate.

50-5C-10.

(a) Prior to developing or operating the qualifying project, the private entity shall enter into a comprehensive agreement with the responsible public entity.

(b) The comprehensive agreement shall include:

- (1) A thorough description of the duties of each party in the completion and operation of the qualifying project;

- (2) Dates and schedules for the completion of the qualifying project;
 - (3) Any user fees, lease payments, or service payments as may be established by agreement of the parties as well as any process for changing these fees or payments throughout the term of the agreement as well as a copy of any service contract;
 - (4) Any reimbursements to be paid to the responsible public entity for services provided by the responsible public entity;
 - (5) A process for the review of plans and specifications for the qualifying project by the responsible public entity and approval by the responsible public entity if the plans and specifications conform to reasonable standards acceptable to the responsible public entity. This shall not be construed as requiring the private entity to complete design of a qualifying project prior to the execution of a comprehensive agreement;
 - (6) A process for the periodic and final inspection of the qualifying project by the responsible public entity to ensure that the private entity's activities are acceptable to the responsible public entity in accordance with the provisions of the comprehensive agreement;
 - (7) Delivery of maintenance, performance and payment bonds, letters of credit, or other form of security acceptable to the responsible public entity in connection with the development or operation of the qualifying project, in the forms and amounts required in Code Sections 13-10-40, 13-10-41, and 13-10-60 or, for local government projects, Article 3 of Chapter 91 of Title 36 for those components of the qualifying project that involve construction;
 - (8) Submission of a policy or policies of public liability insurance, copies of which shall be filed with the responsible public entity accompanied by proofs of coverage, or self-insurance, each in form and amount satisfactory to the responsible public entity and reasonably sufficient to ensure coverage of tort liability to the public and employees and to enable the continued operation of the qualifying project;
 - (9) A process for monitoring of the practices of the private entity by the responsible public entity to ensure that the qualifying project is properly maintained;
 - (10) The filing of appropriate financial statements to the responsible public entity on a periodic basis; and
 - (11) Policies and procedures governing the rights and responsibilities of the responsible public entity and the private entity in the event the comprehensive agreement is terminated or there is a material default by the private entity. Such policies and guidelines shall include conditions governing assumption of the duties and responsibilities of the private entity by the responsible public entity and the transfer or purchase of property or other interests of the private entity by the responsible public entity. Such policies and procedure shall be consistent with Code Section 50-5C-11.
- (c) The comprehensive agreement may include such other terms and conditions that the responsible public entity determines serve the public purpose of this chapter and to which the private entity and the responsible public entity mutually agree, including, without limitation, provisions regarding unavoidable delays or provisions providing for a loan of public funds to the private entity to develop one or more qualifying projects.

The comprehensive agreement may also contain provisions where the authority and duties of the private entity under this chapter shall cease, and the qualifying project is dedicated to the responsible public entity or, if the qualifying project was initially dedicated by an affected local jurisdiction, to such affected local jurisdiction for public use. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, in the event that the qualifying project provides for the lease of property to or by a public entity, the selection of lessees and lessors and the terms of the lease shall be governed by the comprehensive agreement.

(d) Any changes in the terms of the comprehensive agreement, as may be agreed upon by the parties from time to time, shall be added to the comprehensive agreement by written amendment.

(e) The comprehensive agreement may provide for the development of phases or segments of the qualifying project.

(f) In the event that the comprehensive agreement allows for the transfer of real property subject to a qualifying project from the private entity to the public entity within 12 months of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy for the qualifying project, then the comprehensive agreement shall require a payment bond in accordance with Code Section 13-10-60 or 36-91-90.

50-5C-11.

(a) In the event of a material default by the private entity, the responsible public entity may terminate, with cause, the interim or comprehensive agreement and exercise any other rights and remedies that may be available to it at law or in equity, including, but not limited to, claims under the maintenance, performance, or payment bonds or other forms of security; or lines of credit required by Code Section 50-5C-10 in accordance with Code Sections 13-10-40 through 13-10-65.

(b) The responsible public entity may elect to assume the responsibilities and duties of the private entity of the qualifying project, and in such case, it shall succeed to all of the right, title, and interest in such qualifying project, subject to any liens on revenues previously granted by the private entity to any person providing financing thereof.

(c) The power of eminent domain shall not be delegated to any private entity with respect to any project commenced or proposed pursuant to this chapter. Any responsible public entity having the power of condemnation under state law may exercise such power of condemnation to acquire the qualifying project in the event of a material default by the private entity. Any person who has provided financing for the qualifying project, and the private entity, to the extent of its capital investment, may participate in the condemnation proceedings with the standing of a property owner.

(d) In the event the responsible public entity elects to take over a qualifying project pursuant to subsection (b) of this Code section, the responsible public entity may develop the qualifying project, impose user fees, impose and collect lease payments for the use thereof, and comply with any service contracts as if it were the private entity. Any revenues that are subject to a lien shall be collected for the benefit of and paid to secured parties, as their interests may appear, to the extent necessary to satisfy the private entity's obligations to secured parties, including the maintenance of reserves. Such liens shall be correspondingly reduced and, when paid off, released. Before any payments to, or for the benefit of, secured parties, the responsible public entity may use revenues to pay current operation and maintenance costs of the qualifying project, including compensation to the responsible public entity for its services in operating and maintaining the qualifying project. The right to receive such payment, if any, shall be considered just compensation for the qualifying project. The full faith and credit of the responsible public entity shall not be pledged to secure any financing of the private entity by the election to take over the qualifying project. Assumption of operation of the qualifying project shall not obligate the responsible public entity to pay any obligation of the private entity from sources other than revenues from the qualifying project.

(a) Any financing of a qualifying project may be in such amounts and upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by the parties to the interim or comprehensive agreement. Without limiting the generality of the terms and conditions of the financing, the private entity and the responsible public entity may propose to utilize any and all funding resources that may be available to them and may, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, issue debt, equity, or other securities or obligations, enter into leases, access any designated trust funds, borrow or accept grants from any state infrastructure bank, and secure any financing with a pledge of, security interest in, or lien on, any or all of its property, including all of its property interests in the qualifying project.

(b) The responsible public entity may take any action to obtain federal, state, or local assistance for a qualifying project that serves the public purpose of this chapter and may enter into any contracts required to receive such assistance. The responsible public entity may determine that it serves the public purpose of this chapter for all or any portion of the costs of a qualifying project to be paid, directly or indirectly, from the proceeds of a grant or loan made by the local, state, or federal government or any agency or instrumentality thereof.

50-5C-13.

In addition to any authority otherwise conferred by law, any public entity may contract with a private entity for the delivery of services to be provided as part of a qualifying project in exchange for such service payments and other consideration as such public entity may deem appropriate. All power or authority granted by this chapter to public entities shall be in addition and supplemental to, and not in substitution for, the powers conferred by any other general, special, or local law. The limitations imposed by this chapter shall not affect the powers conferred by any other general, special, or local law and shall apply only to the extent that a public entity elects to proceed under this chapter. However, any local authority that elects to proceed with a qualifying project under this chapter shall comply with all applicable provisions contained herein.

50-5C-14.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as or deemed a waiver of the sovereign or official immunity of any responsible public entity or any affected local jurisdiction or any officer or employee thereof with respect to the participation in, or approval of, all or any part of the qualifying project or its operation, including, but not limited to, interconnection of the qualifying project with any other infrastructure or project.

50-5C-15.

Any law enforcement officers of the public entity and of each affected local jurisdiction shall have the same powers and jurisdiction within the limits of such qualifying project as they have in their respective areas of jurisdiction and such law enforcement officers shall have access to the qualifying project at any time for the purpose of exercising such powers and jurisdiction.

50-5C-16.

Nothing in this chapter shall abrogate the obligations of a responsible public entity or private entity to comply with public meetings requirement in accordance with Chapter 14 of this title, or to disclose public information in accordance with Article 4 of Chapter 18 of this title.

50-5C-17.

There is created as a joint committee of the General Assembly the Georgia Partnership for Public Facilities and Infrastructure Act Legislative Oversight Committee to be composed of the members of the House Committee on State Properties and the Senate Committee on State and Local Governmental Operations. The chairpersons of such committees shall serve as cochairpersons of the oversight committee. The oversight committee shall periodically inquire into and review the operations of the Partnership for Public Facilities and Infrastructure Act Guidelines Committee, as well as periodically review and evaluate the success with which the committee is accomplishing its statutory duties and functions as provided in this chapter. The oversight committee may conduct any independent audit or investigation of the division it deems necessary."

SECTION 3.

This Act shall become effective upon its approval by the Governor or upon its becoming law without such approval.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1.

The General Assembly recognizes that veterans have provided and continue to provide an invaluable service to our country and this state. In connection with a veteran's service, some servicemen and servicewomen have incurred physical, emotional, or mental impairments which cause or contribute to behaviors that may draw a veteran into the criminal justice system. The General Assembly has determined that having dedicated veterans court divisions is important to address the specialized treatment needs of veterans and that there are resources, services, and treatment options that are unique to veterans that may best facilitate a veteran's reentry into society.

SECTION 2.

Chapter 1 of Title 15 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to general court provisions, is amended by adding a new Code section to read as follows:

"15-1-17.

(a) As used in this Code section, the term:

(1) 'VA' means the United States Department of Veterans Affairs.

(2) 'Veteran' means a person who is a former member of the armed forces of the United States or a state's National Guard.

(b)(1) Any court that has jurisdiction over criminal cases may establish a veterans court division to provide an alternative to the traditional judicial system for disposition of cases in which the defendant is a veteran.

(2) In any criminal case in which a defendant is a veteran and the defendant meets the eligibility criteria for the veterans court division, the court may refer the case to the veterans court division:

(A) Prior to the entry of the sentence, if the prosecuting attorney consents;

(B) As part of a sentence in a case; or

(C) Upon consideration of a petition to revoke probation.

(3) Each veterans court division shall establish a planning group to develop a written work plan. The planning group shall include judges, prosecuting attorneys, sheriffs or their designees, public defenders, probation officers, and persons having expertise in services available to veterans. The work plan shall address the operational, coordination, resource, information management, and evaluation needs of the veterans court division. The work plan shall include veterans court division policies and practices related to implementing the standards and practices developed pursuant to paragraph (4) of this subsection. The veterans court division shall combine judicial supervision, treatment of veterans court division participants, and drug and mental health testing. The work plan shall include eligibility criteria for the veterans court division. Defendants charged with murder, armed robbery, rape, aggravated sodomy, aggravated sexual battery, aggravated child molestation, or child molestation shall not be eligible for entry into the veterans court division, except in the case of a separate court supervised reentry program designed to more closely monitor veterans returning to the community after having served a term of incarceration. Any such court supervised community reentry program for mentally ill offenders shall be subject to the work plan as provided for in this paragraph.

(4) The Judicial Council of Georgia shall adopt standards and practices for veterans court divisions, taking into consideration guidelines and principles based on available current research and findings published by experts on veterans' health needs and treatment options, including, but not limited to, the VA and the Georgia Department of Veterans Service. The Judicial Council of Georgia shall update its standards and practices to incorporate research, findings, and developments in the veterans court field if any such research, findings, or developments are created. Each veterans court division shall adopt policies and practices that will be consistent with any standards and practices published by the Judicial Council of Georgia. Such standards and practices shall serve as a flexible framework for developing effective veterans court divisions and provide a structure for conducting research and evaluation for accountability. Such standards and practices are not intended to be a certification or regulatory checklist.

(5) The court instituting the veterans court division may request the district attorney for the judicial circuit or solicitor-general for the state court for the jurisdiction to designate one or more prosecuting attorneys to serve in the veterans court division and may request the circuit public defender, if any, to designate one or more assistant public defenders to serve in the veterans court division.

(6) The clerk of the court instituting the veterans court division or such clerk's designee shall serve as the clerk of the veterans court division.

(7) The court instituting the veterans court division may request other employees of the court to perform duties for the veterans court division. Such employees shall perform duties as directed by the judges of the veterans court division.

(8) The court instituting the veterans court division may enter into agreements with other courts and agencies for the assignment of personnel from other courts and agencies to the veterans court division, including probation supervision.

(9) Expenses for salaries, equipment, services, and supplies incurred in implementing this Code section may be paid from state funds, funds of the county or political subdivision implementing such veterans court division, federal grant funds, and funds from private donations.

(c)(1) Each veterans court division shall establish written criteria that define the successful completion of the veterans court division program.

(2) If the veterans court division participant successfully completes the veterans court division program prior to the entry of judgment, the case against the veterans court division participant may be dismissed by the prosecuting attorney.

(3) If the veterans court division participant successfully completes the veterans court division program as part of a sentence imposed by the court, the sentence of the veterans court division participant may be reduced or modified.

(4) Any plea of guilty or nolo contendere entered pursuant to this Code section shall not be withdrawn without the consent of the court.

(d) Any statement made by a veterans court division participant as part of participation in such court, or any report made by the staff of the court or program connected to the court, regarding a participant's mental health shall not be admissible as evidence against the participant in any legal proceeding or prosecution; provided, however, that if the participant violates the conditions of his or her participation in the division or is terminated from the veterans court division, the reasons for the violation or termination may be considered in sanctioning, sentencing, or otherwise disposing of the participant's case.

(e) Nothing contained in this Code section shall be construed to permit a judge to impose, modify, or reduce a sentence below the minimum sentence required by law.

(f) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, veterans court division staff shall be provided, upon request, with access to all records relevant to the treatment of the veterans court division participant from any state or local government agency, except records declared confidential by Code Section 49-5-40 to which access may be obtained pursuant to Code Section 49-5-41. All records and the contents thereof shall be treated as confidential, shall not be disclosed to any person outside of the veterans court division, and shall not be subject to Article 4 of Chapter 18 of Title 50 or subject to subpoena, discovery, or introduction into evidence in any civil or criminal proceeding. Such records and the contents thereof shall be maintained by the veterans court division and originating court in a confidential file not available to the public.

(g) Any fees received by a veterans court division from a veterans court division participant as payment for veterans services shall not be considered as court costs or a fine.

(h) The court shall have the authority to accept grants, donations, and other proceeds from outside sources for the purpose of supporting the veterans court division. Any such grants, donations, or proceeds shall be retained by the veterans court division for expenses and shall be accounted for as set forth in subparagraph (b)(4)(F) of this Code section."

SECTION 3.

Code Section 35-3-37 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to review of an individual's criminal history record information, definitions, privacy considerations, written application requesting review, and inspection, is amended by redesignating paragraph (9) of subsection (a) as paragraph (10), by enacting a new paragraph (9), and by revising subparagraph (h)(2)(C) as follows:

"(9) 'Veterans treatment program' means a treatment program operated by a veterans court division in accordance with the provisions of Code Section 15-1-17."

"(C) The individual successfully completed a drug court treatment program or, mental health treatment program, or veterans treatment program, the individual's case has been dismissed or nolle prossed, and he or she has not been arrested for at least five years, excluding any arrest for a nonserious traffic offense; or"

SECTION 4.

Article 3A of Chapter 5 of Title 40 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to suspension of license for certain drug offenses, is amended by revising Code Section 40-5-76, relating to restoration or suspension of defendant's driver's license or issuance of limited driving permit, as follows:

(a) The initial mayor and councilmembers shall take the oath of office the next business day after certification of the election of such officers, and by action of any four members of the governing authority may, prior to December 15, 2014, meet and take actions binding on the city.

(b) A period of time will be needed for an orderly transition of various government functions from DeKalb County to the City of Lakeside. Accordingly there shall be a two-year transition period as allowed by law beginning at 12:01 A.M. on December 15, 2014.

(c) During such transition period, DeKalb County shall continue to provide within the territorial limits of the city all government services and functions which DeKalb County provided in 2014 and at the same actual direct cost and level of service, except to the extent otherwise provided in this section; provided, however, that upon at least 30 days' prior written notice to the governing authority of DeKalb County by the governing authority of the City of Lakeside, responsibility for any such service or function shall be transferred to the City of Lakeside. The governing authority of the City of Lakeside shall determine the date of commencement of collection of taxes, fees, assessments, fines and forfeitures, and other moneys within the territorial limits of the city and the date upon which the City of Lakeside is considered removed from the special services tax district.

(d) During the transition period, the governing authority of the City of Lakeside may generally exercise any power granted by this charter or general law, except to the extent that a power is specifically and integrally related to the provision of a governmental service, function, or responsibility not yet provided or carried out by the city.

(e) During the transition period, all ordinances of DeKalb County shall remain applicable within the territorial limits of the city unless otherwise amended, repealed, or replaced by the City of Lakeside. Any transfer of jurisdiction to the City of Lakeside during or at the end of the transition period shall not in and of itself abate any judicial proceeding pending in DeKalb County or the pending prosecution of any violation of any ordinance of DeKalb County.

(f) During the transition period, the governing authority of the City of Lakeside may at any time, without the necessity of any agreement by DeKalb County, commence to exercise its planning and zoning powers; provided, however, that the city shall give the county notice of the date on which the city will assume the exercise of such powers. Upon the governing authority of the City of Lakeside commencing to exercise its planning and zoning powers, the Municipal Court of the City of Lakeside shall immediately have jurisdiction to enforce the planning and zoning ordinances of the city. The provisions of this subsection shall control over any conflicting provisions of any other subsection of this section.

(g) Effective upon the termination of the transition period, subsections (b) through (f) of this section shall cease to apply except for the last sentence of subsection (e) which shall remain effective. Effective upon the termination of the transition period, the City of Lakeside shall be a fully functioning municipal corporation and subject to all general laws of this state.

SECTION 6.04.

Charter commission.

No later than five years after the inception of the City of Lakeside, the mayor and the city council shall call for a charter commission to review the city's experience and recommend to the General Assembly any changes to the charter. Members of the charter commission shall be appointed as follows: one by the mayor, one by each member of the city council, and one member appointed by a vote of the members of the Georgia House of Representatives and Georgia Senate whose districts lie wholly or partially within the corporate boundaries of the City of Lakeside. All members of the charter commission shall reside in the City of Lakeside. The commission shall complete the recommendations within the time frame required by the city council.

SECTION 6.05.

Severability.

In the event any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this Act shall be declared or adjudged invalid or unconstitutional, such adjudication shall in no manner affect the other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases of this Act, which shall remain of full force and effect, as if the section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase so declared or adjudged invalid or unconstitutional were not originally a part hereof. The General Assembly hereby declares that it would have passed the remaining parts of this Act if it had known that such part or parts hereof would be declared or adjudged invalid or unconstitutional.

SECTION 6.06.

Effective date.

This Act shall become effective upon its approval by the Governor or upon its becoming law without such approval.

SECTION 6.07.

Repealer.

All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.
